BIG SHAKEUP OF POLICE LAID TO LID TILTING

Four Captains and Seven Lieutenants Transferred by Healey's Order.

VICE ZONE MEN MOVED

What is generally regarded as the first echo of Mayor Thompson's recent threat to clamp the Sunday lid on tighter than ever came yesterday in the most sweeping police shakeup order issued since Charles C. Healey became chief of police.

The order, which goes into effect at [illegible] o'clock this morning, shifts four captains, elevates twelve sergeants to lieutenantships, and transfers seven lieutenants, seven senior detective sergeants, sixty-eight sergeants, and fifty-eight patrolmen.

OLD VICE ZONE HIT.

While Chief Healey denied the order had anything to do with Sunday saloon violations, most of the districts affected are those in which the most flagrant disregard for the law has been evidenced. What is considered a rebuke for allowing the vice lid to tilt in the Twenty-second street district was the shifting of every detective sergeant in the district—sixteen in all—and the assignment of new men to fill their places.

That dismissals from the service are in store for many and that at least two more of the old time captains are slated for retirement under the administration's age limit policy is gathered from the fact that Chief Healey has ordered reports from all districts listing policemen incapable of service. Within a few days he will call these men in and ask them to retire on pensions. If they refuse charges will be filed against them.

THESE CAPTAINS MOVE.

The four captains transferred are:

Bernard F. Baer, from Maxwell street to South Englewood.

Joseph C. Mullin, from South Englewood to Maxwell street.

Henry E. German, from Brighton Park to Shakespeare avenue.

Thomas F. Meagher, from Shakespeare avenue to Brighton Park.

CHARGES BY THRASHER.

Samuel P. Thrasher, superintendent for the Committee of Fifteen, has publicly charged that the old vice lords are reopening resorts in the Twenty-second street district. He has filed a number of injunction suits against property owners to prevent their using their premises for immoral purposes.

Chief Healey's only comment on the order was that it is "for the good of the service."

A general laxity in the Maxwell street district, where City Sealer Morris Eller is reputed boss, is said to have caused the chief to transfer Capt. Baer from that station.

SEVEN LIEUTENANTS SHIFTED.

The following lieutenants were transferred:

[illegible] C. Renk from Englewood station to the Stockyards station.

Patrick E. Hogan from Warren avenue to West Chicago.

Thomas C. Monahan from Stockyards to Englewood.

William Fitzgerald (No. 1) from [illegible] street to Desplaines street.

Edward J. Grady from Desplaines street to Lake street.

James E. McCann from Stanton avenue to Stockyards.

John Martin from traffic division to Fillmore street.

SERGEANTS PROMOTED.

Sergeants promoted to lieutenancies and their new assignments are:

	Precinct.
[illegible] E. Schumaker	Twenty-seventh
[illegible] J. Hatchett	First
[illegible] Cotter	Twenty-fifth
[illegible] Lee	Fifth
[illegible] B. Friel	Twenty-eighth

[illegible] Fleming	Twenty-ninth
William A. [illegible]	Fourth
[illegible] W. [illegible]	Fourth
[illegible] W. Delaney	Vehicle bureau
[illegible] T. Murphy	Fifth

The new men assigned to Twenty-second street station are Senior Detective Sergeant George Reardon and Detective Sergeants Thomas A. Coffey, Nicholas [illegible], George F. Hellman, Cornelius C. [illegible], Albert E. Hoffman, Patrick [illegible], Jesse J. Griffith, William C. [illegible], William J. Brennan, William J. [illegible], Charles Bluthardt, William G. [illegible], Joseph C. Gooch, and Mathew H.

Shark Kills Boy, Man in Creek on New Jersey Coast

Monster Mangles Bather and Rescuer; Second Lad Badly Bitten.

STRAYS FROM OCEAN

Matawan, N. J., July 12.—[Special.]—A man-eating shark which had strayed far from the Atlantic ocean swam through Raritan bay and up the Matawan creek this afternoon, killed a boy swimmer, mangled a man so badly that he died two hours later in a hospital, and savagely attacked a second boy bather, taking away nearly all the back of one leg.

The dead boy is Lester Stillwell, 12 years old. His body had not been recovered at a late hour tonight.

The man who was attacked as he was making a heroic endeavor to fish up the body of the boy after the shark had dragged him down, was Stanley Fisher. His right leg was torn and he was so weak after his removal to the Monmouth Memorial hospital at Long Branch that the surgeons did not dare to amputate it. Death resulted from shock and loss of blood.

Third Victim May Recover.

The third and more fortunate victim was 10 year old Joseph Dunn, a summer visitor here. He is in St. Peter's hospital. The lower part of his leg is missing, but the doctors hope to save his life.

Young Stillwell went bathing with Albert O'Hara, Frank Clowes, and other boys near his own age at Wyckoff's dock. O'Hara got a glimpse of what he supposed to be a log and was startled to see the thing start towards him. He was near the dock and reached it in a few strokes. As he was pulling himself up a ladder the shark just missed him, and he saw the dorsal fin cut through the water.

Stillwell, who was swimming a few feet from shore, apparently was unconscious of his danger. The shark sped towards him, caught him by an arm or a leg, and bore him under.

Rescuer Attacked by Shark.

Then Fisher dived into the creek and started to look for the Stillwell boy, believing the shark had disappeared.

It was not long, perhaps half an hour after Stillwell was dragged down, that Fisher discovered his body on the muddy bottom. A moment later Fisher cried out that he was being attacked. At that moment the man eater's teeth were sunk deep in his leg near the thigh.

Two men in a boat who were aiding in the search for young Stillwell went to his rescue and Fisher was taken ashore.

After the first shock of the tragedy word was received that Josepph Dunn had been attacked by a shark further down towards the mouth of the creek.

CHILD DROWNS IN HOLE OF 3 INCHES OF WATER.

Fifteen Months Old Girl Falls Face Downward Into Porch Post Excavation and Loses Life.

Evelyn Schubert, 15 months old, played "fishing" all morning in a hole dug for the foundation of a porch in front of her home at 4925 South Kominsky avenue yesterday. The hole was two feet deep. There was about three inches of water on the muddy bottom.

She leaned over too far and fell in. Her face was buried in the mud and water. When her mother found her sometime later the little girl was dead. The pulmotor was called by the Brighton park police, but efforts to resuscitate her failed.

The police believe the child had been in the hole at least half an hour before she was discovered by the mother. An inquest will be held this morning.

POPULATION OF CHICAGO SET AT 2,550,000

New Estimate Based on Official Count of Boys and Girls Under Age.

TREND TO SUBURBS.

Chicago's population has passed the two and a half million mark. It is 2,550,000, according to the estimate of W. L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, who yesterday presented his census of the minor population to the school board.

Mr. Bodine, in computing the total population, used the same multiple he used in 1910, when his estimate nearly coincided with the later figures of the federal census, which gave Chicago a population of 2,185,283. The total minor population of Chicago (those under 21 years) is 996,059. This shows an increase during the last two years of 41,646.

INCREASE OF 112,474.

The figures of total population submitted indicate an increase of 112,474 since 1914, when the compulsory education department took a total population census. His figures showed then a population of 2,437,526.

Increase in population has not been as marked during the last two years as for a period previous. Mr. Bodine attributes that fact to the decline in immigration due to the European war. The census indicates a great slump in German, Austrian, and Russian immigration, and the English, the Italian, and the Scandinavians lead this year. Another cause for the slump in the percentage of increase is blamed on the suburbs by Mr. Bodine. He stated that the people are moving toward the country.

BOY BABIES PREDOMINATE.

Chicago has a strong infant population. There are 224,111 babies within the limits. The figures record those under 4 years of age. Boy babies predominate. There are 117,062 boys to 107,049 girls.

The champion baby ward is the Twenty-ninth. It has 11,505 infants who some day hope to vote for alderman. The Twenty-first, the Lake Shore drive ward, just beats the First ward in its number of babies. The First ward owns 2,281 infants and the Twenty-first ward 2,829. The Twenty-seventh and the Seventeenth wards take second and third places respectively in the number of infants.

Although the Twenty-ninth nosed out the Twenty-seventh in the matter of babies, the latter ward has the largest total of minor population. It has 47,428 minors. The Twenty-ninth ward is second with 45,530. Minors in the First ward number 9,736.

TRUANCY CUT DOWN.

Mr. Bodine stated that truancy had been reduced to less than 1 per cent of the total school population.

The census shows 567 deaf children, 182 minors who are blind, or nearly so, and 126 with visual defects expected to lead to blindness.

There are 645 minors who are crippled, of whom 210 are so incapacitated that they are eligible for special transportation furnished by the board to centers for crippled children. The returns show 2,086 subnormal children, including those feeble minded, mentally backward, or having mental defects. Chicago has 221 mutes and 573 minors between the ages of 12 and 21 who cannot read or write. Chicago had the smallest percentage of illiteracy of any of the large cities at the time of the federal census in 1910, according to Mr. Bodine's report.

$250,000 FIRE IN OIL PLANT AT WHITING, IND.

Bursting Radiator Causes Blaze Which Spreads to Four Buildings and Injures Three Workmen.

Fire early this morning damaged four sections of the immense Standard Oil plant at Whiting, Ind., to the extent of $250,000.

The flames originated from a bursting radiator and were transmitted by heat through four battery condensors. The volunteer plant fire companies, made up from the 7,000 employés, soon had thirty streams playing upon the blaze and hoped to check further spread.

One explosion and the danger of others added to the excitement, which became general when three workmen were removed wounded from one of the burning buildings. The explosion was heard three miles away in East Chicago.

Husband Holds Shore Fort in Bathing Triangle

Meets Adonis and Nymph at Water's Edge with Punch.

WHO? A MYSTERY

A real magazine cover bathing girl and a youthful bronzed Adonis of the beaches sat on the edge of a float off the Chicago beach at Fifty-first street yesterday afternoon swinging their feet in the water.

They did not notice a man wind his way through the crowds on the beach and seek a point for "watchful waiting" in the sand where he could see the float.

Finally the couple flopped off into the water. Then they ran up on the sands—then things started.

Watcher Confronts Them.

Bathers saw the watching man of the sands confront the two. He was angry. What he said at first was not heard. The next thing he did was to direct a stiff punch at the jaw of Mr. Adonis, which glanched off by reason of the latter's quick duck. Bystanders separated them. A crowd gathered. The woman tried to pass it off with a laugh.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself to neglect your child the way you do and run around with other men," the man of the sands flared up.

What! Her Child?

"My child?" the woman asked.

"Yes, your child," he shot back. "This child here! Our child!"

He pulled a photograph from his pocket. It was a picture of the woman in the bathing suit and a baby. The woman fainted.

Policewoman Georgia Davidson and others assisted her into the women's dressing rooms, where she was revived.

Efforts to learn the identities of the trio were unavailing. Successful attempts to hush it up had been made when the Hyde Park station was reached. It is understood the bathing Adonis is the son of a millionaire on the south side.

Capt. Lavin a Bit Foggy.

"The man was her husband, I understand," said Capt. P. J. Lavin. "It seems they are separated and he is still madly in love with her. He called her up today and asked to meet her. She said she couldn't, that she was going to visit relatives. He had a hunch he'd find her at the beach with the other man."

Their names? Capt. Lavin, a policeman of many years' experience had neglected to obtain them! He said the policewoman might know. At an early hour this morning it was said at her home she was out for the evening.

AMATEUR PLUTE AT BLACKSTONE

Ford Foreman, in Giddy Costume, Tries Being a Millionaire for Few Days.

John McCloskey sat sweltering in a cell at the South Clark street police station last night. McCloskey is a resident of Detroit. He says he is employed as an assistant foreman in the automobile factory whose minimum wage scale is $5 a day.

McCloskey's annual vacation began last Monday. He put $100 in his inside pocket and came to Chicago. It was near midnight Monday when he blew into the Blackstone hotel.

His attire was so boisterous he could be heard a block away. He wore a figured crash suit, a sport shirt with polkadot cravat, tan shoes, and a white soft hat with a fancy ribbon.

Stampede of Bellboys.

When he breezed across the lobby of the Blackstone bellboys rushed toward him. He had no luggage, but, nevertheless, he looked to be "ready money."

The trained eye of the clerk observed that Mr. McCloskey was unused to travel. He pleaded nervousness when he scrawled his name in the register and made some remark about "Hitting 'em up." He was assigned to a room with a "bawth," to which three bellboys escorted him.

Mr. McCloskey started right in to drink up everything in the buffet. His particular beverage was clover leaf cocktails. You know what they cost, don't you?

Tuesday and yesterday Mr. McCloskey was very much in evidence at the Blackstone. He made frequent trips to the grill room and buffet.

He Confides His Riches.

To one of the white aproned attendants in the buffet he confided that he owned a whole block on Woodward avenue, Detroit, and when he returned there he would send the bar boy a six cylinder auto for a little present.

Those clover leaf cocktails finally got him. He began to act queer, and the police were called to remove him. After paying his bill for two days' room rent he made an inventory of his finances and found he had 7 cents left.

"They thought I was crazy over at the hotel," said Mr. McCloskey. "Well, I've been a millionaire for three days and I've had enough of it. My next vacation I'll spend with the wife and the kiddies at Belle Isle. No more of the gay life for me."

Contalmaison Death Hole Described by a Prisoner

LONDON, July 13, 3 a. m.—Philip Gibbs, war correspondent nof the Chronicle, has talked with some of the Germans taken prisoner at Contalmaison.

"One of these men with whom I talked this morning," he says, "told me a tragic tale. He spoke a little English, having been a cabinet maker in Tottenham Court road some years before he went back to Wuertemberg, where, when the war began, he was taken and put in a uniform and told to fight.

"With the other men of the One Hundred and Twenty-second Bavarian regiment, he went into Contalmaison five days ago. Soon the rations they brought with them were finished. Owing to the ceaseless gunfire it was impossible to get fresh supplies. They suffered great agonies of thirst and the numbers of their dead and wounded increased steadily.

Twenty Men in Dark Hole.

"'There was a hole in the ground,' said this German cabinet maker, whose head was bound with a bloody bandage and who was dazed and troubled when I talked with him. 'It was a dark hole which held twenty men, all lying in a heap together, and that was the only dugout for my company, so there was not room for more than a few. It was necessary to take turns in this shelter while outside the English shells were coming and bursting everywhere. Two or three men were dragged out to make room for two or three others, then those who went outside were killed or wounded.

"'Some of them had their heads blown off, some of them had both legs torn off, and some of them their arms, but we went on taking turns in the hole, althought those who went outside knew it was their turn to die very likely. At last the most of those who came into the hole were wounded, some of them badly, so that we lay in blood.

Knew End Was Coming.

"'There was only one doctor, an unter officer,'—he pointed to a man who lay asleep on the ground face downward—'and he bandaged some of us till he had no more bandages; then last night we knew the end was coming. Your guns began to fire altogether, the dreadful trommelfeuer, as we call it, and the shells burst and smashed up the earth about us. We stayed down in the hole waiting for the end. Then we heard your soldiers shouting. Presently two of them came down into our hole. They were two boys and had their pockets full of bombs; they had bombs in their hands also, and they seemed to wonder whether they would kill us, but we were all wounded—nearly all—and we cried "Kameradf!" and now we are prisoners, and I am thirsty.'

Rest Face Downward.

"Other prisoners told me in effect that the fire was terrible in Contalmaison and at least half their men holding it were killed or wounded, so that when the British entered they walked over the bodies of the dead. These men who escaped were in a pitiful condition. They lay on the ground utterly exhausted, most of them, and, what was strange, with their faces to the earth. Perhaps it was to blot out the vision of the things seen.

"I shall remember the cabinet maker of Tottenham Court road. In spite of the clay which covered his face and clothing and the bloody rag round his head, he was a handsome bearded fellow with blue eyes which once or twice lighted up with a tragic smile as when I asked him when he thought the war would end.

"'In 1915,' he said, 'when I was wounded at Ypres I thought the war would end in a few months and a little while ago I thought so again.'

Can't Last Much Longer.

"Then he muttered something to himself, but loud enough for me to hear the words.

"'Surely we cannot go on much longer.'

"I left these men, and farther down the road I saw many more prisoners there, nearly 300 of them, marching down the side track between some corn under mounted escort. Most of them were young and healthy men who walked briskly, and it was only the few behind who limped as they walked and looked broken and beaten men.

"All the prisoners speak of the terror of the British artillery fire, and the documents captured in their dugouts tell the same tale in words which reveal the full horror of the bombardment.

"Many of the men speak of the torture of thirst which they suffered during the bombardment.

Maddened by Thirst.

"'Every one of us in these five days has become years older,' one said. 'We hardly know ourselves. Thirst makes one almost mad. Luckily it rained yesterday and the water in shell holes, with the yellow shell sulphur, tastes as good as a bottle of beer. Today we got something to eat. It was impossible before to bring food up into the front line under the violent curtain of fire of the enemy.'

"One other out of hundreds tells all in a few words.

"'We came into the front line ten days ago,' another said. 'During those ten days I suffered more than any time during the last two years. We do not gloat over the sufferings of our enemy, though we must make him suffer and go on suffering that he may yield. I have seen things today before which one's soul swoons and which, God willing, my pen shall write so that men shall remember the meaning of war. But now when these things are inevitable we must look only to our progress toward the front.'"

HUGE ARMIES BATTLING IN DEATH GRIPS

Little Change After Struggle with Germans Lasting Full Day.

RENEW VERDUN DRIVE.

EUROPEAN WAR SUMMARY

German attacks carry positions won by British, but counter charges recover part of them; Germans gain near Verdun.

Germans drive Russians back across river barrier before Kovel, big rail center.

(By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, July 12.—The furious battle continues in the Contalmaison sector north of the Somme. Driven out last night from the Mametz and Trones woods, lying west of Contalmaison, the British succeeded today in winning back the greater part of the former and in forcing the enemy out of a large part of the latter.

Each hour adds to the fierceness of the fighting on the British front. The Germans have brought heavy reinforcements to this part of the front, acting, doubtless, on the assumption that the most serious menace on the west was Gen. Haig's army.

London estimates that almost 750,000 German bayonets oppose the advance of the British forces.

SEEK BAPAUME PLATEAU.

The British are driving steadily toward the Bapaume plateau. Their immediate objective is the crest of the ridge west of the highland, for this commands the plateau and will make its capture easy. This advance has a two-fold purpose. It will straighten the British line and make easy further progress for the French, whose position is well eastward of the British front, and it will imperil the important railway center of Bapaume.

British accounts testify to the heavy losses each side is suffering. Two heavy attacks were launched by the Germans today against the newly won British position in Contalmaison. Both were hurled back.

"The large number of German dead in Trones wood shows the costliness of their attack last night," says the British statement.

FRENCH INFANTRY WAITS.

The French have halted and their infantry is inactive along the Somme, but their atillery is pounding the German line.

Before the French line advances for a new assault on Peronne an attempt will be made to push forward the front on the south, so that the dangerous wedge pointed at Peronne can be strengthened.

When the time comes for the British and the French to begin fresh assaults on an extended scale the ground is ready. With Contalmaison and the two woods on the east in their hands, the British have a line running east and west from which a flank attack is easy. The Belloy-Estrees line, south of the Somme, offers to the French a similar opening.

HEAVY ATTACKS ON VERDUN.

Heavy assaults on the Verdun front have won small gains with heavy loss in men for the Germans. Apparently the crown prince is unmoved in his determination to carry this venture through to success, however heavy the cost may be. This incessant pounding has called all the available French reserves to the Meuse front.

In the last twenty-four hours there have come hints that the British would attempt an attack in the Lille sector or along the line farther north. "Between the main battlefield and the sea we have been actively engaged in bombarding the enemy's position and raiding his first line," says the British official statement issued this afternoon.

Enterprises like this preceded the British offensive in Picardy twelve days ago. They are designed to weaken the enemy's line and to feel it out for a weak spot. Once the vulnerable spot is found the attack is launched.

BRITISH OFFICIAL REPORTS.

The British report admitting the German offensive was as follows:

Strong hostile attacks were made against several of our new positions. Except in Mametz wood and Trones wood, in both of which localities the

*

Germans regained some ground, all these attacks were beaten off.

Between the main battlefield and the sea we have been actively engaged in bombarding the enemy's positions and raiding his front line. Southeast of Loos a party of Royal Irish Fusiliers penetrated the enemy's trenches at a point where they were strongly held, and remained there for twenty minutes, during which time heavy fighting took place in the trenches. Many Germans were killed. Our casualties were slight.

Opposite the Hohenzollern redoubt two companies of Seaforth Highlanders forced their way into a portion of the enemy's trenches, after a stiff fight. Many Germans were killed or wounded.

REGAIN PART OF GROUND.

The later report telling of today's fighting follows:

The day was marked by sharp local fighting in Mametz wood. We recaptured all the ground lost last night and now hold the whole wood.

We also made some progress in Trones wood. The very large number of German dead in this vicinity shows the costliness of their attack last night.

Two heavy German attacks against Contalmaison broke down under our fire.

French Report on Fight.

PARIS, July 12.—The official communication issued tonight by the war office reads:

On the Somme front there was nothing to report during the course of the day.

On the left bank of the Meuse a spirited artillery action occurred in the sector of Le Mort Homme.

On the right bank the Germans undertook a strong effort in the direction of Fort Souville. After intense artillery preparation an attack with six regiments debouched from the village of Fleury and the Vaux and Chapitre woods. Notwithstanding the violence of the assaults, which were launched in massed formation on a front relatively narrow, the enemy succeeded, at the cost of enormous losses, in gaining only a little ground in the neighborhood of the chapel of Ste. Fine, at the intersection of the Fleury and Vaux roads. The bombardment continued with great violence in the whole region of Souville, Chenois, and La Laufee.

German Official Report.

BERLIN, July 12.—The official report issued by the general army headquarters today was as follows:

The fighting which began on the afternoon of July 10 on both sides of the Bapaume-Albert road, near Contalmaison, and in Mametz wood, as well as new fighting in Trones wood and south thereof, is continuing with bitter stubbornness.

South of the Somme the French suffered a severe check in a great attack which they prepared on the Belloy-Soyecourt front. The attack broke down completely under our fire and weak forces which had been thrown against the Maisonette-Barleux sector fled to their starting point with heavy losses.

At several points on the Champagne front, east and southeast of Reims, northeast of Massiges and northwest of Fleury, partial French attacks failed.

In the Meuse region there were only small engagements to the left of the river. To the right of the river we pushed forward our positions nearer Souville and La Laufee woods, capturing thirty-nine officers and 2,106 men. A strong counter attack was repulsed completely.

GERMAN SUBMARINE SHELLS ENGLISH PORT; WOMAN DEAD

Underwater Boats Fires Thirty Rounds of Shrapnel Over North Sea Cost Town—Damage Slight.

LODNON, July 12.—The English port of Seaham Harbour was attacked last night by a German submarine. About thirty rounds of shrapnel were fired. One woman was killed by the bombardment. One house was struck by a shell. The official announcement says:

At 10:30 o'clock last night a German submarine appeared off the small undefended port of Seaham Harbour [on the North sea, six miles southeast of Sunderland and a coal shipping port]. It approached within a few hundred yards of the town and then opened fire. Some thirty rounds of shrapnel were fired from a three inch gun. Twenty rounds fell in the direction of Daltondale; a dozen rounds fell in and about Seaham colliery.

A woman walking through the colliery yard was seriously injured and died this morning. One houe was struck by a shell. No other damage was done.

ALLIES LOSE MANY SHIPS.

Berlin Official Report Says That 101,000 Tons Were Sunk During June.

BERLIN, July 12, via London, July 13, 1 a. m.—An official statement issued tonight says:

In the month of June sixty-one of the enemy's merchantmen, measuring about 101,000 tons, were sunk by German and Austro-Hungarian submarines or by mines.

GERMANS DRIVE RUSSIANS BACK ON KOVEL FRONT

Slavs Repulsed Across River Barrier to Rail Center; Vanguard Is Wiped Out.

BERLIN, July 12.—Russian troops which attempted to establish themselves on the left bank of the Stokhod river in the advance toward Kovel were attacked by German troops and defeated, the war office announced today. The statement follows:

An attempt to cross the Dvina, made by weak Russian forces, west of Friedrichstadt and attacks south of Narocz lake were frustrated.

On the Stokhod front the position generally is unchanged. Russian detachments which attempted to establish themselves on the left bank of the river near Janowka were attacked. Not a single man of these detachments got away from the southern bank. At this point and on the Kovel-Rovno railroad yesterday we took more than 800 prisoners. The booty taken on the Stokhod during the last two days, apart from a number of officers and 1,932 men, includes twelve machine guns.

Our aerial squadron continues its activity in attacks east of the Stokhod. An enemy captive balloon was shot down.

Foes at Grips Before Kovel.

The Austro-German retirement from the Czartorysk salient, just south of the Pinsk swamps, having been completed, the opposing armies have come to grips all along the line of the Stokhod river, where Gen. von Linsingen has elected to stand and cover the approach to Kovel.

Heavy fighting already is in progress along the Stokhod, but apparently it is merely an earnest of what later may be expected in the persistent and desperate campaign of the Russian commander, Gen. Brussiloff, to reach this important railway junction regardless of losses.

The retirement, according to advices from Austrian headquarters, was for strategic purposes, and the achievement is considered one of high degree. The Russians had worked well around the flanks of the old position, and if material and units were to be saved the retirement over an almost roadless country had to be effected at a good pace. As it was, the Austro-German forces barely reached the positions behind the Stokhod before the Russians were hammering at the crossings. Comparative quiet prevails along the rest of the eastern front.

Cossacks Devise New Tactics.

For some time the correspondents in Berlin have been hearing of the astonishing use of Russian cavalry on the front south of the swamps and getting repeated tales of charges of masses of horsemen against entrenched and unbroken infantry. The new tactics are employed not to press home an assault but to advance a line of skirmishers rapidly across the danger zone before the actual charge is started.

The rôle of the cavalry is played when the infantry lines reach a point some 500 yards from the Austro-German trenches. A swarm of cavalry in widely extended lines is then flung forward through the intervals of the infantry lines. The horsemen dart forward at headlong speed. Soon they fling themselves to the ground and open a rapid fire against the enemy. The Cossacks' horses are trained to lie down and form a living breastwork for the riders. Under cover of the heavy fire from the dismounted horsemen the infantry lines advance across the intervening country.

Russian Official Statement.

PETROGRAD, July 12.—The following statement on military operations was issued today by Russian army headquarters:

On the whole front, from Riga to the Preptp marshes, there was intermittent artillery and rifle fire. German aviators dropped bombs on the station of Zamirie and the town of Niesvij, where several houses were set on fire.

Persistent fighting continues on the Stokhod front. Near the village of Grouchivka, north of Hulewicze, the enemy made his appearance on the right bank of the river, but later was ejected therefrom. In the region of the village of Kachovka the enemy attempted to approach the Stokhod but were repulsed by our fire.

On July 10 we made prisoners twenty-four officers and 745 German and Austrian soldiers.

Take German Boats in Baltic.

On the Baltic our torpedo boat destroyers during operations in the Gulf of Bothnia captured two large German steamers, one of which was loaded with iron ore. They brought both vessels into our ports.

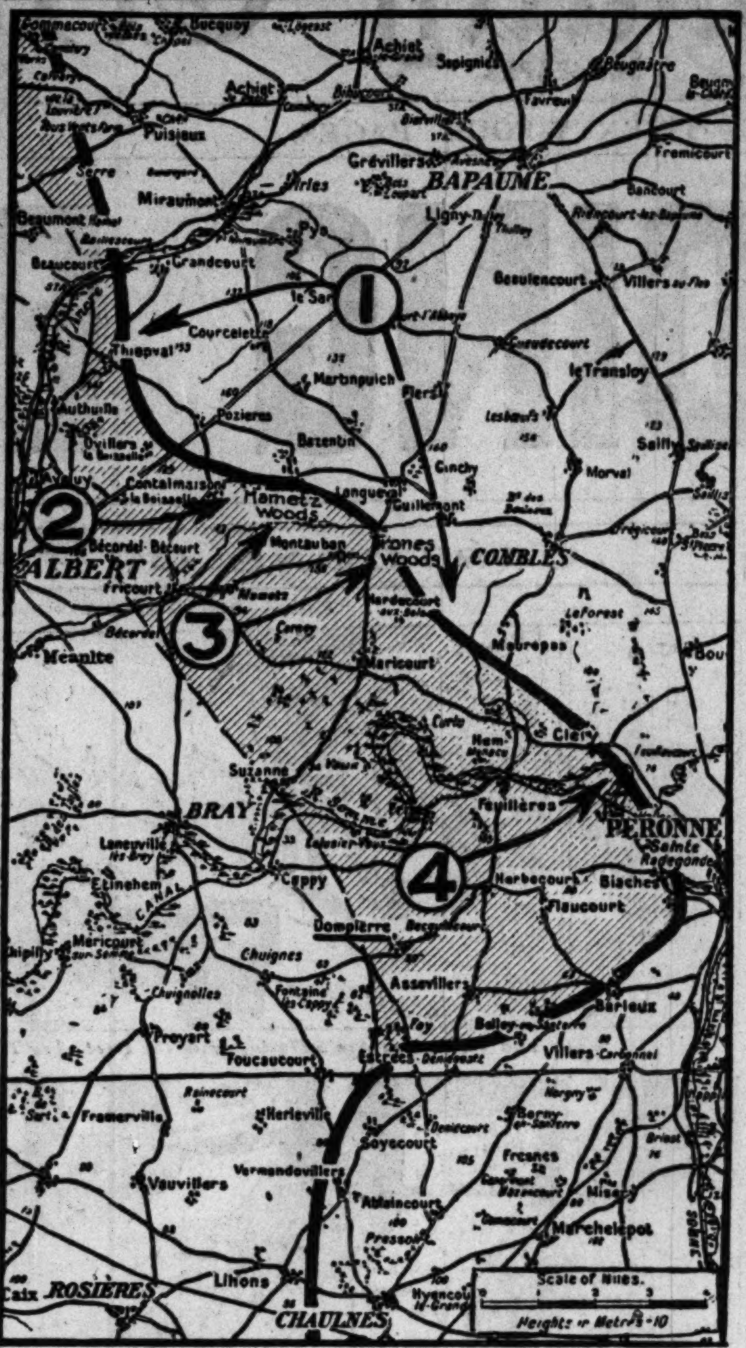
THE BATTLE OF THE SOMME



1—Berlin reports Germans are heavily engaged in hand to hand fighting with the British on wide front on both sides of Albert-Bapaume road.

2—London reports two heavy German attacks against Contalmaison completely broke down under British fire.

3—London reports recapture of ground lost Tuesday night in Mametz and Trones woods. At these points Gen. Haig reports, the Germans brought heavy reinforcements into action and earlier in the day regained some lost ground.

4—Paris reports French have succeeded in clearing Germans out of isolated positions they still held on bend of Somme river opposite Peronne.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR "MARIE TENNESSEE."

Southern Club Provides Burial for Girl of Night Life of Supposedly Dixie Ancestry.

The name which won "Marie Tennessee" a funeral will not go down on her tombstone. The woman, who possessed features which might have served an artist for a model before they became scarred by the night life in the west side cabarets, died on a borrowed bed, without friends, without funds, and, as far as the authorities have been able to discover, without relatives.

They believe Tennessee was an assumed name, but it was this name that prompted the Southern club and the local chapters of the United Daughters of the Confederacy to pay the expenses of the simple funeral held yesterday. Only the Episcopal clergyman who conducted the service and Dixon Dilliams, recently appointed postmaster of Chicago, were present at the service.

Mr. Williams has aided in the investigaeion to establish the woman's identity. The body will lie for a week in a vault at Elmwood cemetery, in the hope some one may identify it. If not, the simple name "Marie" will be the only one to go on her tombstone.

Policeman No. 13 Hits Black Cat, Breaks Mirror, Etc.—Mother and Child Doing Well.

Joliet, Ill., July 12.—[Special.]—Roy Parker, motorcycle policeman No. 13, ran over a black cat today. When comrades prophesied bad luck, he threw a brush at them and broke a mirror. When a black kitten entered headquarters and took a fancy to him Parker said bad luck signs worked the opposite on him. The telephone rang to announce the birth of his first son. Mother and child doing splendidly.

U. S. PROTEST TO TURKEY AGAINST CONSULATE RAIDS.

Proof Found That Syrians Were Executed Whose Names Appeared in Papers of Offices.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—Vigorous protest has been made by the United States to the Turkish government against the action of the governor general of Syria in breaking into the French and British consulates at Beirut and carrying off their archives after the American consul general there had placed the seal of the United States on their doors.

It became known here today that many prominent Syrians recently executed by the Turks were condemned because their names appeared in papers taken from the violated consulates.

According to official information, the mere presence of the names in the consular records served as a death warrant, without further proof of antagonism to the Turkish government.

SHACKLETON STARTS TRIP TO RESCUE HIS COLLEAGUES

Leaves Punta Arenas, Chile, Seeking Former Associates Marooned on Elephant Island.

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile, July 12.—Sir Ernest Shackleton left here today on another attempt to rescue his colleagues marooned on Elephant island. The British Association of Magallones has provided and equipped for him the seventy ton wooden schooner Emma. They are being towed as far south as possible by a steamer lent by the Chilean government.

ITALIAN TROOPS ENGAGE ENEMIES AT MANY POINTS

Rome Reports That Advantage of Mountain Fighting Lies with Its Forces.

ROME, July 12.—The following official report was given out here today:

In the Camonica, Giudicaria, and Ledro valleys the enemy's artillery was active, directing its fire particularly on villages.

Yesterday in the region of the Adige valley we made some progress, north of the Serra valley and in the region of Malga Zugna. On the slopes north of the Passubio we partly reoccupied positions on Monte Corno which we lost on July 10.

On the Isonzo front there were artillery duels. Our batteries set fire to encampments of the enemy on the Iavorcek, broke up an enemy column in the Idria valley, and caused explosions near the Church of Santa Maria in Tolmino.

Austrians Quit Tolmino.

PARIS, July 12.—According to a dispatch to the Journal from the Italian front, the Austrians appear to have evacuated Tolmino on the Isonzo front. The correspondent says that the activity of the Austrians in that region is felt less and less.

TWO AEROPLANES ATTACK FRENCH PORT OF CALAIS

Admiralty Gives Out Statement in Berlin Telling of Attack on Seaside City.

BERLIN, July 12.—[By wireless to Sayville.]—Two German aeroplanes made an attack on the channel port of Calais on Monday night, it was announced officially today. They dropped bombs on the port and on army encampments. The admiralty gave out the following:

"Two German naval aeroplanes on the night of July 10-11 dropped bombs on Calais and the troop camps at Bray-Dunes, near the Belgian frontier. The aeroplanes returned undamaged."

American Airmen Fight.

PARIS, July 12.—Several members of the American aviation squadron made a sortie over the German lines on July 9. Corporal Dudley Hill of Peekskill, N. Y., and Sergt. T. Rockwell attacked a German observation machine. Prince joined the combat and an aviatik flew to the support of its comrade, which eventually was forced to descend within the German lines, whereupon the aviatik quickly quit the fight. All the machines have holes in their planes as a result of the battle. One bullet hole in Rockwell's machine showed that a bullet had passed within an inch of the American's breast.

TREATY DOES NOT AFFECT THE "OPEN DOOR" IN CHINA.

Russian Official Says That America Has Nothing to Fear from the Agreement.

PETROGRAD, July 12.—The charge that Japan's possible fear of the United States was the motive behind the Russo-Japanese treaty, was officially denied here today by Counselor G. Kozatov of the department of foreign affairs. He said the new treaty contains no cause for alarm in the United States and does not involve the "open door" policy in China.

Counselor Kozatov's attention was called to an article intimating that the Japanese-American situation was a motive inspiring the treaty.

"That is utterly absurd," he said. "The Russo-Japanese treaty was aimed at Germany. America was not thought of. Russia has no intention of allowing Germany to do to China what she did to Turkey."

MRS. JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN WILL MARRY A MINISTER.

Widow of British Statesman Will Become Bride of William Hartley Carnegie.

LONDON, July 12.—The engagement is announced of Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, widow of the British statesman, and the Rev. William Hartley Carnegie, rector of St. Margaret and canon of Westminster. Before her marriage Mrs. Chamberlain was Miss Mary Endicott of Massachusetts, daughter of the late William Endicott, secretary of war in President Cleveland's cabinet.

TURKISH TROOPS BEAT RUSSIANS

Attempts at Counter Attacks Beaten Off with Heavy Losses.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 12.—The Russians have attempted to check the Turkish troops in the Cascasus by means of counter attacks, but the war office announced today that these onslaughts had been beaten off. The announcement follows:

In the sector of Felahie a Turkish reconnoitering party surprised a reconnoitering party of the enemy on the right bank of the Tigris. The enemy fled, abandoning horses.

To the southward of the Tchoruk hostile counter attacks were repulsed. Forces of the enemy which succeeded in penetrating our lines in some sectors were driven off to the eastward.

Russians Win Advance.

PETROGRAD, July 12.—An official report issued by the war office tonight said:

To the west of the Erzerum center we made considerable progress and captured a new line of fortified Turkish positions. A great success was scored by one of our regiments which had already distinguished itself in memorable fighting during the months of January and February [Russian time] at the capture of the fortress of Erzerum.

Prisoners continue to be brought in. From the 2d to the 8th instant 107 officers, 1,684 men, three guns, ten machine guns, and four bomb throwers were captured. A large quantity of arms and war material was left on the line of retreat followed by the Turks.

MONEY LENDERS' NEW PLAN GIVEN SETBACK BY LANDIS.

Salary Loan Men Think They Have Scheme to Beat Ruling, but Federal Judge Shows 'Em.

Federal Judge Landis halted loan agents in a new scheme they had worked out yesterday. Formerly it was the custom of the agents to extend a new loan to a victim the moment he paid up an old one. This system was known as the "continuous loan." When victims sought relief before Judge Landis from paying 400 and 500 per cent interest the court required only interest on the original loan.

Recently the loan men decided to make the victim wait several hours or a whole day before giving a new loan. When three men came into court yesterday to seek relief all the lenders were there. They smiled confidently when their attorney explained to Judge Landis that he "couldn't" prevent them from collecting interest on "individual" loans.

"Huh," said the judge, "we can't? Well, Mr. Clerk, enter a restraining order against these agents from collecting these men's wages and enter an order to have their employers pay them their wages and to nullify the attachments against them."

WILSON PLANS APPEAL TO GET FOOD TO POLAND

Action May Follow Conference with Delegation Led by J. F. Smulski of Chicago.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—President Wilson may make a personal appeal to the British and German governments to permit food supplies to get through to the people of Poland.

Officials of the administration intimated the president would take this course as a result of his conference with a delegation of American citizens of Polish birth or ancestry today. The delegation which called on the president was headed by John F. Smulski of Chicago. Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, who several weeks ago introduced in the senate a measure designed to obtain relief for starving Poland, presented the Poles to the president.

Mr. Smulski and N. L. Piotrowski told the president of the efforts to get food into Poland and of the need for food there. Mr. Wilson said he fully appreciated the situation and had been working for some time to get the supplies through.

Can't Agree on Concessions.

As the matter now stands, Germany has offered certain concessions and Great Britain has offered others, but the German concessions do not coincide with the British.

Several days ago Great Britain offered to permit supplies to go through if they were consigned to Red Cross hospital units. On the face of it this appeared to be a fair offer. The Red Cross promptly called attention to the fact that for lack of funds it was compelled to abandon its units in Poland months ago. Former President Taft asserted the British government was aware of this when it made its offer.

On the other hand, Germany, while agreeing to let supplies go through to Poland, has not agreed, according to the Poles, not to requisition the supplies in case of military necessity.

Pistrowski Depicts Suffering.

Mr. Piotrowski made a trip to Poland last year to investigate conditions. In discussing them with the president today he said:

"I wish, Mr. President, I could find words with which I could describe to you the scenes I witnessed in Poland.

"There are no children below the age of 7, except in large cities; they died of hunger, disease, and exposure. A woman fleeing from Warsaw in her car counted seventeen dead babies in the ditches.

"Shelterless and foodless, the people of Poland are dying by thousands, and while their families are in dire extremities, the male population has been dragged off and compelled to fight in the armies of their oppressors in a war in which Poland has no interest and which has brought to Poland a disaster more overwhelming than any that has befallen the nations actually at war. The world has never witnessed a tragedy so appalling."

Wilson Tells of Efforts.

"This is a matter," the president said in reply, "which has engaged my thought constantly. I might say without exaggeration, and I do not think that there is any matter to which the state department has devoted a more constant and repeated effort than that of trying to get relief into Poland. I know the terrible conditions, the tragical conditions, that exist there, and nobody could know them without feeling his heart torn with the knowledge. Just the other day we issued a special appeal to the governments concerned to make concessions and allow this humane thing to be done.

"Now, I am simply up against a stone wall in the matter. If they do not yield, obviously there is nothing I can do. I cannot force food in there without complicating the situation, and without, I conjecture, doing greater disservice to Poland than service. Her only friends are apparently at a disadvantage. But I can assure you that every kind of pressure that can be brought will be brought and is being brought, in the accomplishment of this object."

U. S. NOT TO LET AMERICANS SAIL ON DEUTSCHLAND

Thus We Avoid Complications if U-Boat Is Sunk Without Warning.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—The government has taken steps to avoid serious complications should the German super-submarine, the Deutschland, be sunk by a British or French ship without warning.

The government will do this, it is said, by the simple expedient of not permitting Americans to travel on the Deutschland. Then, should the ship be sunk without warning, which would be contrary to all the "humanity" principles laid down by President Wilson, the United States probably will do nothing more than inquire as to Great Britain's method of conducting warfare on merchant ships. The administration will keep Americans off submarines by refusing them passports.

Counselor Polk of the state department is himself the authority for this last statement.

Arrest U-Boat Sailors.

Six members of the crew of the Deutschland were taken into custody in Washington tonight and landed in the Ninth police precinct station for alleged violation of the speed laws.

The motorcycle policeman who followed their automobile and arrested the visitors just as they came into the residential section of the city says the car was going twenty-five miles an hour.

Baltimore, Md., July 12.—The North German Lloyd has received from persons in all parts of the country offers running as high as $50,000 for the privilege of taking passage on the submarine Deutschland on its return trip to Germany.

"We have had letters from some persons," said a representative of the company today, "who said that they would pay any price we wanted. There was one $50,000 offer, several of $10,000, and virtually scores running from $1,000 to $5,000. These we have had to refuse. Nearly all of them came from Americans. There are, of course, thousands of Germans in this country who would like to get back to their native land, but no passengers will be carried."

The Deutschland will be ready for sea on Saturday, but whether it will go when ready is known only to agents and captain, and neither will tell.

There was just one informing sentence that Capt. Koenig let go today—inadvertently. That was that he was willing to give the British embassy twenty-four hours' notice of his departure.

Give Red Cross Check.

The Deutschland's crew is big hearted as well as brave. They decided tonight to turn over the $10,000 check donated by August Hecksher, the tinplate king, to the German Red Cross, to be used in merciful work among their comrades fighting in the trenches. Mr. Heckesher had intended that the money be divided among the men as a reward for their distinguished services, but the men would not consent to such an arrangement.

The successful venture of the Deutschland will result in the organization of a company capitalized at possibly $100,000,000 for the construction of gigantic submersibles of 5,000 ton capacity for commerce between this country and Germany. This became known late this afternoon, following a series of conferences held at the offices of the North German Lloyd line and participated in by Simon Lake, inventor of the submarine; Carl Luederetz, German consul at this port; H. G. and P. G. L. Hilken, American representatives of the Ocean Navigation company of Bremen, and two representatives of the Krupp Steel company of Germany. Capt. Paul Koenig of the Deutschland also was present at these conferences.

The boats will cost approximately $1,250,000 each and will be used to carry munition materials to Germany and bring back cargoes of dyestuffs and medicines.

In Business for Cash.

BERLIN, July 12.—"We are in this business to make money," said President Lohmann of the Ocean company, owning the big German commercial submarine, just before leaving for Bremen today. "Under the circumstances, and in view of the small freights, and that freight rates on our undersea freighters are very high, it will pay.

"It must be remembered that we can not insure our boats and that if we lose one we have lost our money. We are being deluged with requests to carry mail, both here and in America. But the international postal regulations and the law prohibit carrying mail for money or other than the regular mail route connections, which, of course, would not even pay a small fraction of our expenses.

To Carry Kaiser's Mail.

"Our boats will carry the diplomatic mail pouches of the German government, and, purely as a favor and accommodation, we may carry a few small bags of important commercial letters for banks and commercial houses and newspaper correspondence for American correspondents here. That we will do free of charge. We also will carry securities, stocks, and money."

Herr Lohmann denied that the boats will carry passengers, except perhaps an invited guest occasionally.

SHIFTS DUE IN BATTERY C.

Capt. Staver Becomes Regimental Adjutant—Club Rebuff for Privates.

San Antonio, Tex., July 12.—[Special.]—The arrival of Col. Charles Allen, formerly a captain in the field artillery, regular army, to take command of the recently organized regiment of Illinois field artillery heralds changes in the organization. Capt. Roy Staver has resigned leadership of Battery C to become regimental adjutant, with the rank of captain. It is probable that Lieut. Noble Judah Jr. will succeed him as battery commander. Other promotions and changes are certain to follow.

Some of the Battery C men, including Chicago society men, were asked to desist from dancing at the Travis club last night. The Travis club is the principal club of San Antonio, and cards had been issued to the artillerists. Their appearance in the uniforms of privates, however, did not make a big hit, and a polite request to the wall flowers was issued shortly

LANSDOWNE'S SPEECH CALLED INSULT TO ERIN

LONDON, July 12.—John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists, today issued a statement characterising the speech of the Marquis of Lansdowne on the home rule bill in the house of lords on Tuesday as a declaration of war on the Irish people.

"I regard Lord Lansdowne's speech as a gross insult to Ireland," Mr. Redmond said in his statement. "It amounts to a declaration of war on the Irish people and is an announcement of a policy of coercion.

"If this speech is taken as representing the attitude and spirit of the government towards Ireland, there is an end to all hopes of a settlement. The speech seems to me to have been made with the deliberate object of wrecking the negotiations for a settlement."

Permanent, Lansdowne Says.

As deserving special notice, Mr. Redmond cites the following passage from Lord Lansdowne's speech:

"It is a bill which will make structural alterations in the act of 1914, already on the statute book; therefore it will be permanent and enduring in character. But it is an act which will contain at other points temporary provisions, such as, for example, those dealing with the house of commons, which it is proposed to set up in the near future."

Mr. Redmond proceeds:

"This would be a gross breach of faith, and I desire to state that I adhere strictly to the terms which were submitted to us by Mr. Lloyd George and which were then submitted by us to the Nationalists.

Temporary, Redmond Says.

"The agreement arrived at was that the home rule act of 1914 was to be put into operation as soon as possible, subject to certain modifications, which were all to be on the same footing. One of these modifications was that the act should not extend to six counties in Ulster, and there was retention of the full representation of Ireland in the imperial parliament. These and other modifications are to remain in force during the continuance of the war and for a period of twelve months thereafter.

"The bill, of course, will be in all its provisions and details strictly temporary and provisional."

In his speech before the house of lords on Tuesday Lord Lansdowne suggested the maintenance of a garrison in Ireland strong enough to preserve order. He thought 40,000 troops, under command of Gen. Maxwell, would be sufficient to prevent the situation from getting out of hand.

The advisory committee appointed to consider the cases of men arrested in Ireland during the recent rebellion and still under detention has recommended the release of 460 of them.

This recommendation will be given effect immediately, Herbert L. Samuel, secretary of state for home affairs, informed the house of commons today.

LA SALLE STRIKERS RIOT; STATE AID MAY BE ASKED.

Three Hundred Attack Police When Leaders Are Arrested as Cement Mill Pickets.

Ottawa, Ill., July 12.—[Special.]—After a riot at La Salle today projected by 300 striking cement workers, Sheriff Davis tonight was considering calling on the state for help to restore order.

The strikers, seeking to prevent men from going to work at the Oglesby plants, challenged the efforts of La Salle police to protect them. They attacked Chief of Police Thomas Doyle and other officers and took their stars ad clubs away from them.

The attack came after two policemen had arrested two of the leaders of the picket gang.

The strikers, all of whom are employed in the La Salle and Oglesby mills, are fighting for recognition of their union. The strike has been in progress for ten days.

ISOLATE GERMS OF NEW PLAGUE?

New York Physicians Hope to Find Cause of Paralysis.

New York, July 12.—While Health Commissioner Emerson declined tonight to discuss the report that a New York physician had succeeded in isolating the germ of infantile paralysis, great importance was attached by medical men to the meeting of physicians tomorrow night, which will be devoted to a discussion of the disease which has cost 287 lives in this city since the epidemic began. A total of 1,440 cases have been reported.

Among the speakers will be Dr. Simon Flexner of the Rockefeller foundation, who is devoting his energies to a study of infantile paralysis. It was semi-officially admitted that scientists have progressed so far that they are testing a culture in which they believe they will find traces of the germ and ultimately isolate it.

There was a feeling of optimism in the health department today, not only because there were fewer cases reported than yesterday but also because no new areas were invaded and because all agencies combatting the epidemic are working in complete coöperation.

Chicago Will Aid Fight.

It is announced that health officers of Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Buffalo, Albany, and Syracuse and other cities have been asked to report any persons who go to those cities from the infected areas in New York and develop the disease there. No further restrictive measures will be imposed in this city at present, Dr. Emerson said.

Dr. John Dill Robertson, health commissioner of Chicago, who came here today to investigate the situation, declared his department had not been called upon to treat an unusual number of cases of infantile paralysis.

A conference of physicians and city officials called by Mayor Mitchel was held this afternoon to devise additional means of fighting the epidemic. A special committee headed by Dr. Flexner was appointed to undertake the work.

WHERE NEW CASES APPEAR.

New cases of infantile paralysis were reported in the following named places yesterday:

NO ALARM IN ILLINOIS.

Acting Health Commissioner Koehler announced yesterday that no new cases of infantile paralysis had been reported in Chicago or its suburbs. With the first alarm wearing off, there also was an absence of reports of cases incorrectly diagnosed as paralysis. The state board of health announced that the total number of true cases in Illinois now is twenty-six. Two suspected cases, it was found, were not paralysis.

FOREIGN TRADE OF U. S. IN YEAR IS 6 1-2 BILLIONS

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—America's foreign trade for the fiscal year ending June 30 was valued at more than $6,500,000,000, according to a statement issued by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce today.

Exports were valued at $4,345,000,000 and imports at $2,180,000,000.

War supplies made up the greater portion of the export values, thirteen classes approximating $3,024,000,000, as against $1,321,000 for all other exports.

Gain in War Goods Shown.

The following table indicates the tremendous increase in the exportations of war supplies during 1916 over 1915 and 1914:

	Millions
Classes—	1916.	1915.	1914.
Iron and steel	618	226	251
Explosives	473	41	6
Raw cotton	370	376	610
Wheat and flour	314	428	142
Meats	270	206	143
Copper manufactures	170	109	146
Mineral oils	165	134	152
Brass and manufactures	126	21	7
Autos and parts	123	68	33
Chemicals, etc	123	46	27
Cotton manufactures	112	72	51
Refined sugar	80	26	2
Leather	80	65	37

Group of Largest Imports.

Seven groups of articles represent about one-half the entire value of the import trade, each of them exceeding $100,000,000 in the fiscal year 1916. Stated in order of magnitude, they are:

Sugar, estimated at $206,000,000 in 1916, against $174,000,000 and $101,000,000 one and two years earlier; rubber and substitutes therefor, $159,000,000, against $87,000,000 and $76,000,000, respectively; hides and skins, $157,000,000, against $104,000,000 and $120,000,000; raw wool, $145,000,000, against $68,000,000 and $53,000,000; raw silk, $122,000,000, against $81,000,000 and $98,000,000; coffee, $117,000,000, against $107,000,000 and $111,000,000, and chemicals, drugs, etc., $108,000,000, against $84,000,000 and $95,000,000, respectively.

ELKS FOR PREPAREDNESS.

Baltimore, Md., July 12.—A resolution passed at today's session of the grand lodge of Elks put the order on record as being "ready, willing and prepared" to shield from want the families of any of its members who shall go to the front "in defense of American honor."

TO AID DEFENSE BY INDUSTRIES

War Department Ready to Seize Any Plant Needed in Defense.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—The war department today gave out a comparison of the industrial and commercial mobilization schemes of this government for use in time of war, as compared with the methods of the countries now at war.

In its statement the war department said the industrial mobilization of most of these countries had been carried down to the minutest detail.

The department seemed to be of the opinion that the Hay-Chamberlain act, which became effective June 3, 1916, was as comprehensive in preparing for industrial efficiency in the time of war as the enabling acts of the foreign countries.

Some List All Horses.

The department has pointed out that in Austria and France all the horses and wagons suitable for military service are listed and the record is kept by area officers so that the government at any time may ascertain how many horses and wagons are available and their condition in any stated district.

While the industrial preparedness scheme of the United States has not yet included such minor details, ample power to carry out the preparedness scheme to such a minute extent is vested in the government by the defense act.

When the president commands, every manufacturing concern in the country must stop immediately whatever other business it has on hand and proceed to get out the order of the government.

Must Have Plans Ready.

Even the plans for converting manufacturing plants into munitions factories must be drawn and kept available so that on five minutes' notice work could be begun on this transformation process.

In addition to these preparations, the president is authorized to appoint a board on mobilization of industries essential for military preparedness, which would be nonpartisan in character. The duties of this board are not specifically stated, it being given the widest range to accomplish its ends.

These plans, the war department thinks, enable the United States to enter on an era of preparedness such as contemplated by all military experts. The cost of this kind of preparedness is negligible, but the results of it will be to put the United States in a position where it could, in time of war, prepare the country for a long and protracted struggle.

THE GLORIOUS U. S.

Field Kitchens Reach First Cavalry—Supplied by War Department? No, by a Citizen.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., July 12.—[Special.]—The First Illinois cavalry almost dashed to arms about twilight tonight, when three contraptions possessing the appearance of 42 centimeter guns were observed approaching Camp Parker along the Mexican road. Each was driven by a Mexican.

The strange contrivances progressed into camp without being fired on, however, and the explanation soon was forthcoming that they were not a part of the Mexican artillery, but were the regiment's new portable field kitchens.

The kitchens are of the type in use by the British army in Europe. Each is capable of feeding 500 men or one squadron at a single mess. Thus the First Illinois cavalry, which numbers about 1,200 men, will be more than adequately taken care of from a culinary standpoint, when that regiment takes the field.

The kitchens were not a part of the equipment furnished by Washington. They were presented to the regiment by an officer of the regiment.

TWO CHICAGOANS KILLED BY AUTOS

Mrs. Gertrude Wells Loses Life When Riding with H. G. Fisher Near Elgin.

Two Chicagoans were killed yesterday in auto accidents and nearly a dozen others injured, some probably fatally. Some of the mishaps occurred in the city, while others occurred during outing trips in the country.

The Dead.

Mrs. Gertrude Wells, 4127 Ellis avenue; killed when auto overturned near Elgin.

Joseph Schmidt, 3312 North Halsted street; killed in collision between two auto trucks at Montrose boulevard and North Avers avenue.

The Injured.

H. G. Fisher, 4127 Ellis avenue, injured in Elgin accident.

Miss Laura Babcock, Leland avenue and Sheridan road, driving car at time Mrs. Wells was killed.

Mrs. Arthur Lane of Chicago, reported dying in St. Vincent's hospital in Toledo, O., of a broken back received when automobile turned turtle at Millbury, O.

M. E. Staunton of Chicago, injured in Millbury accident.

Bernard Feeney, chauffeur for Staunton, slightly hurt.

Harry Josephson, 3057 Seminary avenue; injured in motor truck collision in which Schmidt was killed.

Edward Hartje, 3539 North Crawford avenue, injured in same accident.

William W. O'Brien, attorney, 3710 Indiana avenue; pinned under auto and probably fatally hurt when it upset in Jackson boulevard, near Morgan street.

Mrs. Mary Kucharski, 2543 West Forty-sixth place, also caught under Attorney O'Brien's machine and seriously hurt.

Engaged to Wed.

Mrs. Wells was reported engaged to be married to Fisher.

Miss Babcock, who was driving the car, said she was going at a fast clip when the car struck a rut, veered to the side of the road, struck another rut, and turned over into a ditch.

Neither she nor Fisher, a sporting writer, was injured badly. Mrs. Wells was still alive when taken from under the overturned car, but died on the way to a hospital in Elgin.

Motoring from New York.

Staunton told the Toledo authorities the party was returning from a trip to New York when the accident at Millbury occurred. A man, who said he was Mrs. Lane's husband, paid a hurried visit to her at the hospital and left immediately for Chicago, a dispatch stated.

Physicians took an X-ray examination today and announced the woman's back is broken and that in all probability she cannot recover. Staunton said the car was traveling forty miles an hour when it toppled over in making a sharp curve. Mrs. Lane was pinned under the car.

BUFFALO SEES SHRINERS.

Arab Patrols and Bands Supply Spectacular Features as Imperial Council Meets.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 12.—While the imperial council continued its deliberations in executive session today the Arab patrols and bands furnished the visiting thousands with the spectacular features of the forty-second annual session of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. The women attended a reception at the Scottish Rite cathedral in the morning.

LAKE BREEZES THWART HEAT'S CHICAGO ATTACK

Mercury Reaches 88, but Cooling Wind Keeps Prostration List Low.

Little old Lake Michigan did its duty!

On the tenth consecutive day of sunshine some adjacent territory jealous of Chicago's reputation as a summer resort shipped in a wave of warmth that threatened to become a genuine hot spell. Then the lake sent one of its steady breezes across the shore line to moisten and cool the waves of heat.

In an hour the temperature dropped 5 degrees, and for the remainder of the day the breeze held it from reaching the high mark for which it started.

88 Highest of the Day.

It did crawl up to a little beyond the summer resort average, but it didn't get anywhere near the mercury records of other cities of the middle west. The maximum for the day was 88 at 3 o'clock, but other points in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, and other adjacent states showed more than 90 degrees, as a rule.

The parks and beaches were crowded all day. The boat lines, especially those docking at the municipal pier, did a big day's business. In the evening the gardens were jammed.

Several Prostrations Reported.

If Chicago had a "touch of the heat," its greatest effects were these, but there also were some more serious consequences. Several prostrations were reported to the police. Among them were these:

Polt, John, 36 years old, 3110 North St. Louis avenue; fell in front of 1446 Dickson street, striking his head.

Dauknar, Alexander, 27 years old, 3649 Nordica avenue, cement worker; overcome at Wilson and North Claire avenues and taken home.

Tignatoes, Joseph, 35 years old, 2973 Wentworth avenue, street cleaner; overcome at 411 Plymouth court; taken to St. Luke's.

Hefferman, Thomas H., 63 years old, 2703 Princeton avenue, teamster; overcome at Plymouth place and Twelfth street; recovered in an hour.

Hyte, Elmer, 2451 North Artesian avenue, teaming contractor; overcome at Western and Fullerton avenues; treated by a physician and taken home.

Tuelle, Nederson, 65 years old, a Negro; fell at Twenty-seventh street and Wabash avenue; taken to the county hospital; said he has no home.

The Marks Manufacturing company at Evanston gave its employés a half holiday because of the heat. Five of them went swimming in the drainage canal at Main street, and one, Joseph Kilear, 1040 Florence avenue, was drowned. He called for help, but drowned before his friends could reach him.

HOT WAVE GENERAL.

The hot wave yesterday was general over the country. Below are some of the places where the mercury reached 90 or above:

JAPAN SEEKING TO GET CONTROL OF PHILIPPINES

Washington Hears of Secret Efforts Being Made by the Nipponese.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—Japan wants the Philippine islands.

Despite professions to the contrary, the Japanese government, it transpired here today, has included in its imperial ambition the acquisition of the archipelago which for eighteen years has been under American rule.

Japanese diplomacy is being directed with a view not only to extending control over Chna, but to the creation of conditions favoring the acquisition of the Philippines. Disclosures here indicate that considerations of this character actuated Japan, in part at least, in negotiating the recent treaty with Russia.

DOES NOT CONTEMPLATE FORCE.

It does not appear at this time that Japan contemplates a forcible seizure of the Philippines. So far as the present disclosures go the island empire is bent upon a peaceful acquisition of the American archipelago, and is willing to bide its time until events in the far east make possible the realization of the ambition.

Secret reports made to the administration by officials in the Philippines indicate that Japan has entertained hope, not entirely dissipated, of obtaining possession of the islands in the event of their liberation by the United States.

Even then the islands would not be forcibly seized but would be subjected to an extension of Japanese influence similar to the procedure followed by Tokio in the case of Manchuria and now of the remainder of China.

SEEK TO GET OPTIONS.

When the administration was promoting the legislation proposed in the Jones bill with the Clarke amendment, providing for the hauling down of the American flag in the Philippines within four years, there was tremendous activity on the part of Japan in the direction of "getting in on the ground floor."

It transpires that powerful Japanese interests negotiated numerous options at that time on important enterprises in the Philippines, all of which were conditioned upon the enactment of the Jones bill with the Clarke amendment or some similar provision for the early separation of the islands from American sovereignty.

When the house of representatives, by rejecting the Clarke amendment, put a crimp in the administration program to turn the Philippines loose, this Japanese scheme suffered a setback. No more options were negotiated, but some of those obtained still stand pending the final action of congress on the independence legislation.

HOUSES FAIL TO AGREE.

As the matter now rests, the two houses of congress are at variance on the immediate liberation of the Philippines. The senate is insisting on the Clarke amendment; the house is against it. The conference committee has reached no agreement.

Another disclosure of the reports to the administration concerning Japanese activity when the Jones bill was under consideration relates to the presence of a number of Japanese officials in the Philippines. One instance was the discovery of two distinguished Japanese officials, accompanied by the chief irrigation engineer of Formosa, on the upper waters of the Agusan river in Mindanao.

The Japanese professed to be spending a vacation in this remote spot, but the explanation was regarded with suspicion by the American authorities, who reported the matter to Washington.

EVEN NATIVES ARE ALARMED.

This Japanese activity was so pronounced at the time that the Filipinos themselves became alarmed. The more intelligent native leaders concluded that Japan had designs upoon the islands in the event of their liberation by the United States, and enthusiasm for the Clarke amendment noticeably cooled in influential native circles. The result was that the rejection of the Clarke amendment by the house produced little resentment on the part of the Filipinos.

These reports have been anything but welcome to the administration, which had been pressing the Clarke amendment with assurances that, if declared independent, the Filipinos would be allowed to work out their destiny without interference by Japan or any other power. Consequently the evidence of Japanese activity is being suppressed by the administration.

May Try to Buy Them.

Purchase of the Philippines by Japan from the United States also, it appears, has been considered in Tokio. The administration has been furnished with the copy of a report made to Count Okuma, prime minister of Japan, by Dr. Nitobe, a distinguished professor in the Imperial university at Tokio, recommending that the Japanese government offer the United States $300,000,000 for the islands.

Administration officials say they do not believe this report genuine and express the suspicion that it was written, not by Dr. Nitobe, but by certain Filipino leaders, who caused it to fall into the hands of the American authorities for the purpose of creating the impression that Japan covets the islands.

Laying Plans for Future.

Although Japan may not be able to gain possession of the Philippines immediately, it can do much to pave the way for their acquisition, peacefully or otherwise, later. There is abundant evidence that Tokio is maneuvering at this time to promote this ambition.

Japan is in possession of the Ladrone, Marshall, and Caroline groups of Pacific islands, seized from Germany, which effectualy screen the Philippines from the United States. Japan is pouring its people into these islands, establishing enterprises and developing their resources. Permanent occupation apparently is the Japanese intention.

Japan, having won Russia to its side, is bent upon winning Great Britain to acquiescence in its dream of Pacific empire.

RED CROSS FUND

Contributions of $230,000 Received for Relief Work to Date.

The Red Cross fund was increased by over $3,000 yesterday, making a total of $233,000 in round figures. A number of groups which have not yet reported were checked up yesterday and the $17,000 which is needed to complete the fund will, in the judgment of the citizens' finance committee, likely be subscribed in a few days.

Those who have made pledges are urged to send in their checks to Orson Smith, treasurer, at 112 West Adams street. Of the total pledges of $233,000, Mr. Smith has received in checks to date $100,000. The committee's efforts are now being devoted to securing the actual money.

The executive committee of the Chicago chapter has made a tentative appropriation for aid to dependent families. The expenditures in this department since the 1st of July have totaled about $8,000, entirely for relief grants to the families. These have been payments on an emergency basis of from $5 to $50. A system of semi-monthly grants will be installed next Saturday. Payments will be regularly made on the 1st and 15th.

The new contributions reported yesterday are:

$1,000.

AID FOR MEN WHO SERVE.

Pennsylvania Railroad Sets Aside Fund of $100,000 for Families of Soldier Workers.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 12.—The directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad company today set aside $100,000 to be used for the relief of the families or other dependents of employés who have enlisted in the army or navy through the national guard or otherwise, who have been called into active service.

AMERICANS KILLED THIRTY MEXICANS AT CARRIZAL.

Wounded Forty-three, Says Carranza Official Report—Eleven of the Dead Officers.

El Paso, Tex., July 12.—[Special.]—The handful of American troops that fought overwhelming numbers of Carrancistas at Carrizal made the Mexican force pay dearly for the American dead and wounded, according to the official Carranza military report of the battle just published in the de facto government organ, El Pueblo.

During the fight American bullets carried death to thirty Mexican soldiers, of whom eleven were officers, and inflicted wounds on forty-three others, of whom nine were officers. This places the total Mexican losses at seventy-three dead and wounded.

ONLY "RED HEAD" BRIGADE IN NATION BEING FORMED.

Pennsylvanians Will Allow No One with Hair Other than Fiery Hued to Volunteer.

Brownsville, Pa., July 12.—[Special.]—H. H. Baer of Brownsville and C. D. Harader of Uniontown are planning the organization of the only "red headed" volunteer brigade in the country.

To qualify for the brigade, either as an officer or enlisted man, one must be possessed of fiery red hair.

Red headed nurses for the Red Cross contingent and red headed musicians for the band will complete the red headed brigade.

CARRANZA FORCE FIGHTING VILLA MEN BELOW PARRAL.

Long Contest Said to Be in Progress in Reports Received by Loyal General.

Chihuahua City, Mexico, July 12.—Heavy fighting is proceeding between de facto government troops under Gen. Ernesto Garcia and a large force of Villistas at Cerro Blanco, below Parral, according to dispatches received today by Gen. Jacinto Trevino.

NAVY MEN GO TOMORROW.

State Reserves Will Embark on the Battleship Alabama for Cruise.

Three hundred and fifty members of the Illinois naval reserve under the leadership of Commander William N. McMunn will leave Chicago tomorrow morning at 8:30 for the Philadelphia navy yards, there to embark on the U. S. S. Alabama for a two weeks cruise along the Maine coast. The naval "militia" during the voyage will receive practical instruction on the life of a bluejacket on a battleship. This will be the first time that any naval reserve has been given training on a battleship, and is a forerunner of the navy department's preparedness program.

SOLVED, WATSON

Here's the Meaning of Those Cabalistic Letters "N. F. P." in Jacob Loeb's Office.

ALD. ROBERT M. BUCK attempted yesterday to solve the "mystery of N. F. P." Those mysterious letters hang in the office of Jacob M. Loeb, president of the board of education—the letters that every visitor to his office cannot help but see upon entering.

No member of the board who was placed on the stand in the council's inquiry into the school situation was able to give Ald. Buck any vital assistance in solving the mystery. The four of them said they had not been taken into the confidence of Mr. Loeb to that extent.

Dr. Otto F. Warning was the first trustee questioned about the mysterious message. He told Ald. Buck the size of the sign and the separate letters and its position in the room upon entering. But so far as its meaning went, he said, he was unable to hazard a guess.

Harris W. Huehl went a little farther. He said he did not know what it meant, but had heard it translated as "Nice, friendly president." Max Loeb said he, too, was ignorant of the meaning of the mysterious sign of his namesake. But he said it was his sincere belief that the sign meant "No federationist permitted."

Mrs. John MacMahon, the last to testify, pleaded ignorance of the secret sign. The hearing adjourned without the information coming out.

Several reporters present could have informed the aldermen. But they saw no reason to spoil a good mystery story. It's out, now, though. It means "not for publication." It is addressed to "eavesdropping reporters," as Dr. Otto F. Warning termed them in his testimony. It is an injunction to keep inviolate the secrets of the president's informal conversation.

COUNCIL DENIED SCHOOL DATA BY BOARD, 11 TO 6

Max Loeb's Motion to Give Information to Aldermen Derided and Tabled.

Information sought by the city council in conducting its investigation into school affairs was denied yesterday by the board of education. The trustees voted by the decisive count of 11 to 6 against giving the aldermen the information they sought.

Another opportunity to get the facts desired may be offered at the next meeting of the board on Wednesday. Angus Roy Shannon, attorney for the board, urged the trustees to postpone action until the request of the council could be investigated and he could present a legal opinion of the situation.

Max Loeb, who made the motion to offer any information desired, insisted the matter be settled at once, however, and refused to withdraw his motion. Then John W. Eckhart moved to lay Mr. Loeb's motion on the table, and that motion was carried by the 11 to 6 vote.

Holpuch vs. Max Laeb.

Some amusement was caused to trustees and spectators by a verbal combat between Max Loeb and Joseph A. Holpuch. Mr Holpuch sought to make Mr. Loeb's motion to grant the information appear ridiculous, and Mr. Loeb tried to make the board take the matter seriously.

Except for Max Loeb, the request of the council would not have been acted on. It was received by the secretary's office Tuesday evening, and was not included in the communications read. Mr. Loeb asked that it be presented and brought forth his own copy.

"I move," said Mr. Loeb, "that all the information the council or any other body desires be given."

"What does he mean by 'any other body'?" asked Mr. Holpuch.

"I mean any public body or city official."

"I amend," said Mr. Holpuch, "to include the county, state, and United States government."

"I accept the amendment," said Mr. Loeb.

Any Foreign Country.

"And if he wants," went on Mr. Holpuch, "he may include any foreign country and the submarine that came to Baltimore."

"On further consideration," said Mr. Loeb, "I decline to accept the amendment."

"Let the records show," said President Loeb, "that Mr. Loeb accepted the amendment once and now rejects it."

"He is absolutely ignoring the United States government," said Mr. Holpuch, "and other countries."

"Mr. Holpuch is trying to make my motion ridiculous," said Mr. Loeb. "It is a serious matter. I move that the city council be given any information it desires. It is presumed, of course, that they will not ask for information that is improper."

Here Is Vote.

Action was postponed for a while until Attorney Shannon arrived. He urged the board to wait, but Max Loeb refused, and Mr. Eckhart made his motion to table. The vote was as follows:

AYES.

Lipskyy, Holpuch, Young,
Warning, Sethness, Piggott,
Vosbrink, Kreutgen, J. M. Loeb.
Eckhart, Thornton,

NOES.

MacMahon, Gallagher, Ffrench,
Collins, Max Loeb, Huehl.

Four trustees who testified at the hearing of the committee on schools of the city council, which is investigating the present school situation, stated they considered themselves and the members of the board generally to be unfitted to say who should or should not be dropped or retained on the list of teachers.

All those on the stand testified that they had no information as to what teachers were on the list of those dropped until the list was presented at the board meeting by Mr. Holpuch.

"Do you consider yourself capable of saying who should or who should not be a teacher?" asked Ald. Robert M. Buck of Trustee Huehl.

"No, I do not," replied Mr. Huehl.

"You did not consider the action of the president in dropping sixty-eight teachers a fair application of Loeb rule No. 2?"

"My vote shows how I felt on that question," said Mr. Huehl. "I was unable to get the information I needed to vote intelligently. I had no information regarding the charges of inefficiency, mental derangement, and insubordination."

Mrs. John MacMahon was asked also on the question of the selection of teachers.

"Do you consider board members competent to pass on the selection of 8,000 teachers?" inquired Ald. Buck.

"Absolutely not," was Mrs. MacMahon's reply. She said she had repeatedly asked President Loeb for information regarding the list of teachers that it was proposed not to reëlect, and that she was unable to get it until the list was presented and voted on at a board meeting.

Religious Issue Lags.

At the council hearing, the religious question did not play as important a part as it did at the previous session. The trustees were asked their religious affiliations. Dr. Warning said he had none, but when questioned further by Ald. Buck he said his son went to a Methodist Episcopal Sunday school. Mr. Huehl said he believed in the Christian religion and was neither a Catholic or a Christian Scientist. Max Loeb said he was a Jew, and Mrs. MacMahon recorded her affiliation with the Roman Catholic church.

The name of William Rothmann, former trustee, was mentioned as a possible leader of the "invisible government" claimed to be responsible for some of the acts of the board. Ald. Buck read a clipping from an afternoon newspaper in which Dr. Warning was quoted as saying Mr. Rothmann was the "invisible government" responsible for the rule by which the sixty-eight teachers were dropped.

Dr. Warning and the Reporter.

"Did you make that statement?" asked Ald. Buck.

"I don't remember," replied Dr. Warning. "I think I was misquoted."

"Is that your opinion?" inquired the alderman.

"No. As I remember it, I was having an informal talk with some one at the Auditorium theater massmeeting, and Mr. Rothmann's name was mentioned. In the balcony just over us there was what I call an eavesdropping reporter. After the conversation he came down and asked me if Mr. Rothmann was behind the rule, and I said 'no.'"

"Are you informed as to the influence Mr. Rothmann has over the president of the board or any member?" asked Ald. Buck.

"No," said Dr. Warning.

Mr. Huehl went on the stand next.

"Did Mr. Loeb intimate," asked Ald. Buck, "that he had submitted his list of sixty-eight teachers to the superintendent?"

"I believe he said he had submitted them to the superintendent," said Mr. Huehl, "and he, or some one, said Mr. Shoop didn't want to have anything to do with it."

Buck and Miller Clash.

"Did you discharge any teacher because of her religious affiliation?" asked Ald. Miller.

"No," said Mr. Huehl.

"It is stated you did in the resolution of Ald. Buck," replied Ald. Miller.

"That," returned Ald. Buck, "is another false statement accredited to Ald. Miller. As a matter of personal privilege I ask that the records so state."

"Get a pair of boxing gloves and go to it," remarked Ald. De Priest.

Max Loeb said that his idea of the controversy on the board is that President Loeb and his faction believe that a teacher ought to confine her activities to the schoolroom, whereas he and the others with him believe her affiliations and activities outside the classroom are not inimical to her work in the classroom.

"You think, then," asked Ald. Buck, "that it is merely an essential lack of the sense of democracy on the part of Mr. Loeb?"

"I call it an eighteenth century social conscience," replied Mr. Loeb.

"Do you think a teacher should be permitted to criticize the members of the board?" Ald. Buck asked.

"Yes," replied Mr. Loeb, "but I think that criticism should not go beyond the limits of good taste."

Want Office Building.

The lease committee of the board of education offered a recommendation to the board, asking for the erection of an administration building for the offices of the board. The matter was deferred for a week. The cost of the building is not to exceed $500,000, according to the report, and should contain not less than 80,000 square feet.

DENY MUNITIONS NOW ARE GOING INTO MEXICO

Administration Officials Keep Angry Silence on Senator Borah's Charges.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—Administration officials as a whole maintained an angry silence today on Senator Borah's charge that American ammunition, American guns, and American machinery for the manufacture of ammunition and guns had been shipped into Mexico with the cognizance and consent of President Wilson since the battle at Parral in April.

Several higher officers of the administration admitted there undoubtedly had been shipments before the president and Secretary Lansing became finally convinced of Carranza's unfriendly attitude.

"But," said one of them, "Senator Borah and no other man can truthfully charge that munitions are going into Mexico now."

Evades Embargo Plea.

It became known today that the president brought extreme pressure to bear on several Texas congressmen not long ago to prevent them from introducing resolutions demanding that he place an embargo on the shipment of munitions to Mexico.

Speaker Clark talked to the congressmen in behalf of the president, assured them the traffic had been stopped, and that he had the administration's promise it would continue closed. The resolutions were not introduced, and one of the Democrats said today he felt sure that right at this time no munitions are going across the line except those which are smuggled across.

Resume Negotiations.

The negotiations between Carranza and the administration for the settling of their dispute will be resumed this week when Eliseo Arrendondo, the Mexican ambassador designate, will submit proposals to Acting Secretary of State Polk.

Whatever Mr. Arrendondo may suggest to begin with, it is known he will eventually insist upon the reopening of the munitions traffic. Persons familiar with the Mexican situation today insisted it would be nothing short of criminal for this goverument to permit Carranza to get any more guns and ammunition.

Mr. Arredondo said that details of the negotiations have not yet been discussed, but that he expected to make an announcement in a few days. Henry P. Fletcher, the American ambassador designate to Mexico, was present at the conference.

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS and COUNT ZEPPELIN WERE MY SILENT PARTNERS IN THE CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG
FILM CORPORATION
At first thought you say—"That's Impossible."
But that has been the world's first thought on every extraordinary stunt, including the discovery of America and the conquest of the air.
Things that everybody believes possible aren't worth doing.
The CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG FILM CORPORATION was considered "impossible."
And now, it is already the greatest success in the game, backed by five-year contracts with the most substantial theatre and exchange interests in the United States.
It's an all-around square deal—that's why it won out—Everybody from the star to the public gets the best of it.
BUT BEST OF ALL IT SOUNDS THE DEATH KNELL OF THE PROGRAM SYSTEM.
Do you know what that means to you, Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Movie Fan?
It means the end of a system that forces you to see five bad pictures to one good one.
At present the stars you admire most are used to club the exhibitor into line.
In order to get the pictures of your favorite star your theatre manager has to contract for all the other pictures produced by that star's company. The company makes the exhibitor take any sort of cheap, worthless features along with the one big picture turned out every five or six weeks.
That's what the PROGRAM SYSTEM has done to you!
This is what the CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG FILM CORPORATION has done to the PROGRAM SYSTEM:
It has pointed the way to OPEN BOOKING.
Beginning with the six-reel production of ROBERT W. CHAMBERS' epochal novel, "THE COMMON LAW," in October, and followed by "THE FOOLISH VIRGIN," from the pen of THOMAS DIXON, author of "THE BIRTH OF A NATION," all of MISS CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG'S pictures will be produced under the direction of that master of screencraft, ALBERT CAPELLANI, and distributed without connection with any program of any sort.
In addition I shall present other prominent stars on the same plan.
The other producers will have to adopt my theories or go to the wall.
Soon you will be able to see all your favorite stars under an OPEN DOOR policy that will send much of the present day film trash to the ash-barrel and put the motion picture on a plane with its allied arts—drama and music.

GROSS BLUNDERS OF ARMY OF 1898 TO BE REPEATED?

Many of First Cavalry Roast in Woolen Uniforms — Few Have Service Shoes.

Brownsville, Tex., July 12.—[Special.]—Is the present mobilization of state soldiers along the Mexican border to result in a repetition of the inefficiency and stupidity of 1898? For more than a week the First Illinois cavalry has been encamped near Brownsville. These men came here clad in heavy woolen shirts and breeches, came down to the sweltering, sun baked, half desert in clothing that would keep an Eskimo warm, because their government had failed to supply them at Springfield with uniforms designed for wear in a hot climate.

And also, for the same reason, they came—every man jack of 'em ready to sacrifice his life for his country if need be —with many of their number lacking the regulation army shoes, socks, underwear, and raincoats, and fewer than a hundred horses for the entire regiment of 1,290 cavalrymen.

Fighters Without Arms.

One troop—the machine gun boys—arrived with no guns, ammunition, or rifles, and it was due only to the patriotism of a number of Chicago citizens, who subscribed and paid for five rapid firers of the latest type, that the troop got its guns the latter part of last week.

Its rifles were supplied by the government only yesterday. On the day of the arrival of the cavalrymen it rained—the first rain experienced in this part of the country for months. Since then there have been heavy showers almost every day, culminating in a nine hour downpour, starting early this morning and lasting until noon.

Today a representative of THE TRIBUNE visited the cavalry camp among the cactus and mesquite west of Brownsville. He found it a mass of mud and water. In the German army, so the news dispatches tell us, it is ordered that in inclement weather all soldiers except those actually on the firing line shall remain indoors, so that their best interests as to health and comfort shall be safeguarded.

Wade About in Muck.

But the men of the First Illinois cavalry did not remain under shelter. Instead, they sloshed, splashed, and waded about in the muck under foot, digging ditches around their tents to keep the water out, a measure necessary because the government had failed to provide sufficient lumber with which to make flooring for the tents.

Many of the cavalrymen, and some of them without raincoats, because they had none, there being but three provided for squads of eight men in some cases, did their wading in the shoes they wore at Springfield, and which by this time are in a sad plight indeed.

Wearing Woolen Uniforms.

Others still wore their woolen breeches and shirts, and a number of the First Illinois lads have only one uniform of these because up to today Washington had failed to supply a sufficient number of khaki uniforms to go round. In numerous cases the cavalry lads—and a vast number of them are youths who helped to support families back in Chicago and who gave up good positions to become soldiers at $15 a month when the call to the colors came—purchased shirts of a lighter material because they did not care to stand the discomfort of the woolen shirts any longer.

Inquiry among the troopers brought reports that some of their number had been taken ill, several of them of dengue fever, a disease which is prevalent in tropical and semi-tropical climates during rainy seasons, and which, though not regarded as serious, causes great discomfort while it lasts. Denial that there were any cases of this disease was made at hospital headquarters, but it was ascertained that a number of the troopers were ill as the result of being vaccinated for the first time.

Expert Fever Outbreak.

This was declared to be the natural result of a first vaccination, and the hospital corps, one of the most efficient in any army organization in the United States, was said to have the situation well in hand. Dengue is expected to make its visit in the camp in a day or two, however, as there is a wide outbreak of the disease in Brownsville.

One trooper was not slow to give his and his fellows' views of the present situation.

"I quit a good job to come down here and scrap for Uncle Sam, leaving a wife and mother back in Chicago," he said. "I did it because I expected to serve my country in Mexico, but now that it is apparent there is to be no war in Mexico, what is the government at Washington going to do with us?"

Loyal to Col. Foreman.

"I don't believe there is a man in the First Illinois cavalry who wouldn't follow Col. Foreman and our other officers to hell and back. We know that the First Illinois possesses as competent a lot of officers as are to be found in a regiment in the United States. But they're not responsible for the present situation.

"I don't mind drilling all day, and I'm willing and anxious to spend whole days and nights at skirmish work among the scorpions and tarantulas, and without food and water. Even the digging of latrines resolves itself into fun, as it's all a part of a soldier's work.

Does Government Care?

"But I don't care for the job if the government doesn't care enough about it to see that I'm equipped as a soldier, and if it's just a case of affecting public opinion with an eye on the election next November. If the government doesn't intend to do something about it I want to go back to my job and my family, for both need me more than my country does at present.

"Scarcely a day passes here that several shots are not fired across the border by Mexican snipers, according to reports which are brought to Brownsville."

Lightning Hits Picnic Party.

Trenton, N. J., July 12.—During an electrical storm this afternoon lightning struck a group of picnickers a few miles outside of Morrisville, Pa., killing Mrs. Abe Cooperman of Trenton and injuring nine others.

SAN ANTONIO TROOP NOTES

San Antonio, Tex., July 12.—[Special.]—Three cases of mumps in the First Illinois regiment developed today and were sent to the base hospital. Maj. George C. Amerson, chief of the First regiment medical corps, said there was no danger of an epidemic. All three cases are double mumps. The patients begged to have their names wiehheld. They are soldiers, you know.

◆

Capt. Melville of the First regiment machine gun company received word from Col. Tripp at Springfield, Ill., that four Maxim machine guns were en route to Camp Wilson for the outfit. When the announcement was made to the machine gun company at assembly they broke discipline and pitched hats and pistols into the air.

◆

Gen. Funston's automobile, carrying the general and several women, narrowly escaped a smash with a big army truck on the road to Camp Wilson. Rain had put a lot of slippery gumbo mud on the road, and the truck, running rapidly toward Gen. Funston's car, failed to clinch and was skidding down on the touring car. The chauffeur shot the machine into the ditch to avoid a collision.

◆

A big prize fight between Danny Goodman of the First regiment machine gun company and Tommy Gary has been arranged for July 25. A special club, the Metropolitan Athletic association, was formed to furnish the necessary auspices, and the mayor and city commissioners of San Antonio are the first signers of the charter.

◆

Lieut. R. Davies of the Second field hospital corps is going about his duties with two broken ribs. He just discovered today they were broken.

"I got a wallop while we were entraining for Springfield," he said, "and I suspected some ribs caved, but I didn't get time until today to have an examination."

◆

Thirty-one members of the Illinois militia are confined to the base hospital. The illness ranges from pneumonia to mumps. Five cases of pneumonia have developed today, due principally, the medical staff declares, to failure of the men to cover themselves properly during the cool nights, after their exertions during the day.

ADMITS, NOW, HE RAISED HIS BOY TO BE A SOLDIER.

Alfred Bryan, Who Wrote Song Saying He Didn't, Has "Changed His Tune."

Los Angeles, Cal., July 12.—[Special.]—"My son has my permission and blessing to go and fight Mexico if Mexicans menace my fellow citizens on the boarder.

"And whenever America is invaded or threatened with invasion by a foreign power likewise I want to see him shouldering a gun in her defense."

Thus today spoke Alfred Bryan, the man Col. Roosevelt and lesser American militarists called something worse than a mollycoddle because he wrote that popular song entitled "I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier."

COMING VISIT OF GEN. BLISS STIRS OFFICERS

San Antonio Believes Army Staff Expert May Command All Border Troops.

BY SIDNEY WILLIS.

San Antonio, Tex., July 12.—[Special.]—Army officers here are speculating on the purpose of Maj. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss' expected visit and characteristically are seeking a deeper motive masked behind the official announcement that he will merely inspect the militia on the border.

Conjectures offered to the gossip symposium are that Gen. Bliss is coming to organize the troops into tactical units. In case of war he is to take supreme command and release Gen. Funston for active field leadership.

Gen. Bliss is expected to arrive tomorrow. Whether he will remain here after his conference with Gen. Funston officers at headquarters profess not to know. If an inspection tour is all his plans contemplate, he probably will go without delay to the border, where most of the militia is stationed.

Busy Grooming Camp.

With him at the threshold, Camp Wilson today feverishly groomed itself. The maneuver grounds, which a few days ago were covered with mesquite, white thorn, and scrub, have been barbered and oiled until they are as slick as the chin of a cub lieutenant.

An ingenious system of surface ditches adapted to the pitch of the land is smoothly ushering the daily afternoon rain down into the ravines at either side of the camp.

Kitchens, equipment, hospital, and commissary are at attention, sir; painfully immaculate. It is scarcely fair to hint that all of this primping is for Gen. Bliss' benefit alone. Several days ago Gen. Funston, observing that the militiamen were shinning up to the panoply of war to the neglect of such essentials as sanitation, ordered the suspension of all other activities until the camp was trimmed and laundered.

Hikes were cut out, for the most part; drills were shortened, and the energy which was being employed to beat parade grounds and roads with 9,000 pairs of army boots has made Camp Wilson clean and sanitary.

Must Prove Dependency.

Secretary of War Baker's order concerning the discharge of men with dependents at home got its first definite status today when Gen. Funston announced no application for release would be considered unless accompanied by convincing proof that the alleged dependents are so in fact.

"None of the men enlisted after President Wilson's call for the militia will be considered eligible to the benefits of this rule," said Gen. Funston. "They came in with full knowledge of what they were going into. There may be excuse for others who enlisted before the call, but there is none for the men who came in afterward."

The troops in the movement to the Big Bend country will not include any Illinois units for the time being, although Gen. Funston repeated today that there is still a possibility they will be ordered thither.

Start Hard Drilling.

With the completion of the work of cleaning camp the militia men have entered upon hard work. Every morning after setting up exercises there will be several hours' drilling, followed by practice marches.

Commanding officers are laying stress on the care of feet, and feet inspection still remains one of the most amusing sights of the camp. It follows every hike. The men strip shoes and stockings and, seated on the ground, present their pedals for examination by the company officers.

Men Get Good Rations.

Reports of complaint about the rations served the men are not well founded, it is believed. There are some grumblers, but they are only occasional. Within the last week I have tested the company's mess of twelve outfits and I like their food.

Real Letters from Real Soldiers

Following is a copy of a letter written from San Antonio by Private John R. Livingston, who enlisted in company L, First Illinois infantry, the day after the regiment was ordered into service. His enlistment was the call of the blood. A great-grandfather served as a lieutenant in the navy during the war of 1812, a grandfather fought in the Mexican war of 1848, while his father and an uncle each served four years during the civil war. The letter was written to loving and well meaning home folks, who do not realize that every article of luxury—or even necessity—that they forward to their soldier son means just that much more pain and discomfort to him on the march, for everything a soldier has in the way of belongings he has to carry on his back. He is the khaki covered pack mule of the army.

Here is the letter:

Dear Parents: I know you love me and have nothing but my best interests at heart. That is the reason I am writing you this letter, which I am trying to temper so you will not misunderstand and think that I do not appreciate your many acts of thoughtfulness for my welfare since I joined the army.

Nearly every mail now has brought some evidence of your love for me—woolen bands to wear around my stomach if we get into Mexico, goggles for protection against the sun, face and bath towels, cold cream, a sewing outfit, writing material, bandanas to wear around my neck, a wrist watch, bottles of Jamaica ginger for cramps, and bottles of iodine and soda mints.

Some of these articles are not provided by our thoughtful Uncle Sam, especially to "rookies" like myself, because we get, generally speaking, what is left after the older members of the company have been fully outfitted. For this reason, if no other, the next time I go to war I am going to at least be a corporal first. I did not realize before that being a noncommissioned officer carries so many privileges that the private misses.

For instance, in doling out supplies the corporals and sergeants, etc., can turn in their old equipment and get nice, new, shining guns, bayonets, and haversacks, while the "rookies" are in luck to get these discarded articles. War is a great game—and I am learning fast.

◆

Most of the essentials necessary to the health and comfort of the soldier are provided by our paternal government. This is done in just the quantity and compact form which years of experience on the part of the regular army have proved best adapted for use, and to the carrying ability of the foot soldier, or "doughboy."

That is why I am writing you along this line, because every additional article you send spells just that much more work for me—and possibly a few more blisters on my feet.

There is another reason. The soldier's pillow on his cot is made up of his uniforms, towels, underwear, his shelter half rolled, and such personal belongings as he may have. The regulations require this, in a way, because no equipment or necessities are allowed to be stored on the floor. You have sent me so many articles my pillow is now too high. I cannot sleep with comfort, as a consequence, and what to do with the surplus is a problem. Your loving son. JOHN.

FURNISHING WAR MATERIAL TO MEXICO.

If President Wilson's Mexican policy be correct in principle and of sound expediency, then it is right that the de facto government of Mexico should receive money and arms, supplies of all kinds, from the United States.

Mexico will be saved either by the intervention of the United States or by developing a control of its own. Mr. Wilson says as often as he has opportunity that there shall be no straightening out of Mexican affairs by American force. He also says that a lot of people are trying to butt in with counsels of folly, and that a lot of selfish investors want to have diplomacy adjusted to the necessities of their investments.

If we are not to intervene we must strengthen the forces which make for good in Mexico. Carranza is the recognized force which makes for good. Therefore, we must strengthen him. We must permit him to get military supplies. He cannot put down disorder and reduce violence unless he has cartridges for his soldiers' rifles and shells for the field artillery. He needs supplies and he needs money. If he is the recognized salvation of Mexico his hands must be made strong.

Now if we accept the policy of President Wilson, how can we oppose the measures necessary for its execution? THE TRIBUNE does not accept it and, therefore, need not accept its consequences, but it is ridiculous for any one who does accept it to protest against the shipment of American made goods, military or otherwise, into Mexico.

The fact that thus the nation arms its possible enemy is of no import. It is one of the necessary hazards of Mr. Wilson's policy, which itself is almost if not completely within the control of Mr. Carranza's intent.

If Carranza decides to use the American made munitions of war against American soldiers Americans will be killed by the weapons Americans have furnished. There is no need of protesting against the consequence of a policy and ignoring the policy. The United States cannot starve Mexico and ask Mexico to be strong. If it is to be strong the United States must help it, accepting the chance that it will prove to be merely rascally.

There is one difficult but wholly consistent way in which to apply the doctrine that Mexicans shall do what they wish in their own land. It is to draw every American and every American dollar out of Mexico and every foreigner and every foreign dollar out of Mexico, to surround the land with a wall, as against a plague, and allow the Mexicans to suffer and succeed or suffer and die, according to their ability and inclination.

That would be a practical application of President Wilson's idea of humanity, and it would be as little hurtful as possible to other people. Later we might look over the wall and find a desert filled with corpses or we might find a flourishing republic. But in that way and only in that way can the right of self-government, which Mr. Wilson says must apply to the Mexicans, really and honestly be applied to them.

We doubt its humanity, but it at least would be consistent and logical. We do not see how the thing can be worked one way at one end and another way at the other. If the policy of helping Mexico through a difficult struggle is right, then the policy of supplying arms cannot be wrong. We know that the policy of supplying arms which may be used against Americans is wrong. Then what shall be said of the policy which requires that they be furnished?

NEW REVENUE MEASURES.

At the head of the report on the revenue bill Chairman Kitchin, the Democratic house leader, placed the following piece of campaign bunk:

"The necessity for this legislation grows out of the extraordinary increase in the appropriations for the army and navy and the fortifications of our country."

Kitchin, the enemy of better defense, the friend of pork, would like to have the country fix its eyes on the expenditure for the former and turn its back on the latter. He names the extraordinary appropriations on defense. He does not remind us of the $50,000,000 rivers and harbors pork barrel bill, estimated as at least half waste; the $50,000,000 flood control private land reclamation measure, the $85,000,000 "good roads" measure, to say nothing of the $50,000,000 ship purchase bill, and the public building bill still pending.

It is true that there have been large increases in the army and navy appropriations. They are larger than they need have been if the Democratic house organization, with Kitchin, Clark, and Hay in the lead, had not obstructed defense legislation with the tacit acquiescence of the president. But whatever they are, the majority of Americans do not begrudge them because they are necessary. The American does resent, we trust, the scramble for pork and the refusal of congress to balance the defense increases by cutting out the pork barrel graft.

The new levies proposed are, in THE TRIBUNE'S opinion, in principle sound, in application defective. There is a large increase of the surtax on incomes, but the graduation is not radical as we believe it ought to be. The scale has been lengthened at one end. That is, the tax begins as before with incomes of $3,000 and $4,000, and the highest rate begins with incomes over $500,000, which are taxed 10 per cent.

The justification for omitting taxation of incomes under $3,000 or $4,000 is that our indirect taxation falls disproportionately upon people of smaller means. As it is the purpose of the Democrats to reduce the tariff progressively, it would be consistent at the same time, from this point of view, to bring smaller incomes within the scope of direct taxation. Certainly it is desirable that exemptions should be few and that every citizen should be reminded that the nation has claims upon him as well as upon his fellows. It is right that wealth should bear a greater share of the burdens of government, and THE TRIBUNE believes in a rapidly graduated tax which shall reach higher than the present proposed scale. On the other hand, there is much to be said for at least a nominal tax on small incomes for the sake of its moral effect as a symbol of citizen responsibility.

The inheritance tax provision in the revenue measure levies a tax of from 1 per cent of the amount of the net estate over $50,000 and under $100,000, up to 5 per cent of the amount the net estate exceeds $450,000. Objection to this scale is the same as against the income surtax scale, but stronger. The tax touches the enormous aggregations of wealth less heavily than the middle fortunes, and it falls far short of the drastic treatment which would bring about salutary social results.

In short, these Democratic laws are not courageously democratic.

The munitions manufactures' tax is of more doubtful justice than it would have seemed a year ago, when the air was full of rumors of enormous profits. Since then it has been realized that increase of wages and the cost of altering and expanding plants and buying new machinery have cut expected profits considerably, and the senate should consider carefully the effect of such a tax upon an abnormal industrial development whose too rapid recession might bring about unfortunate financial consequences.

The measure provides for a tariff commission and includes an anti-dumping clause which will be discussed further. They offer a pretty poor assurance to American business approaching an international commercial struggle for which both the entente and central powers are already making every possible preparation.

MERCHANT SUBMARINE.

A Washington statement says that if the German merchant submarine, held to be a peaceable boat, wanted to carry passengers out of an American port it would not be allowed to do so. No American would be given a passport if he wanted to go to a German port in this submarine.

An American citizen might have a perfectly valid reason for wanting to be taken to Germany without running the risk of British interference. It might be an entirely sound business reason. He might desire that his person and his papers be not subjected to British visit and search. He might not be a conspirator against such peace as still remains in the world. He might not be aiding Germany or hurting Great Britain, and yet he might desire above all things to have that privacy which a submarine alone at the present time can offer him.

He might, for his own proper commercial reasons, want to go to Germany direct and not have his pockets turned inside out some place on the way over. The German merchant submarine is a peaceable boat, so determined in character by our own government. It does the unconventional by going under the water when it wants to avoid capture, but that is not immoral, and it does not seem to be dangerous.

Our government has said that peaceable shipping shall and will be protected by the might of this nation, and it has made Germany agree to its demands. If a boat is not a fighting boat passengers who choose to travel upon it must be protected. The fact that a peaceable boat carried supplies for fighting men was of no consequence.

Here is a German boat which offends the conventional by going under the water when it has to consult its safety. Because it can go under the water the British have decided that it cannot be accorded the privileges given to other boats. It must be sunk on sight. It cannot be accepted as a possibly peaceable boat because there is no way of telling whether it is or not, and if it were ordered to stop for visit and search its response might be either a torpedo or a disappearance.

It might either shoot or duck. In one case it, proving to be a war boat, might destroy its challenger, or in the other case, proving to be a merchant vessel, would escape. Therefore there can be no distinction made between warships and peaceable ships if these ships are so constructed that they can hide themselves by submerging. Thus a mechanical matter of ballast, levers, and compressed air makes a moral revolution in sea law. What can be done above the water cannot be done underneath it.

Consequently our government, not desiring to be mixed up in an encounter of mechanics and morality, decides that the shortest cut out of trouble is to keep American citizens off vessels which seem to have no recognized moral standing, although not committing any recognized moral fault.

If Great Britain should sink a perfectly innocent German merchant submarine carrying a few American passengers and should do so without giving the perfectly innocent German submarine and the innocent American passengers a chance to escape there might be difficulties.

The reader may write his own editorial on this to suit himself. There seems to be occasion when a wholly practical and pragmatic view of a question will establish itself. In this case it seems to be important that a peaceable merchant ship should stay on top of the water. If it is so constructed as to be able to get under the water it loses character and morality and becomes an unfit thing not to be considered in the policies of a great nation.

We are not complaining about this, merely noting it that the reader who cares to address a few moments of thought to the question may be led to consider what a great moral distinction may be achieved by a few articles of machinery.

THE REPUBLICAN SLATE.

The slate adopted by the Republican county convention for the indorsement of Republican voters in the primaries looks as if a wet sponge would do it more good than anything else. We do not know why the Deneen Republicans bolted the convention. Probably they could not have things their own way and refused to have them any other person's way. But if they bolted holding their noses no one could blame them.

There are a few good candidates on the officially indorsed Republican ticket. The emphasis goes on the few. At this moment the best advice that could be given a Republican voter would be to dip a sponge in a disinfectant and rub it over that slate.

A STOCKING FULL.

[From the Christian Science Monitor.]

If gold makes wealth, and if official estimates about the relative distribution of it are correct, New York at present is the richest city in the world. Furthermore, owing to the large storage of gold generally in the United States, the sum being reported at $2,000,000,000, the possibility of financial panic and of dislodged credit, even with the influence of the federal reserve laws counted out, ought technically to be the remotest it has ever been since the union was founded. Theorists who have been wont to judge prosperity of nations by shifts of the world gold supply can now test their ideas. But if they are impressed by so full a stocking, matter of fact people may not be; for should so trifling an amount be borrowed from it as to cover next year's appropriations of congress, only two-fifths of the original hoard would remain.

In the Golden West, you simply have to "hike."

TO the man with a sense of abstract justice William Lorimer is a preposterous and irritating person; to the cynical philosopher he is a ridiculous and diverting figure, and the more he sobs the more diverting he becomes. The public, however, is not composed chiefly of cynical philosophers or persons with a sense of abstract justice, but of sentimentalists, brothers of Lorimer under the skin. Hence they fall for his sob stuff, just as they fall for the sob stuff in the Orpet trial.

...We have been hard at work in the garden—had to dig it ourselves, as our next winter's food supply depends upon it. We can't get any help at all this year. However, we do very well. We have all the eggs we can use and some to sell, and we still get skim milk, and farm butter at one-and-four [32 cents] a pound. Most people are using margarine...

As I sit here writing on the porch, I can hear the guns in France or Belgium. Perhaps "feel" is better than "hear"; it feels like some one walking overhead with a very heavy tread. This can be heard at intervals all day long, perhaps when the wind is in a certain quarter.

I think we're safe enough from Zeppelins here, but our own aeroplanes go over very often—big, powerful machines, sometimes a dozen or so a day. But for these things, we could almost forget the war—oh, yes, and the absence of traffic along the road. No more motors or motorcycles—only necessary carts and very few of these.

But the garden is sweet with honeysuckle, rocket, and peonies, with the nightingale by night and the cuckoo by day. He's just losing his voice and sounds as if he had a bad cold...

An Interesting Editorial Problem.

[From the New Republic.]

Mr. Munsey is assured of his place in The Sun if he acts upon this one of his beliefs: "The average man has half an hour or less to devote to his morning paper, and it is a mistake to give him twelve hours of reading." At present the average man often gets this from his morning paper: First a layer of headlines, which tell him something about the news below; then a layer of summary, devoted partly to repeating the information given in the headlines and partly to telling more about the news below; then the story itself, which in exceptionally well edited papers starts at the beginning and goes straight to the end. The man who begins with the first word of the top headline and continues to the last word of the story reads several things three times and a few things twice. The editorial problem is not to get rid of the headlines, which most of us like, but to find a way of making the summary as distinct from the more detailed news story as the headlines now are from both. The headlines ought to let a reader know whether he wants the full story or the summary, and in a paper intelligently edited it would be possible to tell at a glance where the summary ends. The summary at the head of a long news story is at present the worst part of most good papers.

NOSE AND MOUTH WASHES IN INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

To correct an erroneous statement made by me, F. J. N. sends me the following formula for Seiler's tablets:

Each tablet contains 5 grains bicarbonate of soda, 5 grains borate of soda, 2-24ths grain benzoate of soda, 7-24ths grain salicylate of soda, 7-96ths minim oil of wintergreen, 5 grains sodium chloride, 7-48ths minim oil eucalyptus, 7-96ths grain menthol, 7-48ths grain thymol.

Dissolve one tablet in two ounces of water.

Another nose wash recommended is a 2 per cent solution of peroxide, and a third is a 1 per cent solution of menthol in oil.

BABY'S CLOTHES.

A MOTHER living in South Carolina writes us that one physician advises her to keep a knit belly band on her baby all summer. Another one tells her to let the baby go nearly naked during the hot weather. She wants to know which is right. We tell her the second—that in a hot climate, where the temperature is warm all of the time and hot some of the time, the baby should wear no clothes except a diaper and a cotton slip.

This bald statement is based upon the following considerations: Body heat is manufactured by food and work. Rubner increased the heat production of a dog 44 per cent by excessive feeding. Any amount of food which is proper in cold weather becomes excessive and produces too much heat in hot weather. Howland showed that a crying, kicking baby made considerably more heat than one asleep.

So much for the manufacture of heat. Babies will kick and squirm. They must eat in order to grow. Necessarily they must make an excessive amount of heat. How do they get rid of it? By radiation, conduction, and evaporation.

Clothing lessens radiation, conduction, and evaporation. The more of the clothing the more it is stopped. McClure and Sauer put some jackets on puppies and put them in incubators. They found it rather an easy matter to kill a puppy by overclothing him when the air was hot. Other puppies clothed and kept in a warm place got diarrhœa, even though they were fed good food.

In very hot weather getting rid of heat is a difficult matter. Rubner tells us that adults with proper food, health, and clothing are at a maximum of comfort when the temperature is anywhere between 61 and 77.

In the adult the clothing is quickly adjusted to the atmospheric temperature. McClure and Sauer have been investigating the clothing worn by infants. These show "surprisingly little difference between the weights of indoor clothing commonly worn by infants during the summer and winter."

Helmholtz found that great differences in the temperatures of rooms did not make as much difference in the health of babies as he had expected to find. McClure and Sauer say that the reason for Helmholtz's results is that the real determining factor is the clothes the baby wears rather than the temperature of the room. With very careful instruments they found the temperature of the clothes of a baby about 5 degrees lower than the skin over the bare chest of a baby. This means that the surface of the clothes will lose heat to the air much slower than the bare chest will.

A baby with clothing over his body begins to get fever, becomes restless, and develops diarrhœa—all evidence of heat shock when the temperature of the atmosphere of the room reaches 87.8 degrees. If the baby is naked these heat effects do not appear until the temperature of the room reaches 92.6. If the baby is sickly, frail, overfed, or exercising violently these heat effects appear at lower temperatures. But in any case a naked baby can stand an air temperature about 5 degrees higher than can one that is moderately clothed.

This is only a part of the known facts. There is plenty of scientific proof that babies do not thrive in hot weather when dressed heavily. A diaper and a cotton slip is the ideal for hot climates in the hot season. If the weather turns cool a heavier covering can and should be slipped on quickly, for babies do not resist cold well.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1916: By the Brentwood Company.]

EMPEROR WILLIAM has, according to the latest issue of the Military Official Gazette, published each week at Berlin, bestowed a commission of first lieutenant of the Sixth Lancer regiment upon Dom Miguel of Braganza, whose American wife, a daughter of W. Rhinelander Stewart, is now in her native land. This mark of favor on the part of the kaiser is all the more remarkable in view of the fact that Germany is at war with Portugal, to the once reigning family of which Dom Miguel belongs by birth.

Many years ago Dom Miguel held a commission in the Saxon cavalry of the guard, which he was obliged to surrender owing to financial troubles and to circumstances connected with the death of the favorite brother of the present king of Saxony, who was killed in a carriage accident. Dom Miguel was, however, permitted to rejoin the Saxon army, on the outbreak of the present war, when his commission was restored to him.

Last spring, however, when Germany and Austria both declared war upon Portugal, Dom Miguel considered it necessary, as a member of the Portuguese dynasty of Braganza, to publicly sever his connection with the German army, and resigned his commission, at the same time announcing that he was leaving Germany and Austria to take up his residence in Switzerland.

Simultaneously his father, the Duke of Braganza, resigned his commission as colonel of the Seventh regiment of Austrian hussars and withdrew from his chateau of Seebenstein, in lower Austria, to Zurich, where he was also joined by his younger son, Prince Francis Joseph, who threw up the commission of lieutenant in the Seventh regiment of Austrian hussars, of which he had been deprived some twelve years or so ago at the instance of the late Archduke Francis Ferdinand as the result of a very unpleasant scandal in London, but which had been restored to him at the beginning of the present war.

I do not learn that either the Duke of Braganza or his younger son, Prince Francis Joseph of Braganza, has had his rank in the Austrian army restored to him, nor that he has returned to Austria. They doubtless feel that in the event of any monarchical restoration in Portugal they would destroy all their chances of ascending the throne if it could be said that they had fought under the flag of an empire at war with Portugal.

But Dom Miguel, who is now in Germany, has nothing to lose in this connection. For when he married his rich American wife, in Scotland in 1909, he was compelled to renounce all his rights and prerogatives as a prince of the royal house of Braganza and any share in the claims of his father and younger brother to the throne of Portugal. On the occasion of his matrimonial alliance with Miss Anita Stewart being arranged he at first proposed that it should be a morganatic marriage, that is to say, a marriage in which his wife would have had no share in his honors or in the family estates, from all of which any children born to the union would likewise be debarred.

This Miss Stewart's mother (who now is known as Mrs. St. Cyr) would not hear of. In fact, Americans seem to entertain an invincible objection to morganatic marriages, which they appear to look upon in the light of something immoral. So there was nothing else left for Dom Miguel to do but to renounce all his royal status, rank, and honors; to descend to the rank of a mere noble—that is to say, of an ordinary citizen—and to wed his American wife on a footing of perfect equality. He cannot, therefore, be any longer considered as a full fledged prince of the blood, or even as a member of the house of Braganza, as he has renounced his prerogatives as such.

Harold Tennant, who has just been promoted from the undersecretaryship of state for war to the secretaryship for Scotland, which has the effect of landing him in the cabinet, with a stipend, thanks to the pooling of cabinet salaries, for the period of the war, amounting to over $20,000 a year, is perhaps the cleverest of the brothers of Mrs. Asquith, wife of the premier. The good things which have come to him in the way of office and emoluments, and which also have come to the other members of his family, give additional significance to their family motto of "God will fill the sails."

Harold Tennant has shown his shrewdness by refusing the offer of the peerage tendered to him. For, in the first place, he holds that to enter the house of lords is to diminish his prospects of ever attaining the goal of the ambition of every statesman and politician, namely, the premiership. And then, too, he realizes that his acceptance of the offer would have affected his popularity and would have excited much criticism, in view of the fact that his elder brother, Edward, has already received a peerage, as Lord Glenconner, on the nomination of their sister's husband, Prime Minister Asquith.

Harold Tennant may be said to have started on his official career as private secretary to his brother-in-law, the present premier, when the latter was at the head of the home department, near a quarter of a century ago, and has represented Berwickshire in the house of commons ever since 1894.

His wife also has a great reputation for cleverness. She was formerly Miss May Abrahams and at the time of her marriage a government inspector of factories. She is a great authority on woman's work, was appointed to the inspectorship in question by the government, with a special view to her supervision of women and girls in factories, and remains an active promoter of woman's position in the labor world.

Harold Tennant, Mrs. "Dodo" Asquith, and their elder brother, Lord Glenconner, are all children of that wonderful old patriarch, Sir Charles Tennant, the greatest manufacturer of chemicals in the United Kingdom, and who was nominated for a baronetcy by Gladstone, his most intimate friend, for his services to the Liberal cause.

Old Sir Charles was the grandson of a working weaver, of an inventive turn of mind, who discovered a valuable bleaching process and established chemical manufacturing works at St. Rollox, Glasgow, which in the hands of his son and grandson developed into one of the most profitable industrial enterprises of the United Kingdom. Sir Charles married for a second time when he was near 80 and became the father of another family of four little girls, between whose ages and those of his elder children nearly half a century existed.

The secretary for Scotland is not one of the secretaries of state, but is intrusted with the representation of the entire administration of Scotland in parliament. His offices are at Dover house, Whitehall, in London, and in Parliament square, at Edinburgh, and there is a permanent undersecretary, who is Sir James Dodds.

Apropos of the secretaries of state, but few were aware until the other day that a law enacted in the middle of the last century—in 1858—requires that one of them shall be a member of the house of lords. On the death of Lord Kitchener this requirement was no longer fulfilled, and it is owing to this that Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign affairs, has just been raised to the peerage as an earl.

WILL MAKE PROVISION FOR MACHINE OWNERS.

Chicago, July 7.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I rent a private garage at 4440 Sheridan road. About two weeks ago the alley was torn up and dug down about two feet for repaving. I was not notified in any way and have not been able to use my machine since. I have called up several city departments, but have got no satisfaction. If possible I would like your assistance in having the city or contractor build a runway at my garage, and also at the entrance to alley, so I can use it.

H. R. HANSON, 901 Wilson avenue.

The contractor who is paving the alley between Sunnyside avenue, Broadway, and Sheridan road will make provisions so that the owners of automobiles stored along the alley can remove the same from the garages. The contractor in this case is O. P. Chamberlin. If your correspondent will talk to the foreman in charge of the work, or to the city inspector, he can succeed in having automobiles removed.

THOMAS J. MCCLURE,
10630 Vincennes avenue.

Notices were served on the owner, agent, and tenant, to replace the defective water closet bowl and to provide proper water supply for same; repair all leaks in roof; provide roof gutters, properly connected to sewer. Limewash walls and ceiling of kitchen. It was found that a former notice referred to in this complaint has been complied with.

ALLEY IN GOOD CONDITION.

Chicago, July 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I would thank you to call the attention of the proper party to the condition of the alley between Beach avenue and Le Moyne street, from Homan to St. Louis avenues. I am writing in the interest of six automobile owners who use this alley. Wire, glass, tin cans, and other rubbish are allowed to accumulate in this alley. There are several deep ruts which fill up with water during a rain.

The condition complained of is caused by people of the neighborhood cleaning their yards and throwing refuse into the alley. The alley has been cleaned and is now in good condition.

LANDLORD MAY HOLD WIFE RESPONSIBLE.

Chicago, July 7.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Kindly advise me if the owner of property situated in Chicago can hold the wife and husband equally responsible for the lease, providing the wife did not sign her name to the lease? CITIZEN.

The landlord may hold the wife in Illinois equally with the husband, for the reason that both are jointly responsible for the necessaries of the family, and rent may be regarded as a necessary. This applies even where the wife does not join in the lease.

THINKS "CIVILIZATION" NOT OVERDRAWN.

Chicago, July 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—With regret I read your editorial in yesterday's issue, "War in the Movies," in which you condemn with emphasis the cinema play "Civilization," and consign it to the realm of the comic and insincere. Perhaps my sense of the comic is dulled and distorted. I was as unconscious of that element in the production as I was of its existence in the Passion Play at Oberammergau, which some scenes in "Civilization" vividly recall.

I am not a "pacifist" nor the descendant of one, and believe heartily in preparedness for defense. Three uncles on both parental lines, two of them officers of rank, fought with honor in the civil war on the side of the north, one of them becoming a mental and physical wreck through the horrors of Andersonville.

But I believe that "Civilization," with the red cataclysmal present for a background, not a whit overdrawn according to your own informing and valued columns, is a tremendous setting forth of the theme, "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

If the exploitation of this reconstructive principle, higher than nationalism and even of that nearer and now much misused term, patriotism, illuminating with startling flash to the eye and mind what months of heat lightning writings might only make more obscure, is "celluloid twaddle," then in the name of war-plagued humanity let us have more of the same brand.

JOHN POWELL LENOX.

UNDEMOCRATIC LEGISLATION.

Chicago, July 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I read with interest in your last Friday's issue an editorial under the title "Enhancing Values," and quote the first paragraph: "In one of his addresses last week the president said he has constantly to remind himself that he is not the servant of those who wish to enhance the value of their Mexican holdings."

My mind immediately harked back to the recent sugar legislation, and I asked myself the question, "Whose servant was the president when he forced the repeal of the Underwood free sugar law?" One hundred million people pay the tax; a mere handful receive the subsidy.

It seems to me this very undemocratic piece of legislation should have some publicity.

REGULAR OFFICERS FOR VOLUNTEERS.

Chicago, July 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your remarks relative to the appointing of regular officers to command nonregular troops remind me that during the first year of the rebellion the governor of Michigan appointed a regular as colonel of every volunteer regiment, the record of which shows the governor's wisdom. H. H. HENSHAW.

ON A FALSE PREMISE.

Chicago, July 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I observe by an advertisement in THE TRIBUNE that the Chicago Brewers' association, taking an assertion from the Prohibition Year Book as a text, will deliver a series of sermons on the fallacy of prohibition and try to convince those who are not pig-headed of its evils.

I know enough about this subject to make it safe for me to say that the text is taken from the wrong book and chapter. The Prohibition Year Book is issued by the national committee of the Prohibition party, which is strong for national prohibition as the only effective kind.

The party would welcome absolute prohibition brought about by the methods used by any other organization, but the quotation taken by the brewers as a text is simply a statement as to the difficulties of enforcing local or state option.

I trust that none will be deceived by these sermons preached on a false premise, and we expect to see the national plan adopted "eventually." The sooner the quicker. "Why not now?"

SHEDDING THE HYPHEN.

Chicago, July 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your editorial, "Nationalism," is, to any one conversant with the real state of things in Chicago and vicinity, as "clear as mud." To begin with, the Germans were not invited to that "meeting of nationalities" any more than were the Irish.

To conclude, they could not have joined in, not because their sensitiveness told them they would not be welcome, but because they are not so imaginative as to think their "hyphen" can be shed at a patriotic meeting.

I am a German-American and am (old Persian coin) proud of it, and as to my Americanism, I'll not take a back seat for Dr. Wilson, Col. Roosevelt, or Prof. Smzrahl.

A. A. ROTHENGASS,
1741 Cleveland avenue.

100 HOURS IN DAY COACH.

Albuquerque, N. M., July 9.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Just finished your editorial and that of the Paducah News, reprinted. The Albuquerque Journal—famous sheet—reprints a complaisant editorial from a New York daily in which the burden of the editorial lay was "Fortunes of War." "They will get worse than that" and "soldiers must expect hardships."

You sympathize with the "fifty hour" boys, but the Massachusetts boys came through here in day coaches—100 hours en route. Think of it! If that editor ever was forced to ride 100 hours in a day coach he would write editorials in self-pity the rest of his days. Believe me, it is hard enough to ride 100 hours in a Pullman, but box cars with straw strewn in them would have been more humane than day coaches.

ORPET DEFENSE SCORES STATE'S COURT ETHICS

Potter Passionately Decries Methods, Flays Dr. Webster, and Castigates Joslyn.

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

Three unforgettable word pictures flashed across the clouded fabric of the Orpet trial in Waukegan yesterday.

Ralph F. Potter painted them—Potter, the mild, big brotherly member of the trio of Orpet lawyers. The first he drew quietly, pleadingly, deliberating with the jurors quite in his accustomed manner of the kindly counselor. Then he stopped out of the rôle.

The second bit was etched in biting invective. The third flared out in a vivid blur of withering irony that brought an audible gasp from his listeners.

Potter was having the defense's second inning in the matter of closing statements to the jury. He was pleading that Will Orpet could not conceivably have murdered Marion Lambert in Helm's woods last February. He was telling what he thinks of the men and methods in the case built up against the boy.

Some Characterizations.

Here are the people he talked about and the things he said:

Will Orpet—"Just a boy—a bad boy, if you will—but just a boy. He ran away, and then lied about it. He was scared, and he did what nine boys out of ten of his age would have done. Would you convict your son or your brother of murder because he did that—the very thing that proves him innocent?"

David R. Joslyn, state's attorney of McHenry county and special Orpet prosecutor—"I say that whoever asked Will Orpet that question about seeing a potassium cyanide bottle in the drug store at Madison, if he didn't know the bottle was there, is a shyster and ought to be disbarred from practice in this court. And I'll guarantee you, gentlemen, that no such bottle was there, and he knew it."

Dr. Ralph W. Webster, toxicologist, the state's chief expert witness—"His only qualifications to appear as an expert witness in this case are a glib tongue, a frozen face, and an absolute lack of conscience. Those are Dr. Webster's qualifications as a chemist and as a man."

Analyzes State's Case.

Potter tore the lid off the defense's dignified reserve. First he analyzed the state's case, point by point, with careful deliberation. Then he tore into it with the thinly veiled charge that an attempt is being made to railroad Orpet to prison or the gallows for the aggrandizement of the public officials who are prosecuting him.

"The state has been frantic," he said, "in its efforts to make things fit in.

'They talk of the molasses and water bottle. They have given Mr. Hanna, Mr. Diver, and Mr. Lindsey, the men who found it, a clean bill of health on this thing. These men can all vote at the fall elections in Lake county. But those of us who live in Glencoe, Wilmette, or Rogers Park are not so fortunate.

"I tell you, gentlemen, they are trying to poison the minds of this jury with their miserable, lying insinuations."

Fires Bolt at Joslyn.

Joslyn, the special prosecutor, sat silent and grim through the storm At one point, in telling of Orpet's cross examination, Potter half turned to him and said:

"I say to you, in all the years I have practiced in the courts, I never saw such an impotent such an inexcusable, such a nasty cross examination as that one by the state's attorney of McHenry county.

"Why, if I had been the father of that girl, sitting there at the end of that table"—here Frank Lambert, Marion's father, glanced up quickly—"and heard this special prosecutor attack her memory, I'd have jumped at him and throttled him. Wouldn't you? Of course you would!"

Women Cry in Court.

It was hot in Waukegan—a grim, glaring day in which violent passions seemed, somehow, to come to the surface more readily than usual. Almost for the first time women in the crowded courtroom cried openly as they felt the strain. Lawyers and jurymen were stripped for action—coatless and vestless, and many with their sleeves rolled up.

In the morning State's Attorney Dady had wound up his denunciation of Orpet with a bitter climax.

"Not once," he shouted—"not once, but four times, did Will Orpet try to force his poison vial to the lips of Marion Lambert as they walked through Helm's woods! He is a cunning, clever fiend who planned this cold blooded murder in most astonishing detail."

Potter Begins Quietly.

Potter, perhaps to enforce a contrast, began quietly. He asked each of the jurymen to assume Will Orpet was his boy—a bad boy, if he would, but his boy. Will, he said, was worried about a girl. He wanted to see whether she were in the precarious condition she said she was. His father had told him not to leave college, so he fixed up a flimsy alibi to deceive his parents.

"You've been 19 years old," Potter pleaded. "Haven't you made alibis? I'd hate to go to jail for every one I have made."

The day before the girl had gone into the laboratory at her high school alone. There was deadly poison there. The boy talked with her in the woods. She took poison, and fell dead.

"Now," said Potter, "on that recital, proved beyond a reasonable doubt, would you believe that your son, your brother, murdered that girl? Ah, they say he ran away. And after he ran away he lied about it. Now, he did both things. But because he ran away—because he lied—is it a proven fact that he killed that girl in the woods? I say to you that one of the strongest arguments for innocence in this case is that the boy ran away.

"The state would have you believe that he went into the woods with murder in his heart. If he had done that, wouldn't he have gone straight to the Sacred Heart academy near by and said: 'A girl has killed herself in the woods. The poison is there in her hand. Come and find her, and see?' Wouldn't he have carried out his carefully laid plan?

"But no! He was panic stricken—scared—and he ran. It was the natural thing for a boy of 19 to do. And it was the unnatural thing for a cold blooded, calculating murderer to do."

It appears now that the Orpet case may go to the jury late Saturday afternoon.

There's something about them you'll like.

RECONNOITERS CAMP SITE

Lieut. Col. Mrs. Villa Poe Wilson, Who Yesterday Looked Over Women's Training Bivouac Grounds.

Mrs. Villa Poe Wilson

Lieut. Col. Mrs. Villa Poe Wilson went up to Lake Geneva yesterday to look over the training camp site where some 300 young women will learn how to be useful in time of war. Before she left, Mrs. Wilson explained that this camp will be on much the same plan as the one held at Chevy Chase, Maryland. Also, despite a pet antipathy for photographic flashes, she consented to pose for a picture with William Mather Lewis, middle west field secretary of the Navy league.

"Personal preparation for service—to prepare the women to do the necessary things in war time—is the idea of this camp," said Mrs. Wilson. "Home care of the sick, first aid, dietetics, cooking for the sick, and scientific bed making will take the most attention. The military discipline which will be observed is merely for expediency."

The women will also be taught military drills, ambulance driving, and telegraphy. They will rise at a 6:30 o'clock reveille and be lulled to sleep by taps at 9:30 p. m. Any "rookie" out after taps is blown will be subject to dismissal.

At 3:30 every other afternoon lectures will be given for camp visitors as well as recruits.

There will be two camps in all, with 100 camping and fifty resident "rookies" in each.

WHAT ARE YOU DOING FOR OUR ICELESS BABIES?

Hot Weather Emphasizes Need of Contributing to "The Tribune" Fund.

Until yesterday the iceman's call meant nothing to the occupants of one little home on the north side. They needed ice badly, but pennies were scarce and there were so many other ways to spend them in supplying the necessities for the mother and five children. Their husband and father is in the tuberculosis sanitarium at Oak Forest.

But yesterday they received ice tickets through THE TRIBUNE Free Ice fund, and after this there won't be so much danger of the babies becoming ill through spoiled food or impure milk.

Another Iceless Home.

Let's take a peep into another home where workers for the United Charities found a mother worn out with the struggle of caring for three children, two with the whooping cough and the third ill with pneumonia. The father got tired of carrying his share of the burden and skipped.

For weeks the mother has been doing double duty, working to earn enough money to buy medicine and food for the family and then at night playing the rôle of mother, trained nurse, and housekeeper.

There wasn't any ice coming into the house until the mother was presented with an ice book. She will be kept supplied all summer. Moreover, the United Charities have arranged for her to stay at home for at least for two months so she can devote her time to looking after the children and building up her own strength. There may be a trip to the country for all of them later.

Ever Go Without Ice?

There are hundreds of other such homes in Chicago. Can you imagine the conditions they have had to face during the last week of hot weather? Do you know what a cold glass of water or milk means this kind of weather? Did you ever try going without ice with the mercury soaring?

It can be done and is being done by hundreds of poor families and the lives of hundreds of babies are in danger. But why not give them this one comfort? One dollar will buy a great deal of ice and $5 will keep a family supplied for almost the rest of the summer.

Money Needed Now.

All of the needy can't be sent to the summer camps, and those who are forced to stay in the sweltering congested districts must be cared for. Money is needed. Every year THE TRIBUNE ice fund has been bigger than the last. Let's keep up the record. Don't postpone your contribution. It's needed now, today, this minute.

GEORGE IS GAY YOUNG BIRD; PLAYS SUICIDE JOKE ON GIRL

But His Older Brother Breaks Down Closed Door When Frightened Guests at Party Gather Around.

Young George Jennison, 12 years old of 811 Lombard avenue, Oak Park, claims to have a good one on the girls. George is a confirmed misogynist and has announced intentions of being a bachelor when he grows up, so that he was not impressed when his little sister Edith, 10 years old, had some of her little playmates over at the Jennison home last Tuesday afternoon.

"They teased me all the time," said George, "and I thought I'd scare them good."

So when Edith refused to give him some of her cake he rushed into a room, saying that he would commit suicide. He barricaded the door with a chair and reached for the gas jet. Unfortunately for George, his older brother, Harley, age 15, happened to come home at this time and broke down the door when the badly frightened girls told him of his brother's intentions. George was found sitting calmly on the grass on the lawn beneath the open window.

PICK WILLIAMS FOR GOVERNOR IN WISCONSIN

Democrats Face Karel Faction Revolt—Wolfe Choice for United States Senate.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 12.—[Special.]—The Democratic party of Wisconsin has split on the question of progressivism. When the state convention this afternoon had nominated Burt Williams of Ashland for governor over the protests of the followers of John C. Karel, former Wisconsin football player, Karel announced that he would call his followers after the regular convention to nominate another complete ticket.

William F. Wolfe of La Crosse was nominated unanimously for United States senator, with the Karel conservative Democrats approving. The Karel men declared they would accept almost any candidate except Williams, who led the bolt, they declared, to the Republicans which defeated Karel in 1914.

Other state candidates to receive the indorsement of the Democratic state conference are:

Lieutenant governor—John Cudahy, Milwaukee.

Secretary of state—Ned C. Jones, Portage.

State treasurer—John G. Reuterman, Milwaukee.

Attorney general—Thomas H. Ryan, Appleton.

Republicans Name Philipp.

Madison, Wis., July 12.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin Conservative Republican state convention here today indorsed the nomination of Hughes and Fairbanks and the Republican national platform, indorsed candidates for nomination for the five elective state offices of Wisconsin at the primary election in September, and adopted a state platform of conservative Republican principles. The so-called La Follette, or Progressive, Republicans held a separate conference last month and indorsed candidates for state officers.

The convention today was attended by over 900 delegates. Gov. E. L. Philipp dominated the convention and was indorsed for reëlection by acclamation.

Maj. Marshall Cousins of Hudson, by acclamation indorsed for lieutenant governor, is on his way to the Mexican border with Wisconsin troops. At his suggestion the convention adopted a motion requesting the governor to call an extra session of the legislature enabling the absent Wisconsin soldiers to vote.

Harrington Is Indosed.

Assemblyman George Harrington of Elkhorn was indorsed for secretary of state; State Treasurer Henry Johnson of Oconto for state treasurer, and former Attorney General E. R. Hicks for attorney general.

The platform indorsed the candidacy of M. G. Jeffris of Janesville as a candidate for senator against La Follette.

WILSON AGREES TO ACCEPT RESIGNATION OF GOETHALS.

Governor of Panama Canal Zone Can Retire at Date Which He Will Designate.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—President Wilson agreed to accept the resignation of Maj. Gen. Goethals as governor of the Panama canal at an early date, to be fixed by the general.

Gen. Goethals called at the White House and again urged his desire to resign the governorship and retire from the active list of the army, now that his work of building the canal had been finished. Later the president authorized the statement that he reluctantly had left the matter in Gen. Goethal's hands.

Col. Chester Harding, now engineer of maintenance in the canal zone, probably will be appointed governor.

TREASURY POST IS FILLED.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—The senate this afternoon confirmed R. I. Hunt of Decatur, Ill., as assistant United States treasurer at Chicago.

DISCUSS PLACE OF WOMAN IN THE WORLD OF BUSINESS.

Experts Think She Now Has as Good a Chance of Success as Her Brother.

Detroit, Mich., July 12.—Woman's place in the world of business was discussed by her champions at departmental sessions of the world's salesmanship congress here this afternoon.

"Woman and Salesmanship" was the subject of an address made by Mrs. Florence E. Shaal of Boston to the counter salespeoples' session this afternoon.

"Woman's sensitiveness make her conscientious, and an inborn pride urges her always to her best endeavor," Mrs. Shaal said. "The innate prejudice against contact with the world which woman formerly cherished has disappeared in the last few years. She has learned she can maintain her self-respect and all her feminine attributes and still take her place side by side with man in any field."

Chairs of salesmanship in the leading universities and colleges of the country were advocated before the congress by Edward Hines of Chicago. He also urge postgraduate courses in salesmanship, which would include a thorough grounding in economics and practical business law.

Mr. Hines declared that it was trained study that made the German salesman one of the wonders of the business world.

IOWA DEMOCRATS VOTE TO RESUBMIT DRY ISSUE.

Des Moines, Ia., July 12.—Iowa Democrats in convention today for the first time in the memory of any of the leaders present went on record in the state platform as favoring prohibition. The report of the resolutions committee adopted by the convention indorsed the views of E. T. Meredith, gubernatorial candidate and an announced dry, and went on record in favor of the resubmission to the people of the state of the constitutional amendment providing for state-wide prohibition.

The platform indorsed the Wilson administration, favored amendment of the primary law, workmen's compensation, good roads, and economy in administration of the business of the state.

CANDIDATES IN PRIMARIES MAY MAIL IN PETITIONS.

Secretary Stevenson Offers New Way to Avoid Great Tax on the "Mailers."

Springfield, Ill., July 12.—A plan for filing primary petitions by mail was announced tonight by Secretary of State L. G. Stevenson.

In the past as many as 600 candidates or their paid "waiters" stood in line at the statehouse corridors for days, nights, and sometimes for weeks, in the hope of getting their names on the top of the ballot.

The first day for filing petitions for the September primary is next Saturday, July 15. Secretary Stevenson announced tonight that petitions received by mail will be given preference in time of filing over petitions delivered by the petitioners themselves. Petitions received in the regular mail deliveries will be filed prior to those delivered as registered or special delivery mail. Secretary Stevenson expects that between 900 and 1,200 petitions will be filed.

Ferry Hall for Girls
Lake Forest, Illinois

Keep your daughter near home while giving her a mental training equal to that of the best Eastern Schools

A mid-Western institution with the scholastic standing of the best Eastern schools—considered so by the strongest Eastern women's colleges—which give it certificate privileges.

The curriculum embraces four years of high-school work and college preparation, two years of junior-college work, and special courses in music, expression, domestic arts and science.

Ferry Hall stands for a vital type of practical Christianity and a definite daily gospel of sunshine and good will.

The beauty and extent of the campus lure the girls to an active outdoor life. A well-equipped gymnasium, with a large, modern swimming-pool, furnishes opportunity for supervised exercise. The physical director and a trained nurse have constant oversight of the girls' physical condition. An artesian well guarantees the purity of the water.

Ferry Hall is affiliated with Lake Forest College and is administered by the same Board of Trustees. The school, however, has its own faculty, its own separate campus and independent life.

Trustees: Cyrus H. McCormick, Louis F. Swift, J. V. Farwell, David B. Jones, H. C. Chatfield-Taylor, Clayton Mark, A. B. Dick, Alfred L. Baker, Rev. J. G. K. McClure, Geo. A. McKinlock, A. A. Boys Should Be Boys

BOYS have a natural desire for activity—most boys love outdoor life—boys are entitled to congenial environment and companionship. A boy enjoys "making good" and will make good in that in which he is interested. The whole academic and family life of

St. John's Military Academy

is based on these fundamental "boy" facts. The stirring activities of military life—drills, parades, hikes, scoutings, signaling, THE BAND, etc.—these charm the boy while developing in him those qualities of manhood which make for success in the give and take of life.

St. John's life emphasizes "outdoors." Football, baseball, rowing, basketball, track, swimming, boxing, trap shooting, hockey, rifle practice, etc., satisfy the boy craving and give a bodily vigor that carries mental work easily. Expert coaches and strong teams give plenty of opportunity for "rooting" and celebrating athletic successes. Individual and class contests are emphasized. The boy companionships at St. John's are wholesome, clean, democratic. A spirit of comradeship exists between the faculty and the boys.

The school is ideally located on high, well-drained land; it has one of the best equipped and most complete plants in America. It is rated as an "Honor School" by the U. S. Government. The standard of scholarship is high, stress is laid upon old-fashioned ideals, educational fads are avoided. For catalog address Box 101, Delafield, Waukesha County, Wis.

G. O. P. CAMPAIGN FUND IN CHARGE OF BLISS, UPHAM

Former Made Treasurer, Latter Western Manager—Thompson Asks Chicago Speech.

New York, July 12.—Charles E. Hughes continued here today the weekly conferences which he has held with party leaders since making Bridgehamton his summer home. With Chairman Willcox of the Republican national committee, Senator Penrose, W. Murray Crane, Mayor Thompson of Chicago, and many others, the nominee discussed his tentative campaign program. His advisers unanimously indorsed his proposal to make a trip to the Pacific coast beginning early in August.

After a conference with Mr. Hughes, Chairman Willcox announced that Cornelius N. Bliss has been selected as treasurer of the national committee to succeed George R. Sheldon and that Fred W. Upham of Chicago will be in charge of the western end of the work. Mr. Upham's headquarters will be in Chicago.

Hopes to Speak in Chicago.

Mr. Bliss is the son of the late Cornelius N. Bliss, who was treasurer of the committee during the campaign which resulted in Roosevelt's election.

Mayor Thompson of Chicago invited Mr. Hughes to open at Chicago the speechmaking on the proposed western trip. The invitation was taken under advisement, and the indications are that it will be accepted. Mr. Hughes told Mayor Thompson that he would try to arrange to speak in Chicago early in August.

Mayor Thompson was asked as to the truth of reports that he came here to protest to the nominee against the appointment of Harold L. Ickes, Progressive leader of Illinois, to the campaign committee.

"I am for anybody whose appointment will help elect Mr. Hughes," he said. "I think we should all get together."

Penrose to Lend His Aid.

Senator Penrose had a long talk with the nominee at the conclusion of which Mr. Penrose said he is going to take his "coat off and go to work."

R. K. Otis, president of the Chicago Hughes alliance; Eugene R. Pike, city controller of Chicago, and W. J. Norton of Chicago were among the day's callers.

ROAD BONDS APPROVED

County Board Takes Action on $1,800,000 Issue to Improve Highways of Cook County.

Confirmation of a bond issue of $1,800,000 for the construction of hard roads throughout the county was made by the county board at a special meeting yesterday. The roads are to be built of either gravel, rock, or macadam. Some of the roads affected are:

The Niles road, from Niles to Gross Point.

Gross Point road, from the Dundee and Wheeling road to east limits of Gross Point.

Telegraph road, from Timber road to Shermerville.

Milwaukee Avenue road, from River road to State Aid road.

Arlington Heights road, from Rand road to Arlington Heights.

Barrington road, from Cemetery road to Barrington.

Algonquin road, from Desplaines to western boundary of county.

Norwood Park road, for two miles south of limits of Chicago.

Joliet road, from Lyons to county line.

BELIEVE "HUNGRY" HOGAN MAY HAVE TAKEN POISON.

Deputy Coroner Postpones Inquest Till Aug. 2 So Investigation May Be Made.

Cyanide or mercury poisoning may have caused the death of Henry "Hungry" Hogan, hackman, junk dealer and near congressman, in the opinion of Dr. W. D. McNally, coroner's chemist. Dr. McNally yesterday began an examination of Hogan's stomach.

The circumstances of Hogan's death were unusual enough to cause Deputy Coroner Henry Spears to postpone the inquest till Aug. 2, in order than an investigation may be made.

"I have no theory whatever as to what caused his death," Mr. Spears said last night. "It may have been due to natural causes. Hogan was apparently in good health the day before he died. A friend was with him in his room at 1068 West Harrison street next morning. Hogan complained of pains in his chest, and this friend went out to get some medicine for him.

"When he returned Hogan was lying on the bed. He was dead. I have asked the Desplaines street police to investigate."

PORK BARREL UP TO WILSON

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—The notorious $43,000,000 river and harbor pork barrel measure has been passed on to the president by the senate. It is now up to Mr. Wilson to approve it or kill it with his veto. He is expected to do the former. The senate this afternoon approved the conference report on the pork barrel by a vote of 45 to 19. The house approved it yesterday.

Woman in Factory Hurt.

Mrs. Ellen Muskovitz of 557 West Thirteenth street was bruised and cut on the leg yesterday when her skirt caught in a machine in the plant of the Chicago Leather and Mercantile company, 1848 West Fourteenth street, where she is employed.

DENEEN FACTION TO SLATE MOOSE ON STATE TICKET

Progressives to Be Given Two or Three Places by Anti-Lowden Leaders.

Progressives will get two and perhaps three places on the Republican state slate under construction by the Deneen-Progressive conferees. The three probably will be secretary of state, state treasurer, and lieutenant governor.

Final conferences will be held today. Frank H. Funk and some leading downstate Progressives will be here, and Logan Hay and other downstate Republicans who are strong for Senator Hull for governor are to participate.

An effort may be made to slate Hugh S. Magill of Springfield for lieutenant governor, although Fayette S. Munro of Highland Park, an anti-Ickes Progressive, is said to want the place. B. F. Harris of Champaign probably can have the place for state treasurer, and negotiations are on to slate Howard Jayne of Monmouth for secretary of state.

The Progressives do not want a fight made on Andrew Russel for state auditor, and no candidate may be slated for this place. The Deneen people will hang on to the attorney generalship and probably favor George H. Wilson, who is strongly backed by the Anti-Saloon league.

LORIMER PETITIONS FOR CONGRESS IN CIRCULATION.

Ald. Carl T. Murray Jumps Into the Race in the Sixth District—With No Faction, He Says.

Despite William Lorimer's statement to his creditors in the Second Regiment armory Monday night that he has no hankering for a seat in congress, a well developed movement looking to placing him in the field for the nomination in the Sixth district got under way yesterday.

"Voluntary" workers in Mr. Lorimer's behalf began circulating petitions, and the plan is, it was reported, to have as many of the depositors as possible sign his nominating petition.

Coincident with this report Ald. Carl T. Murray jumped into the race as a candidate for congress in that district, in a formal statement, which in part follows:

"I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress in the Sixth district. I take it that the private citizen who believes in Republican principles and is desirous of party success is not greatly concerned in the domination of one or another faction of our party. I disclaim any factional alliances and wish to be distinctly understood as not being the candidate of any political faction."

DEMOCRATS TO GO AFTER MOOSE

Vance McCormick Confers with Chicago Leaders on Wilson Campaign.

C. R. CRANE WILL HELP.

A big organization in Illinois, backed with all the campaign funds necessary, is to be formed in an effort to corral Progressive voters for President Wilson and offset the Hughes stroke in naming Harold L. Ickes on the campaign committee of the Republican national committee.

This was disclosed yesterday, when Vance McCormick, new chairman of the Democratic national committee, paid his first visit to Chicago since President Wilson picked him to manage the campaign.

Mr. McCormick saw leaders of both Democratic factions and spent an hour with Charles R. Crane, who contributed to the Wilson campaign in 1912.

Lunches with Charles R. Crane.

Mr. Crane had Mr. McCormick to lunch at the Chicago club at noon. They went over the general plan to go after Progressives throughout the middle west. Mr. Crane, it is understood, will take a prominent part in the forthcoming campaign. There is some talk he may be made the official hatpasser in the midwestern section.

Mr. McCormick told newspaper men; after he had seen Mr. Crane, that he believed President Wilson will sweep the western states, and particularly Illinois, because of the resentment forward looking voters hold against the prominence of Murray Crane, Reed Smoot, Boies Penrose, and James A. Hemenway in the Hughes campaign management.

Chicago Quarters Open Next Month.

The chairman said Chicago headquarters will not be opened until after the notification ceremony is held, which will be early next month. Wilbur W. Marsh of Iowa is tentatively slated for director of the Chicago headquarters. A western headquarters also may be opened in California in an effort to corral the Moose forces there.

Mr. McCormick also talked with William L. O'Connell, representing the anti-Sullivan forces, and later with Roger C. Sullivan.

Mr. Sullivan would not disclose what took place at his conference with the Wilson leader, other than to say that plans are making for a big campaign in the middle west. Mr. McCormick went to New York on an afternoon train.

CALLS MOOSE DISSENTERS TO MEET IN CHICAGO SOON.

New York, July 12.—A conference of representative Progressives from all parts of the country soon will be held in Chicago, it was announced here tonight by Bainbridge Colby, to consider "the widespread and bitter revolt within the party" against the action of the national committee in indorsing Charles E. Hughes, the Republican nominee, for the presidency. The date will be decided upon in a few days, Mr. Colby said, and he emphasizes that the conference will be national in scope, although all states may not be represented.

FACTION SLATES AROUSE IRE OF IGNORED CHIEFS

More G. O. P. and Democratic Tickets and a Host of Independent Racers Likely.

Rebellion is brewing against the county slates put up by Republican feudists and the Sullivan clan, according to reports that reached the chieftains yesterday. Indications are that at least one more full county slate, and possibly two, and several hundred independent candidates will be in the field with the filing of petitions next Saturday. Numerous aspirants for Municipal court judgeships are reported circulating petitions.

Among those discussed as independent starters are former United States District Attorney Edwin Sims, for state's atorney, Ralph C. Otis for board of review, and Ald. Harry E. Littler for the sanitary district board or assessor.

More States Likely.

Backers of Col. Frank L. Smith for the governorship are talking of putting up a county slate. Friends of Gov. Dunne and former Mayor Harrison have let it be known that if Sullivan's forces name a candidate against Dunne they also will put out a Cook county ticket.

This may be done anyway by the Harrison people, who are raging over the Sullivanites denying places on their slate to Circuit Court Clerk Richard McGrath and Assessor Frank W. Koraleski, and the report that the Sullivan forces later will clean out the Harrison men in the Municipal court.

Sullivan Men Confer.

Sullivan leaders conferred at the offices of Mr. Sullivan. They spent most of the time discussing the governorship situation and trying to find some way to put a candidate in the field against Gov. Dunne, but no decision was reached.

Mr. Sullivan had a talk with William L. O'Connell, Dunne political manager in Cook county. He told O'Connell, it is reported, that he is not seeking revenge on any one, but that he is not the whole show this time. The candidates of his faction for county offices, he said, are making trouble by insisting they want some one other than Gov. Dunne to head the ticket.

Dunne's approval of the woman's suffrage bill, the candidates have told Sullivan, will cost them many Democratic votes in Cook county.

Nance Slated for Coroner.

Meantime the Deneen-Hull feudists made what they considered a ten strike when they slated Ald. Willis O. Nance for county coroner. Nance got out his petitions, and when the Deneenites heard of it they immediately offered him the vacant place on their ticket, and he will make the race against Coroner Peter M. Hoffman.

GIRL'S DEATH IN ROWBOAT DUE TO NATURAL CAUSES.

Investigation Halted When Crown Point Marshal Finds Hazel Hall Was Not Violence Victim.

An investigation into the death of Miss Hazel Hall, a 17 year old school girl of Shelby, Ind., whose unconscious form was found floating down the Kankakee river in a rowboat, was halted yesterday when Charles Pratt, marshal at Crown Point, notified Coroner J. A. Graham of Lake county he was convinced death was due to natural causes.

It was feared the girl might have been slain.

John Hall, the girl's father, who is a prosperous farmer, and a brother, said Miss Hall had been subject to fainting spells. It is believed she fell backward in the boat, struck her head, and received a fracture of the skull, which resulted in death. She did not regain consciousness before she died.

A post-mortem examination failed to disclose any evidence of violence.

Does Prohibition Prohibit?

Report of the Committee on Temperance of General Presbyterian Assembly, May, 1911

"... Only harm can result from deceiving the public by charts which indicate a rapid advance in temperance legislation and by boastful statements about making 'the map all white,' while we are doing nothing of the kind."

(From The Prohibition 1916 Year Book, Page 13)

The Testimony of Denver

The Promise—

Denver, Colorado, had Prohibition imposed upon it from without, through the enactment of a state constitutional amendment. The Prohibitionists confidently promised and asserted that Prohibition would stop the demand for alcoholic beverages, and that moneys formerly spent for liquor would be diverted to other channels.

The Actual Results—

(From the Denver Times, March 2nd, 1916)

"Shipments of Liquor Into Denver Quadruple"

"If liquor shipments in Denver increase every month in the same proportion as they did last month over the preceding one, the residents of the city in a short time may be wondering if they have state PROHIBITION. . . . "

Official "Registration" Records for First Five Months of Prohibition in Denver Tell The Story

Liquor shipments in January, 1916 . . .	802	Liquor shipments in April, 1916	6196
Liquor shipments in February, 1916 . .	2868	Liquor shipments in May, 1916	6874
Liquor shipments in March, 1916	5186	(Valuation placed on average shipment, $25.00)

No Liquor Would Be Shipped Into Denver If The People Did Not Order It And Pay For It

The Solution—

Reasonable regulation, strict and impartial enforcement of licensing laws, permanent revocation of license of violators, and the substitution of Temperance Education for "Forced Abstinence."

LIFE-SIZE SECTION OF A SMALL SILVERTOWN CORD TIRE.

These giant "Muscles of —Mileage"

Here are the Thews and Sinews,—the Muscles and Tendons of "SAMPSON,"—laid bare!

Here are the two layers of giant "Cords,"—laid transversely—one layer over the other—with a layer of live Rubber between.

Here is the Secret of Silvertown Cord Tire Strength and Endurance, revealed.

Each Cord flattened like a tape, so that each strand may overlay the other, at the tread (as fish scales do) bridging the interstices.

Each Cord STRONG enough to lift a Man's weight.

Each giant Cord laid side-by-side with the next Cord, but FREE TO MOVE INDEPENDENTLY of the rest, without friction.

Free,—because each Cord lies between two layers of Elastic Rubber.

—Each Cord so thickly coated with that Elastic Rubber,—so thoroughly impregnated with it,—that no two strands of Cotton can touch each other,—"saw" across each other,—or wear each other out through Friction, Heat, or Chafing.

• • •

That is the secret of such wonderful FLEXIBILITY in Silvertown Cord Tires!

Each "Muscle of Mileage" permitted to play freely in its Elastic Rubber bed, as the Muscles of the powerful, but nimble Athlete, play,—in action.

This sinewy FLEXIBILITY, then, is what reduces "Traction-Wave" to the Minimum, in Silvertown Cord Tires!

It conserves practically all of the Motor-Power, to turn the Wheels.

This,—instead of wasting a large part of it, in continuous BENDING of the stiff unyielding Walls, of other Tires.

It takes out of Motoring that continuous "UP-HILL" work which the bending of stiff Tires is equivalent to.

• • •

Hence,—the Car equipped with Silvertown Cord Tires will——Coast down hill 30% further!

—Travel 25% further on each Gallon of Gasolene!

—Develope 17% more Speed from same Motor!

—Ride with 50% less Vibration!

With all this, Silvertown Cord Tires have such giant STRENGTH, that they are practically immune to Stone-bruise, Puncture or Blow-out.

—Such marvellous ENDURANCE, that they have been driven 1500 Miles, at an average Speed of 76 Miles per hour, without changing a Tire.

Silvertowns are the easiest of all Tires to permanently Repair,—the most Aristocratic in appearance,—and the most Luxuriously smooth-running to ride upon.

You are paying for them NOW (without getting them) in the 25% additional Gasolene your present Tires consume.

RIVAL WOMEN TO PLAY AGAIN IN GOLF FINAL

Mrs. Jones Will Oppose Miss Smith in Deciding Match at Beverly.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Last Saturday Miss Mildred Smith of the Evanston Golf club and Mrs. Melvin Jones of Glen Oak met in the final of the Skokie tournament. Today the same players will meet to decide first honors in the Beverly tournament.

Each player scored fairly easy victories in the semi-final round yesterday, Miss Smith defeating Miss Kaiser of Flossmoor, 5 and 4, and Mrs. Jones winning from Miss Ethel Chatfield of Kishwaukee, 4 and 3.

The match was played in tropical heat which must have intensified the strain on all four players. Miss Smith paved her way to victory by some excellent golf on the first four holes, at which she made scarcely a mistake. She won four straight and by halving the next four had the match well in hand.

Makes Ninth Hole in Three.

Miss Kaiser scored her first success at the ninth hole, getting a fine three over the pond, one stroke under par. Although she made the out round in 44, she was three down at the turn.

Miss Smith won the tenth hole with a par 4, but the next three holes were halved. The match ended at the next hole, at which Miss Kaiser lost her ball. They played out the bye holes, Miss Smith getting a card of 85. Cards:

The other semi-final started in similar fashion as Mrs. Jones, with a fine four, followed by a two on the circus ring hole and a seventh on the long third, won three straight.

Glen Oak Player Strong.

At this point the similarity to the first match differed as Miss Chatfield won the fourth, seventh, and ninth and squared the match. From this on the Glen Oak player showed supremacy, taking four of the next five holes. She was only two strokes over men's par. A half on the next hole gave her the match.

Hillyer Tops Dentist Golfers.

C. W. Hillyer, card of 195—52—143, won low net score in the handicap in the monthly tournament of the Chicago Dental Golf club at Evanston. A. Weidner was second with 181—36—145. Dr. E. A. Schmuck had low gross for the eighteen hole event with 80 and C. L. Frame and W. R. Roth each got 87. In the special choice score for nine blind holes W. H. Roth had 46, D. T. Robertson 47, and E. A. Schmuck 48.

C. O. Wilbur won the Reliance cup, defeating E. M. Bressler in the thirty-six hole final, 2 up. Secretary William Devlin won the Frame cup by default of W. Carlson. In the semi-final for the Nevius cup Robertson defeated Bascom, 2 and 1, and Radix defeated Tinney, 1 up. In the Ritter cup event Anderson won from Warren by default and Kalk defeated Jones, 2 and 1.

Many in Exmoor Meet Today.

The annual invitation tournament of Exmoor Country club will bring out a big field today. The qualifying round will continue all day and players may choose either morning or afternoon scores. Six flights of sixteen will survive for the first round tomorrow. Handicaps will govern all the classes and a player is not allowed to qualify in flights lower than that in which his handicap places him.

The first and second match round will be decided tomorrow. Semi-finals and finals are set for Saturday. Players defeated in the first round will continue in a "beaten eights" division at match play. A consolation event for those defeated in the first and second rounds has also been arranged for Saturday, as well as match play against bogey.

DIDDEL TAKES GOLF MATCH.

Toledo, O., July 12.—Will H. Diddel of Crawfordsville, Ind., continued his play in the Central States Golf association tournament today by defeating F. P. Medbury of Youngstown, 6 and 3, in the third day of play. Frank Southard, Holland Hubbard, Robert F. Stranahan of Toledo, and F. W. Hunter of Detroit, other favorites in the tournament, won their matches.

Pairings for the second flight are as follows:

Wright and Andrews, Rono and Sassman, Robertson and Riley, Weber and Stowell, Shealey and Jones, Chissey and Carlson, Gullickson and Meyer.

The first match rounds will be played today.

Wyrick Leads Scribes.

Leading a large field in the July tournament of the Press Golf club at the Flossmoor club yesterday, Basil G. Wyrick of the Associated Press won the low gross prize. Low net in the qualification round for the Victor F. Lawson cup was scored by Frank Wood of THE TRIBUNE.

Other prize winners were J. G. Davis, TRIBUNE; S. O. Burroughs, Herald; Paul D. Hammett, Drovers' Journal; James A. Durkin, TRIBUNE; L. E. Thrush, Associated Press.

Those who qualified for the Victor Lawson cup are: F. Wood, TRIBUNE, 86; P. P. Pomeroy, Associated Press, 87; B. G. Wyrick, Associated Press, 88; P. H. Boone, TRIBUNE, 91; M. E. Taylor, Associated Press, 91; S. Hedberg, Associated Press, 92; O. A. Mather, TRIBUNE, 92; E. S. Sheridan, TRIBUNE, 93; F. Armstrong, Daily News, 95; R. Donham, TRIBUNE, 96; W. H. Mather, TRIBUNE, 97; J. G. Davis, TRIBUNE, 98; F. Carson, TRIBUNE, 99; O. G. Lundberg, TRIBUNE, 101; P. S. Warden, Herald, 101.

Sidney Smith and D. J. Lavin of THE TRIBUNE art department had a hot contest for the artist trophy until the last few holes, where they encountered several of the many difficult pits of the Flossmoor links and yielded the palm to Burroughs of the Herald.

HURLER AND THIRD SACKER PURCHASED BY WHITE SOX.

Norfolk, Va., July 12.—[Special.]—Announcement was made tonight by the Norfolk baseball club that Ed Sickeng, third baseman, and Maurice M. Craft, pitcher, have been sold to the Chicago White Sox for $2,000 each. Both players are youngsters, neither having reached his majority.

Sickeng came to Norfolk from the Cincinnati sand lots, and is playing his first year in professional company. Unofficial averages show he is batting around the .380 mark. Craft is a native of Portsmouth, a neighboring city, and is a clean built youngster, standing 6 feet. He is a right hander. He has won five games, lost two, and taken part in five others as relief pitcher.

PLAN AMATEUR FLAG SERIES.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 12.—President Ralston Goss of the National Amateur Baseball association has called a special meeting for Aug. 15 in this city. Rules and regulations to cover the national championship series for the world's amateur title will be decided and a schedule of games will be drafted.

Delegates from Pittsburgh, Louisville, Detroit, Chicago, Duluth, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Omaha, Lincoln, and Houston, Tex.; Sacramento, Los Angeles, and Tacoma will be requested to attend.

These cities comprise the national association, Houston having been admitted today. The Houston association comprises six leagues, forty-eight clubs, and has more than 500 players registered.

Eighty-one Kentucky Horses Arrive for Hawthorne Races

BY J. J. ALCOCK.

Hawthorne began to look like the olden, golden days yesterday, with the arrival of a big squad of thoroughbreds from Latonia. Ed Jasper, assistant racing secretary and associate judge, checked in eighty-one horses, which will represent seventeen stables in the revival meeting starting Saturday.

Williams Bros. sent the biggest delegation, fourteen nags. J. W. Fuller ran second in the count for the day with eight representatives. Kay Spence, S. M. Henderson, and J. Umensetter each had seven head in the shipment. The lot included many horses that have broken into the money repeatedly at the Kentucky tracks this season. Among them were Grover Hughes, Injury, Col. Marchmont, Olga Star, Hanovia, Impressive, and others familiar to form followers.

Visitors Flock to Track.

With inaugural day only hours away, visitors are beginning to flock to the west side course. Some are bent merely on assuring themselves that Chicago actually is to see racing again. Others are the old familiars, who like to get a bit of advance dope on a meeting, with the idea of collecting their admission fee by outguessing a friend on the result of a race.

Indications are that the $10,000 American Derby of Saturday will attract at least ten starters. Twenty-two were listed, but many of the nominations are of the complimentary variety. There will be no dearth of class. Dodge, George Smith, and Faux Col, all Derby winners, are regarded as certain starters.

Run Fast in Practice.

Long, lean years of idleness have not harmed the Hawthorne course to any noticeable extent. Clockers who have been watching the workouts to date are satisfied the time will average up well with the old days. George Smith was snapped at 2:07 yesterday for his final Derby prep of one and one-quarter miles. Dodge and Franklin, both Weber & Ward color bearers, were timed at 1:39 for a mile.

Entries for the Hotel Sherman handicap, an added feature for the opening card Saturday, will close today. A good field is assured for the secondary attraction.

M. W. SAVAGE IS DEAD, QUICKLY FOLLOWING DAN PATCH TO GRAVE

Minneapolis, Minn., July 12.—[Special.] Marion Willis Savage, millionaire manufacturer and railroad owner of Minneapolis, died at Hillcrest hospital of heart failure at 6 o'clock tonight, just thirty-two hours after the peerless Dan Patch, the horse he loved nearly as dearly as one of his family, died at the Dan Patch Stock farm.

Both Savage and his famous horse were taken sick on July 4. Savage was taken to the hospital that day to have a minor operation performed. He was considered to be recovering successfully until 5 p. m. today, when he suddenly took a turn for the worse and did not rally.

The death of Mr. Savage so suddenly after that of Dan Patch seems like a queer turn of fate. The horse brought the man wealth and fame and it is universally known that Savage's affection for Dan Patch was as great as man ever bore animal.

Savage was born in a small town in Ohio, on March 26, 1859. From his birthplace he went to Iowa, where he married Marrietta Bean at West Branch in 1881. In 1886 he came to Minneapolis, where the foundation of the Savage fortune was laid.

Arrangements are under way to mount the body of Dan Patch. Mr. Savage just before his death gave orders that Dan was not to be buried, but should be preserved in as lifelike a manner as possible by skilled taxidermists.

COAST STAR INVADES EAST.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 12.—Ward Dawson, new doubles partner of Maurice E. McLoughlin, will leave for New York tomorrow to play in eastern tournaments for practice on grass courts and get in fighting trim for the national doubles championships later in the season. McLoughlin and Dawson recently captured the Pacific states section doubles championship at the Long Beach tournament.

SINAI NET STAR WINS BOYS' TITLE IN CITY TOURNEY

BY KEENE GARDINER

A. Exner, a Sinai social center player, won the boys' city tennis championship in the first meet of the kind ever held by beating N. C. Shumway of Lake View High school, 6—0, 6—3, at the Chicago Tennis club yesterday. The match ended the boys' meet. Play was begun by a select field in the new club's invitation tournament, and the first annual junior tourney, started at the same time as the boys' championship, was speeded up in singles and doubles.

Al Lindauer had all kinds of trouble with D. F. Wylie's slicing strokes in the second set of their first round match in the invitation meet, but managed to nose out a close victory in the second set after taking the first, 6—0. Jerry Weber reached the second round when Ralph Burdick, who injured a toe in the final of the Chicago Beach tournament last Sunday, was compelled to default.

Women Start Play Today.

Women's singles in the tournament begin today, and drawings for men's and women's doubles also will be made, making an imposing tournament as the first venture of the new club.

In the Chicago junior championship singles Harry F. Vories of University High school upset the dope by beating A. C. Nielsen, University of Wisconsin, in straight sets, 6—2, 6—3. Vories also played fast tennis against Perry [Pat] Segal of Hyde Park in the semi-final round, but lost in two overtime sets, 7—5, 7—5. Nielsen and R. B. Anthony of Armour institute, both of whom suffered unexpected setbacks, staged a comeback when teamed in doubles and eliminated Vories and Walter Kramer, a U High combination, 6—3, 6—3, in the semi-final round. Summaries:

INVITATION SINGLES.

First round—A. L. Lindauer defeated D. F. Wylie, 6—0, 6—4; Jerry Weber won by default from Ralph Burdick.

BOYS' SINGLES.

Final match—A. Exner defeated N. C. Shumway, 6—0, 6—3.

JUNIOR SINGLES.

Third round—H. F. Vories defeated A. C. Nielsen, 6—2, 6—3; Ruthven Pike defeated A. Ries, 6—4, 7—5.

Semifinal round—Pat Segal defeated H. F. Vories, 7—5, 7—5.

JUNIOR DOUBLES.

Second round—A. Nielsen and R. Anthony defeated A. A. Stagg Jr. and B. W. Jones, 7—5, 6—3; H. Vories and W. Kramer defeated L. Smith and B. Zeman, 6—4, 6—3.

Semifinal round—A. Nielsen and R. Anthony defeated H. Vories and W. Kramer, 6—3, 6—3.

ALLEY WEDS; QUITS RACING

Des Moines, Ia., July 12.—[Special.]—The marriage of Tom Alley, auto racer, and Miss Susie Gary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gary of Linden, which occurred last evening at the home of the Rev. A. W. Harned of the Capital Park Methodist church, was the outcome of a romance of less than a year ago. Alley met Miss Gary when he was driving through Linden en route to Omaha. He is planning to give up racing and engage in the automobile business in this city.

MOTOR TOUR FOR MYSTICS.

Hundreds of members of the Mystic A. C. will tour to the great lakes naval training station on July 23 to compete in swimming races, track events, and baseball games. Commandant Moffatt of the training station has invited all members of the club and also other Masons to be his guests on that day. Those wishing to make the trip are requested to get in touch with William Reeds, chairman of the automobile committee of the club.

MANDOT TO FIGHT RUSSELL.

New Orleans, La., July 12.—[Special.]—Joe Mandot, French market pride, and Frankie Russell, also of the French market, are to meet here Labor day. It will be the first fight on a holiday here in some time. The men will go twenty rounds in the new Louisiana auditorium bowl.

Meet to Sanction Bike Events.

The Federation of Cycle clubs will be asked to sanction a five mile motor paced race booked as Saturday night's bike feature at Riverview, at a meeting tonight. A card of events for Sunday afternoon will also be acted on. Local club riders will compete.

SQUAD OF U. S. BOXERS TO FIGHT IN SHANGHAI

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 12.—[Special.]—Several of Jimmy Dime's fighters who have arranged to invade Australia also will fight in Shanghai, China, according to present plans made by the New Castle manager. Dime will take abroad George Chip, Tom McMahon, Joe Chip, Tommy Touhey, Babe Picato, and Patsy Brannigan, sailing next Monday. Dime contracted with Jere Sullivan, a wealthy sporting man of Shanghai, for at least two fights in the Chinese city. Sullivan has promised Dime that he will have several good boxers to pit against the best Dime can produce.

WILLIAMS WINS TECHNICAL K. O.

Baltimore, Md., July 12.—[Special.]—Kid Williams won a technical knockout decision against Alf Mansfield of England tonight in a ten round no decision bout. Mansfield, who showed great skill as a long range boxer, suffered severely from Williams' sledgehammer blows and gave up trying in the fifth round.

For four rounds Mansfield stood up gamely under the jabs that Williams sent to his stomach, his long distance swings having little effect on his stocky antagonist. Williams kept boring in, Mansfield sickening and becoming gradually weaker.

At the end of the fourth session the Briton acknowledged to Referee Abe Ulman that he had no chance against Williams, but his manager persuaded him to go on again. Williams immediately backed him to the ropes, and after a few more jabs in the same place Mansfield feebly extended his right hand, indicating that he was all in.

In the semi-windup K. O. Baker of Wilmington, Del., held Mike Uraine, Washington's fighting cop, to a six round draw in a slugging bee. Baker, packing a southpaw wallop behind which there was plenty of pressure, was unable to live up to his cognomen against Uraine, who was much the cleverer.

TO PICK WELSH'S OPPONENT

Denver, Colo., July 12.—An agreement for a twenty round lightweight championship bout at Colorado Springs Labor day will probably be signed in Chicago early next week between Champion Freddie Welsh and an opponent to be selected in Chicago. Eddie Pitts, promoter of the bout, left today for Chicago with a guarantee of a $17,500 purse for the event.

"YOU KNOW ME, AL" JUST OFF THE PRESS

BY I. E. SANBORN.

WHEN Ringgold W. Lardner wrote "A Busher's Letters" he gave not only the baseball world but the realm of literature something new, something real, and something permanent.

Creating out of his long years' experience with the national diversion and its puppets a composite photograph so true to life that every one at all closely connected with baseball instantly recognized its resemblance to various characters of the diamond, Lardner instantly scored a clean hit.

Within a fortnight of the publication of the first of his "Busher" series "You know me, Al," was heard across the ball fields from one end of America to the other.

So remarkable is Ring Lardner's ability at character sketching that one easily recognizes those who are woven into the stories under fictitious names, while the very language he puts into the mouths of the known characters rings true, denoting a wonderful memory for characteristic expressions.

Many of the incidents actually occurred and the imaginary episodes are so real they may happen in the future.

The George H. Doran company of New York has done baseball fans a service by publishing the series of "Busher's Letters" in book form under the title "You Know Me, Al."

CHICAGO PRO HIGH GUN IN SPRINGFIELD SHOOT.

Springfield, Ill., July 12.—Harrison Kennicott of Chicago was first man in the professional class, hitting 148 out of 150 targets, and C. M. Powers of Decatur led the amateur field, getting 144 out of 150 targets, at the meet of the Illinois Trap Shooters' league today. Men were entered from Lincoln, Bloomington, Decatur, and Alexander. The shoot will end tomorrow.

DIXIE HIGHWAY TOURISTS HERE FROM FLORIDA

Burned Indian brown by the sun of six states, twenty-six motorists in ten cars from Lake county, Florida, finished their first annual trip over the Dixie highway here yesterday afternoon. They have been on the road fourteen days, averaging 100 miles a day for the entire trip.

They were led into Chicago by W. M. Dilsaver of the W. J. Howey company, who was one of Carl G. Fisher's party on its initial inspection tour over the great north and south road last fall. The severe heat told heavily on motorists and tires. Four of the party were ill when they arrived. The intense heat caused much tire trouble and, while all were enthusiastic over their trip, none was not glad the journey was over.

Roads Only Fair.

According to Dilsaver, the roads are in only fair condition. In some places they are badly cut, due to the heavy traffic which has been coming from the south all summer. "The best roads of the entire trip were found in northern Indiana after we left the Dixie highway last night," said Dilsaver. "Florida ranks second and Georgia third.

"The roads through Kentucky and Tennessee are the worst, but a vast amount of improvement is being carried on and probably by fall the highway will be in splendid shape. We were forced to leave the main road at Danville because the condition of the highway through Illinois is shameful."

Guests at South Shore.

The party was met at the South Shore Country club by W. G. Edens of the Chicago Association of Commerce, representatives of the Southern and Hamilton clubs, and W. J. Howey, one of Florida's big men, who makes his summer home here. Howey was host to the entire Florida delegation at a dinner at the South Shore club.

CUBS LOSE TO PHILS, 6-2; SOX GIVEN TWO LACINGS

Morans Swat Packard in Fourth and Fifth, Scoring Five Tallies.

FRANK SCHULTE STAR.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Another shuffle of the Cubs by Manager Tinker failed to shake them out of the rut and they took a fifth straight licking yesterday when the Phillies beat them, 6 to 2, in the second skirmish of their campaign here.

The Tinx exhibited more fighting spirit, in spite of their continued batting slump, but did their fighting spasmodically and individually instead of collectively and concentratedly, with the result they could not overcome the lead whcih the enemy piled up off Gene Packard in the third and fourth innings. Previous to those explosive rounds Gene seemed to have the numbers of the Phillies, but when they did solve his southpaw stuff they mauled it terrifically.

The shakeup brought Ed Mulligan back into the defense at shortfield until a hit was needed in the seventh inning, then Mulligan retired to let a pinch hitter foul out for him, after which Zeider went back to short and perpetrated all the errors the Cubs made. They came too late to affect the result, however.

Schulte Makes Star Plays.

Otherwise the defense of the Cubs was sterling, and better than that in spots. Schulte came to the rescue of Packard and Seaton, who spelled Gene, with two one handed catches that were corkers, and both were made perilously near the bleacher barrier. Both times Schulte robbed Niehoff of what would have been at least two baggers.

The first one was pulled in the third inning just before the Phillies began their first rally. It was a single handed pinch while backing up against the screen. The second robbery was performed in the seventh, and to do it Schulte had to tear toward the foul line and catch the ball backhanded with one fist as he ran. Niehoff made two doubles that couldn't be reached, and would have hung up quite a stick record but for Wildfire.

Al Demaree held the Cubs to five hits, the majority of them long drives, but was so good in the pinches that only twice could the Tinx complete the circuit on him. He contributed a wild pitch toward Chicago's second run and made the only error for the enemy when he tried to cope with a pop fly which nobody else seemed to want.

Knabe Scores First Tally.

The Cubs looked like winners for three rounds. Knabe celebrated his promotion to the lead off by smashing the first ball pitched into the far corner of left field for two bases. Flack bunted him to third and Williams brought him home with a long fly to Paskert.

Not a man reached first off Packard in three rounds. Two went out in the fourth before the blows began to fall safe. Then they became a bombardment. Stock, Cravath, and Luderus ripped off singles which scored two runs with the aid of Cravath's unopposed steal of second base. Whitted closed that spasm with a line drive to Williams.

The Phillies resumed their hot fire in the sixth. Bancroft and Burns singled sharply. Demaree rolled out without hurting anybody, but Paskert singled and Niehoff doubled where Schulte wasn't. Three runs went over before Packard was removed from danger and Seaton sent out to stop things. He held the Phillies for three innings, with the aid of Schulte's second circus catch which kept the Phillies from counting at least one run in the seventh.

Saier's Single Scores Run.

The home seventh brought a little hope to the rooters. Schulte walked with one out and made second on a wild pitch. Saier scored him with a hot single over second. Zwilling fouled out for Mulligan and Fischer popped.

Zeider booted his first chance with nobody out in the eighth, but Stock, who benefited by the boot, got no farther than third. In the ninth Hendrix replaced Seaton on the mound and a pass, a single, Zeider's second error, and Niehoff's second double counted one more Philly run. It would have been more than that if Flack had not cut down a runner trying to go from first to third on a base hit.

Zim opened the last half with sizzling triple over Paskert's head, and nobody could bring him home. Schulte rolled out to Demaree. Saier popped and Mann, taking Zeider's turn, perished by way of Bancroft.

Boston Wins Opener, 2-1, After Weaver Is Chased—Second, 3 to 1.

TERRY'S SLIPS COSTLY

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Boston, Mass., July 12.—[Special.]—Buck Weaver's peculiar exclamation of disgust, or protest, or disapproval proved costly to the White Sox today, for in the first game he delivered the peculiar exclamation when called out on a close play at first base, and Umpire Chill immediately put him out of the game. Zeb Terry, who joined the Sox today, took Buck's place and kicked away the game. Of course, Buck also was out of the second game, and the Sox dropped that too, losing the first, 2 to 1, and the second 3 to 1.

What Weaver said would not go at all in parlor society, but as he wasn't addressing the remark to the umpire or meaning it when he said it, it looked as if Chill was hasty in ordering the Sox star out. At the time the score was tied, at 1 to 1, it was the eighth inning, and Felsch was on first base with one out. Weaver bounded a slow one down to Barry, close to second base, and almost every one in the press stand thought he beat Barry's throw.

Terry's Errors Lose Game.

When the Red Sox went to bat in their half, Terry went to short and made two awful errors. With one out, Walker slammed one down to Zeb, who fumbled and then made a wide throw to first base. Walker turned his ankle on the play and McNally ran for him. Gardner bunted him to second, and then, with two out, Scott rolled an easy one to Terry, who fumbled the ball, then kicked it, then chased it, picked it up and fumbled it some more, and before he finally got a good hold on the ball, McNally had raced home from second with the winning run. The Sox could do nothing in the ninth.

Up to the Weaver incident the Sox had had the better of the fight. Reb Russell was going in swell form, with Shore opposing him. It seemed only a question of time before Chicago would drive in the winning run. After Weaver was put out half of the fighting spirit of the team was gone and, of course, it was missing all through the second game.

Williams Beaten by Leonard.

Claude Williams was sent to the rubber for the second, opposed by Dutch Leonard, but Claude wasn't as strong as on the first day—but Leonard was stronger. Claude might have won if his mates could have delivered a punch on any one of several openings. In the first inning a pair of singles with a sacrifice between them netted one run for Boston, and it was the fourth before the Sox tied the count. Eddie Collins singled, but was forced by Jackson. Joe then reached second on a wild pitch and moved to third on Ness' out, from where he cantered home when John Collins slammed a triple to right.

That was the only business the Sox could do in the entire game. Twice after that double plays killed their chances. In the fifth, after two were out, the Red Sox won the game. With two gone, Barry dropped a single back of second and scored when Lewis poled one against the left wall for two bases. Gainer followed with a smack to McMullin, who pegged high and wide to first base. Ness got the ball and his man, but allowed the ball to be knocked out of his hands in the collision, and Lewis scored before it could be recovered.

Crowd of 8,000 at Game.

The Sox trudged on to the finish helplessly. A pinch hitter was sent in for Williams, and Cicotte did the slabbing for the final round. At the finish every Chicagoan was soaked with perspiration and wearing an expression of great disgust. The weather was terrifically hot, but there were 8,049 persons who paid to get into the ball park and they didn't seem to mind it a bit. Score:

Four Hits, Two Walks, and Three Boots Mixed in Winning Rally.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 12.—Boston defeated Pittsburgh, 6 to 5, winning in the eighth when four hits, two bases on balls, and three errors resulted in all its runs. Mamaux was knocked off the slab in this inning, giving way to Jacobs after five runs had been scored. Cooper finished. Rudolph started for Boston, but was later relieved by Barnes, who was replaced by Hughes in the eighth. Score:

Cincinnati, O., July 12.—In a pitchers' battle, which lasted only six innings on account of rain, New York won the second game of the series, 1 to 0. New York's only run was made on an error. Schulz allowed one hit, but that brought in Doyle, who had reached second when Griffith muffed his fly. Anderson allowed only two hits. Score:

Notes

Same adversaries today.

Lake zephyrs wafting through the stands at frequent intervals made the Cub park the coolest spot in town.

Ump Eason was ill with near-ptomaine poisoning the night before, but reported for duty and stuck to the job to the finish.

Knabe probably will be a fixture at second for quite a spell, as Alex McCarthy's injured knee still refuses to work without creaking. This makes his leg so stiff that he cannot travel fast or field bounders.

Some of the spectators were not wise to President Weeghman's announcement that they could have any foul balls batted into the stands for souvenirs and returned them politely to the players. We started to keep track of the balls that were retained but stopped when Manager Joe began balling up the box score.

Williams popped a fly over the pitcher's mound with one down in the fourth. Burns and all the infielders started after it and made several kinds of noise, but as nobody said anything about taking it Demaree put up his own hands and let the ball filter through them. Cy was pinched stealing second in a minute.

Notes

Boston, Mass., July 12.—[Special.]—It will be like a day off for the Sox tomorrow. They have only one game to play. After the game here the Rowland troupe will scoot to New York on an evening train, sleep in Gotham, and move over to Philadelphia the following morning.

Jack Ness arrived this morning, along with Terry, and played first base in the second game. He got nary a base hit, but slammed hot ones at the pitcher twice.

Jack Fournier got three hits in the first game, but was taken out in favor of Ness in the second, just the same. Ness is likely to appear now against all left handers and Fournier when a right hander is opposing the Sox. The series here now stands four for Boston and two for Chicago. If the Sox can flimflam the Red Sox out of the final game here in some manner their record will not be so bad. Just now it is difficult to see any means of flimflamming.

Catcher Cady got a base on balls in the first game when only three balls had been called. Russell was passing him purposely, but he fouled off the first one for a strike, then, after three more wide ones had been pitched, went to first base. The mistake was noticed then, and Russell pitched another wide ball with Cady clear down on first base. It looked like the umpire ordered such a thing. What we want to know is why Russell didn't pitch two more strikes while his victim was down on first base.

INDIANS REGAIN LEAD BY BEATING YANKEES TWICE

New York, July 12.—Cleveland ousted the New York Americans from the lead today, when the Yankees were defeated in both sections of a double header, 1 to 0 and 6 to 3.

The first game was a pitchers' battle between Caldwell and Bagby. Chapman and Turner opened the second inning with singles, and the former scored when Daly hit into a double play.

In the second game Gould, a recruit from Davenport, held New York to two hits until the eighth inning, when he allowed four and Coveleskie relieved him.

BROWNS BEAT MACKS TWICE.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 12.—St. Louis won both games today, the first 8 to 3 and the other in ten innings, 2 to 1. The Browns pounded Hasselbacher and Williams in the opener, while Plank kept his old mates' hits scattered. In the second contest Johnson tied the score in the ninth on his triple and Sisler's sacrifice fly, and St. Louis won in the tenth on Marsans' safe bunt and wild throws by Myers and Witt. Manager Jones protested the game won by the Macks on Tuesday because Walsh of Philadelphia, who was put off the bench by Umpire Owens in the first game was permitted to play in the second. Scores:

DETROIT, 4; WASHINGTON, 2.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—Superior pitching by Coveleskie over a trio of Washington pitchers gave Detroit a 4 to 2 victory over Washington. Poor throws by Heilman figured in both runs scored by Washington, while Detroit's runs were earned. Burn's single in the eighth scored two men. Dumont had walked. In that inning Crawford, batting for Bush, walked. Boland ran for him and reached second, but was taken out to have Fuller run for him. Fuller then scored. Score:

In the Wake of the News

By RING W. LARDNER

LIKE OLD TIMES.

THE clerk at the Aldine hotel in Philadelphia told me the St. Louis Browns were stopping there and that Manager Jones was in at breakfast. So I went in at breakfast, too, and, sure enough, Manager Jones paid for it. And also, as was his custom in 1908, he spilled a lot of interesting dope, interesting to me and, perhaps, to you.

"I like the Yankees," he said. "They've got good pitchers and enough of them. And they've got about the most consistent lot of hitters in the league. If the top of the batting order doesn't deliver, the fellas that are supposed to be weak come across and break up the game. They look like a club that a lefthander could beat, but Magee and Peck and Nunamaker alone are liable to do enough damage against a lefthander to more than offset the weakness of the rest. And this Pipp, he looks like the best ball player in the world against us. Any time in this next series where it's his turn to bat in a pinch and there's an empty base, I'm going to have my pitchers walk him. I'm not going to give him any more chances to clean up."

"The White Sox really haven't got a hitter who is consistently good against lefthanders. Eddie Collins is fair and Felsch is fair, but if you pitch right to them they won't kill any infielders. Schalk is a great hitter only when you stick them where he wants them. Keep them right in at him and he won't do anything. The sluggers on the White Sox team, Jackson and Collins and Fournier, are always laying for that high fast one. They can certainly slough it. But they'll never bother a low curve outside. My pitchers are always trying to give them what they can't hit, but of course all pitchers are liable to slip up once in awhile and pitch where they're not aimnf. I bet there isn't a man of the Chicago club who would hit .300 if the pitchers would keep the ball down round their knees."

"We've got some double headers on this trip and I'm looking forward to them a whole lot more cheerfully than the clubs we've got them with. I'm carrying twelve pitchers and this is really the first time this season that my pitchers have been right. Plank will go fine from now on and you want to keep an eye on Koob. He's one of the best young lefthanders I ever looked at. And maybe you think I'm not glad to get Hamilton back. We sent him to Detroit on thirty days' trial. If they liked him they were to give us $10,000. He was wild up there and then they had a chance to get Mitchell from Cleveland for the waiver price. So they returned Hamilton to us and now I wouldn't take $50,000 for him.

"The boys tell me that before the White Sox got Eddie Collins it wasn't a very difficult matter to grab off the battery signs. Schalk used to signal his whole infield what was going to be pitched. As soon as he had given the pitcher a sign, he'd get up, lean over and put his hand on his knees. If he kept his arms stiff, it was to going to be fast ball. If he crooked them, it was going to be a curve. Collins made him cut that out and spoiled a lot of fun."

"I've read several times that I killed Ed Walsh. If you think I did, ask Ed himself. Ed never pitched as much per season for me as for his other managers. He never was allowed to pitch to the batters in practice. He never was allowed to do any pitching in the morning practice. That's what hurts good pitchers. Ed didn't even warm up as hard as other pitchers before the games he was going to pitch. He didn't have to. He did all his work right in the game itself and he'll tell you that it didn't hurt him anywhere near as much as warming up all the time and pitching in practice would have done."

Evas Release Wehland.

Evansville, Ind., July 12.—[Special.]—Jimmy Wehland, third baseman of the Evansville Central league team, today was released by Manager Punch Knoll.

CUBS BUY KELLY, HOOSIER FIELDER

In an effort to yank the Cubs out of their slump President Weeghman yesterday completed a deal for the purchase of Outfielder Joe Kelly of the Indianapolis American association team. The transaction calls for the immediate delivery of the player, who is expected to report to Manager Tinker this morning.

In exchange for Kelly the Chicago club will give Indianapolis two players and a check. The names of the Cubs who are to be discarded and the figures that will be inscribed on the check were not made public by the local club, but the inference was conveyed that the cash consideration was around $12,000.

Kelly was a .300 hitter in the association last season and although afflicted with malaria at the beginning of this year he has pounded the pill lately until he has raised his stick average close to .300. He also is reputed to be fast on his feet. Which one of his left handed outfielders Kelly will replace Manager Tinker had not decided last night.

Union Giants, 15; Dyersville, 3.

OLD MAROON BATTERY BEATS BUTLERS, 4-3, IN TWELVE INNINGS

With the old time battery of 1909, Page and Steinbrecher, working at top form the Maroon summer nine defeated Butler Brothers, 4 to 3, after twelve innings of snappy baseball yesterday on Stagg field. The game was exciting and slightly turbulent at times. Page's pitching and good fielding featured. The Midway team will play at Kenosha Saturday afternoon.

MURPHY NOW CONTROLS OLD CUB BALL GROUND.

Cincinnati, O., July 12.—Charles W. Murphy, former president of the Chicago National baseball club, became the sole owner of the former baseball park of the Cubs on the west side in Chicago today when he concluded negotiations with Mr. Charles P. Taft for the purchase of a one-half interest in the real estate. The ball park was originally acquired from the John R. Walsh estate, Mr. Murphy buying a half interest and Mrs. Taft owning the other half. Since the Cubs were acquired by Charles Weeghman and his associates, they have been playing at the former Federal league park.

Some time after the Chicago ball park property was purchased Mr. Murphy, with Mr. and Mrs. Taft, purchased the Philadelphia National league ball park. Mr. Murphy, in addition to completing the purchase of the Chicago property, also acquired the remaining 50 per cent interest of Mr. and Mrs. Taft in the Philadelphia National league park.

DR. A. C. COTTON, DEAN OF CHILD'S SPECIALISTS, DIES

Death Takes One of the Best Known Pediatrists in the Country.

Dr. Arthur Cleveland Cotton, dean of Chicago's specialists in children's diseases and one of the best known pediatrists in the country, died yesterday of heart disease at his residence at 3218 Jackson boulevard.

Dr. Cotton was 69 years old. He was born in Griggsville, Pike county, Ill., on May 18, 1847, and was graduated from the Illinois State Normal university in 1869.

He served through the civil war as a drummer boy of Company F of the One Hundred and Thirty-seventh Illinois volunteer infantry and after the war resumed his studies and entered Rush Medical college, from which he graduated in 1878. He married Miss Nettie U. McDonald May 2, 1893.

Held Many Positions.

Throughout his long career he held the position of professor of children's diseases in Rush Medical college, and at the time of his death was attending physician at the contagious disease hospital. He was attending physician to children at the Presbyterian hospital; consultant to the Central Free dispensary and the Jackson Park sanitarium; former city physician and for years a member of the staff of the county hospital.

He was a former president of the Illinois State Medical society, Chicago Medical society, Chicago Pediatric society, and the Chicago Medical Examiners' association.

Author of Medical Works.

He was the author of many medical books, among them "Diseases of Children," "Anatomy, Physiology, and Hygiene of the Developing Period," "Care of the Infant," and many monographs on pediatrics.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two children, Mildred Cleveland Cotton and John Rowell Cotton.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Warren Avenue Congregational church under the auspices of George H. Thomas post No. 5, G. A. R. Burial will be at Graceland with Garfield lodge No. 686, A. F. & A. M. officiating.

WRITER TAFT IS DROPPED BY NATIONAL PRESS CLUB

Man Accused of Plagiarism from Frank Norris' Novel "Blix" Loses His Membership.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—William Nelson Taft has been dropped from membership in the National Press club by the board of directors as a result of his controversy with the Atlantic Monthly over the alleged plagiarism from "Blix," a novel by the late Frank Norris, of the story, "Thirty Fathoms Deep," which appeared in the June issue of the magazine.

Taft was identified several weeks ago as "Herbert Tolan," the name used by the writer of the story when it was sent to the Atlantic.

At 1/24 the Cost

The cost of advertising properly done disappears in the economies which it effects.

Even in a great national medium the cost of advertising is less than other forms of salesmanship.

Apparently the cheapest method of communication between a manufacturer and prospective customer would be a bare United States post-card, costing one cent.

Yet the cost of reaching this same prospective customer with a full-page message in

The Designer

The Woman's Magazine

The Delineator

would be only 1/3 of a cent, although the message occupies a space eight times the size of the post-card, presents a far better appearance, and meets a more cordial welcome.

Butterick magazines will print and deliver a message the size of a post-card to their readers for 1/24 the cost of the bare post-card, and this leaves out of account the cost of addressing and printing the post-cards and the practical impossibility of getting for yourself such a selected mailing list as constitutes the Butterick clientele.

THOUSANDS AT OPENING OF MOVIE EXPOSITION

JAM COLISEUM TO SEE FAVORITE SCREEN STARS

Essanay Booth, with Walthall and Others on View, Center of Attraction.

"KEEP MOVING" THE SLOGAN.

BY KITTY KELLY.

"Keep movin'" was the slogan of the moving picture exposition that opened at the Coliseum last night.

Thither thronged everybody apparently till it seemed as if Chicago's whole city directory had turned out. That was the place to go to find out how many folks there were in town one didn't know. The figures turned in by the exposition's representatives counted 38,972 folk as having passed through the entrance. Anybody who tried to navigate one of the aisles past the Essanay, Vitagraph, or Metro booths would cordially agree to any number, even a million.

For the Coliseum's great floor is all cut up into little streets, with booths for the different companies, ranging along the sides and down the middle, and the people had to keep moving, shoved on by earnest expostulators, else there would have been in some spots a congestion that would have reached to the Republicans' yellow bunting on the roof.

Booths Attractive.

Pretty booths they are, variously decorated and designed, characterized mostly by trellis work, with bright flowers climbing over it. Bluebird's is an especially attractive one of this type. Paramount has a Roman garden effect with gold fish swimming in the pools. Metro went in for the festive Japanese, with much grass and vines and near-bamboo. Small yellow ducks swam in the pond, and incidentally made a lot of bother by threatening to run under folks' feet, and a quartet of Hawaiian looking people made music spasmodically. Mr. Bushman in a gold frame looks down benignly. It is said that is the only way he will look down, for it appears there is no hope of Metro visitors, in spite of previous announcement.

Everywhere there were bursts of spasmodic mechanical music from various booths devoted to the exploitation of such instruments. For it isn't only picture producers that hold the floor here. All kinds of contrivances having to do with exhibition, from exit signs to artificial flowers, from projecting machines to poster frames are at home in booths.

Crowd Grabs Folders.

The throngs passed along anxiously grabbing the folders, pictures, and posters doled out to them from the different stands. "I must take these home to the baby," gasped one woman, rushing along for another trophy to add to her armful. For the exposition is surely long on literature if it is short on stars.

All the stars promised were there last night, but they only occupied one booth and when 38,000 people are trying to see them the chances for about 37,820 are pretty slim. As it was the crowds mobbed around the Essanay booth squinting eyes, craning necks, climbing over each other.

"O, I see Richard Travers and Henry Walthall," gasped a girl, standing on a chair and stretching her neck beyond the normal limit of necks. "I wouldn't give 2 cents to see any of them," snapped another who had been vainly trying for ten minutes, as she turned away despairingly, and attempted to worm herself out of the human mass surrounding her.

Not Crazy About Him.

One girl, crawling back from the front where she had somehow wedged herself, exclaimed to herself—though one could not locate the party of the comparison—"Huh, I wouldn't trade my Jack for him. I'm not crazy about him."

The Essanayers who were really visible were Henry Walthall, who admitted he was hotter than he was happy; Richard Travers, Earnest Maupam, Bryant Washburn, John Cossar, Edward Arnold, and white haired Thomas Commerford. Edna Mayo in a bepuffed blue silk frock, Nell Craig in a droopy, chiffony hat and a beruffled pink net gown, and Marguerite Clayton in a soft pink net with shimmering streaks of trimming lightened the effect of the dark clothes of their player comrades. A host of pretty extras lent charm to the booth.

Rose Tapley was the only Vitagrapher present, and she spent the evening being amiable to the passing crowds, while she had spent the afternoon making cretonne coverings for the chairs and settling the spot so it looked like home.

The Chaplin checks in the Mutual booth drew a small but consistently present crowd. There are thirteen of these checks, made out for varying amounts—two for $5,000, one for $100,000, one for $40,000, and nine for $10,000.

The American theatrical hospital had a tent and nurses to care for any one overcome by heat or crowd, but it was a husky gathering and nobody needed such services.

Where Was Big Bill?

Around and around went the people, watching, crushing in where the live attractions tempted, eating ice cream cones and sighing over the heat.

At 9 o'clock in marched some Reel fellows and the Universal band which made music now and then the rest of the evening. I don't know that the exposition was officially opened. It hadn't been when I got there and I saw no signs of it thereafter, but you never can tell what may have happened.

Anyhow, Mayor Thompson was not expected as an opener; the city attorney was the official looked for.

And then somebody said "Keep movin.'"

A Free Movie Show.

Away at the end was a space partitioned in with two enticing doors. A peep in showed a good sized enclosure, filled with chairs filled with people intently watching the pictures flashing on the screen at the end of the room. It was as hot, almost, as State street at noon, but it was a free "movie show."

"Full house; no more seats!" chanted the youth at the doors.

"Free dancing on the floor upstairs!" shouted another youth, and a climb above discovered a good sized floor with many folks seated round the edge and many more fox trotting in the middle to the syncopated rhythm of unceasing music.

"Keep movin'" is the spirit of the exposition.

THERE ARE ENOUGH TYPES STROLLING AROUND TO MAKE THE PLACE LOOK LIKE AN EMPLOYMENT AGENCY

THIS IS EASY WHEN PRESS AGENTS ARE HANDY

BY BOB LEE.

Reporting the little suave drolleries of those concerned in astrophotography becomes a lissome task when the stars are at hand, the photographers are hard by, and the press agents are brimming with ideas. For instance:

"Write it as though you were going to tell about astronomy," said Harry Reichenbach of the World concern. "You can write about stars and the milky way and the big dipper and you can tell it as though you were going to buy a telescope to look for stars and such like."

We sought Webster:

"Astronomy—To distribute, regulate. The science which treats of the heavenly bodies."

"What did I tell you?" demanded Reichenbach. "Right there it is in the dictionary. The toughest things in the motion picture business is to hire enough of those heavenly bodies for a cast. Next you gotta regulate 'em and then distribute the films. That's a swell stunt."

◆

Ralph Kettering, who is being watched closely by Jones, Linick & Schaefer since he bought a car, walked through the Hotel Sherman lobby. One of the lady press agents of dazzling auburn hair was with him. They walked up to S. M. Spedon of the Vitagraph studios, the dean of the press agents.

"You know Miss Billie Burke, don't you, Mr. Spedon?" asked Kettering.

"Sure thing," bowed Spedon with all the delighted amazement in the world. "We rode to Inceville on the same train once. Do you remember that trip, Miss Burke?"

"How could I ever forget it?" burbled the shameless impostor.

"Star fish," muttered Kettering, referring to Reichenbach's glossary of astronomical terms, and walking away.

S. L. Rothapfel is as thorough a New Yorker as ever came from Oklahoma. He goes into ecstasies over little old Broadway just as a southerner from Bismarck, N. D., applauds "Dixie."

Mr. Rothapfel came down to look over things here on earth a year or so ago and visited Chicago. He was going to tip us off to a few things we ought to have out here, such as street cars, napkins, and quill toothpicks, and was so profoundly overcome with the discovery that we had installed these conveniences in advance of him that he went home to dear old (not Oklahoma) Broadway. Some of the Chicago motion pictureites chided Mr. Rothapfel in a jovial way.

They were having a business meeting of the big noises in reeldom at the Hotel Sherman yesterday, and a number of telegrams of regret were read. Among them:

"Doctor advises me bad for my health to come to Chicago. Sincere regrets, etc. S. L. ROTHAPFEL."

"He's an astrologer," commented Mr. Reichenbach.

"There's a star," said Henry Walthall of the Essanay group who were in preparation for "Essanay night" at the Coliseum. He pointed to Vic. Eubank, publicity expert for his company. Eubank was hobbling around the Coliseum on a pair of crutches, achieved as the result of a recent experiment in automobile tree climbing.

"Vic has saved almost $2,000,000 since the accident."

"You don't mean it," said Edna Mayo, who is not infrequently pictured with Walthall.

"Yes, sir," said Walthall, "But it's been at an awful cost. Two restaurants have gone broke, and Vic hasn't been able to play poker."

This was told, too.

The latter part of each week in the newspaper composing rooms sees much theatrical advertising copy for the Sunday editions. One printer usually has charge of making up the advertising forms. This particular printer was standing at the head of the form reading the advertisements in the type, which, as those familiar with printing shops know, is done upside down. The printer was not familiar with the work, and presently he arrived at the advertisement of Jones, Linick & Schaefer and read aloud:

"Doane's Liniment and Chauffeur." He turned to the foreman: "Hey, Bill, what's this medicine ad doin' here?"

NEW "COLD" WHITE LIGHT SOLVES A MOVIE PROBLEM.

Paper Rolls Now Can Be Substituted for Celluloid Under the New Process.

PARIS, July 11.—The substitution of paper rolls for celluloid films in moving picture machines, made possible by the new "cold" light discovered by the French engineer Dussaud, which is described to the Academy of Science by Prof. Branley, with whom Dussaud studied the new light, is obtained by automatic separation of heat rays from luminous rays which occur together in all sources of light hitherto known to science.

The quest of an absolutely pure light, devoid of all heat, long has been one of the great problems of modern physics. The electric light is the nearest approach to this ideal, but it gives off a certain amount of heat.

M. Dussaud has been working on this problem for many years. The light obtained by his method is so intense that it is possible to throw images from newspaper illustrations, picture postcars, and photographic prints on a screen even in a lighted room as clearly and sharply as if they were glass lantern slide.

MAY REDUCE BIG FILM SALARIES

At the Hotel Sherman Motion Picture Exhibitors' league still holds the delegates chained to sessions which have been increased from one to two a day, with no prospect of release until the latter part of the week.

Yesterday there came up a threatening—for high priced players—agitation in regard to the salary bugaboo. Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, advocated less pay and more binding contracts, putting the players into a state of employment bondage similar to that enforced on baseball slingers.

P. A. Powers, treasurer of Universal, talking informally, said: "We will have to stop paying stars a thousand dollars a day. That's what makes the cost of pictures. Then the exhibitor has to pay higher rentals to get the person he must have, and he cannot make a program out of that person alone. Exhibitors can't keep up the pace and neither can producers. Most pictures are being made, not on the income from motion pictures but on promotion money, which makes mighty hard competition for the fellows who are struggling along trying to make more pictures out of the money they have gotten from previous ones."

Another trouble Mr. Powers sees with the picture situation is the lack of good stories. "If good writers would study the screen and try to do a story adapted to it, and burn the midnight oil over it, making the scenario so definite that any wooden headed director could put it on, we might have something worth while. As it is, somebody writes a magazine story, sells it to a magazine, and then tries to sell it—a second hand production adapted to printing, not photographing—to a picture company for more money than he got from the magazine.

"The public is tired of pictures, of course, because it is compelled to see them whether they are good or not. Stories, a lot of them as poor as any pictures made, that fill the magazines do not have to be read unless a person wants to. But motion pictures as a form of amusement are as firmly fixed as books, and will last as long.

"However, I don't expect to see the motion picture problems settled till I have long pink whiskers reaching to my knees and sit on the front porch swinging my cane."

Film Flickers

Amidst the shifting sands of near information that has been dealt out by publicity men to helpless editors anent this motion picture exposition, there is one fact that is as a rock. That is Mary Pickford's presence. She is going to be here on Saturday. She is going to appear at the Coliseum and at Orchestra hall, in spite of the fact that she is a reserved little person who doesn't like being in crowds.

Today is Clara Kimball Young day. Miss Young is really here and will be there, on a pedestal, Aaron Jones promises so that folks will have a chance to see her. Last evening she visited several of the Ascher theaters.

Tonight there is to be a Universal moving picture ball in the Louis XVI. room of the Hotel Sherman, which is scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock and last "until the morning after." It is strictly informal and evening clothes are not required.

Mother Seeks Orphan Girl for Home by Lake

Asks The Tribune to Find Child Whom She Can Love as Her Own.

SOME OF ESSENTIALS

Do you know a little orphan for a wealthy home? There is a rich little boy whose name is Truby, who wants a sister. The little boy's mother has written to THE TRIBUNE, and this is her request for a daughter:

> Will THE TRIBUNE, which helps everybody, help me? I wish to find a little girl, between the ages of 3 and 8, to care for and love as my own. I should prefer a child who is without parents or natural protectors, but one whose coming into the world is unshadowed—a child preferably of the upper middle class. I am prepared to give much to the right one.

Yesterday, in response to the appeal, a reporter went out to the address—which, like the names, is omitted by request—on an exclusive street. Two maids and a butler fluttered about to admit the visitor. And the little boy who wanted a sister was curled up in an armchair with a picture book.

Husband and Three Sons.

His mother was rocking in the sun parlor that gave a view of Lake Michigan. She was glancing down the lake for the homecoming of her loved ones. And she was not disappointed, for soon a launch with her husband and three of her sons sailed into the quay.

The men folks of the household go to their business downtown every day in their own sailing vessel. And in another city their paper mills are humming for these people who have everything they want—but a daughter.

All Children Boys.

"I have been looking everywhere for a little girl," the mother said. "All my children are boys. I am the mother of five sons. The eldest is 32 and the youngest 10. One of them is dead. I have always longed for a daughter. You see, I never had a mother, a sister, nor an aunt, as other women have. My mother died when I was 6 years old. I have a granddaughter, but I cannot have her with me as I would have a daughter of my own—to fondle and dress and love in the villa in California, where I expect to go in two weeks for the summer. I should like to take the child with me when I go, if the right one can be found.

"I should not wish to deprive parents or natural protectors of a little girl. Therefore, I prefer a child whose parents are not living. But I should wish to know all about the antecedents of the child. I wish to have good material to build on for the future woman. Sometimes good material turns out bad, but one must take a chance.

Good Ancestors.

"I should wish to have the assurance of good ancestors—not necessarily lords and ladies—but good, respectable parents for my future daughter. Of course, I wish her to be attractive. I consider a child good looking who shows evidences of refinement—she doesn't have to be a raving beauty. I don't care whether she is a blonde or a brunette.

"I wanted to take a baby—but the family thinks I have brought up enough babies already, and insist that the child be at least 8 years old. I shouldn't want her to be older than 10 years then.

"With all the restrictions, perhaps there will be few eligible children found. But if such a child could be found, I knew THE TRIBUNE could find her. So I asked for the assistance. I should like to have her as soon as possible."

Father of Boy Approves.

The white haired father of the little boy on the pony added his approval to his wife's plan.

"She wants a little girl to dress and love—some one to pet," he said. "All her life she has been deprived of the affection of her own sex, and she has longed for a daughter many years. We will not adopt the child—as we have four sons—but we shall provide generously for the right one—after we have found the one suitable child—after a trial. There are fifteen acres of ground about the villa in California in which she will grow up. And as a daughter she will have the same advantages as our sons."

THESE LAUNDRY PEOPLE "PUSH US MEN" TOO FAR!

"Kicker" Points Out That Charging Extra for Wrapping Paper Is Near the Last Straw.

When the price of men's collars was increased only a muttering protest was heard, but now a regular kick is due. Because of the high cost of paper several laundries have begun to charge extra for wrappings. About the loudest complaint voiced is that of Frank J. Silka, 4937 Pensacola avenue, who yesterday sent the following note to his laundry after 5 cents had been added to his bill for wrapping paper. He says:

"Dear Sirs: I didn't mind the raise in the price of collars, but when you begin to charge us for the paper with which you wrap up our collars and shirts, I think it is too much. Remember us men can be pushed so far.

"Now, if you want to make a hit with your customers and save money also, just wrap up our laundry in CHICAGO TRIBUNES. In fact, we would prefer TRIBUNES to ordinary wrapping paper anyway."

Notice to laundries: TRIBUNES cost only 1 cent.

LABOR MEN PUT IN JAIL PENDING JURY'S VERDICT

Predicted Panel Will Deliberate Three Days Before Reaching Conclusion.

PENALTY 5 YEARS OR $2,000.

BULLETIN.

Early this morning the lights in the jury room were turned on again, and it is believed the jury unable to sleep, because of the heat, returned to its deliberations.

Whether found guilty or acquitted, the seventeen defendants in the labor conspiracy cases must spend at least a day in jail pending the deliberations of the jurors in whose hands their fate now rests.

Predictions in Judge Scanlan's court last night were that at least three days would be occupied in the deliberations and balloting, as each case must be passed upon separately.

Here Are Prisoners.

In event of conviction, each of the following defendants is subject to a sentence to prison not to exceed five years or a fine of $2,000, or both:

WILLIAM CLAUSS, business agent of the Fixture Hangers' union.
JOHN F. CLEARY, business agent of the Electrical Workers' union, local No. 134.
CHARLES CROWLEY, business agent of the Fixture Hangers' union.
FRANK CURRAN, business agent of the Painters' District council, No. 14.
ISADORE GORDON, former business agent of the Painters' District council.
HARRY H. GRASS, former business agent of the Painters' District council.
CHARLES HANSON, business agent of the Painters' union, local 637.
HUGO HAHN, business agent of the Glaziers' union.
THOMAS KELLY, business agent of the Electrical Workers' union, local No. 134.
FRED MADER, business agent of the Fixture Hangers' union.
JOHN W. MURPHY, former business agent of the Electrical Workers' union.
WILLIAM E. NESTOR, former business agent of the Painters' District council.
NICHOLAS PEKELSMA, former business agent of the Painnters' District council.
WALTER E. STALEY, business agent of the Glaziers' union.
RAY STEWART, business agent of the Wood Finishers' union.
GEORGE TUCKBREITER, business agent of the Painters' District council.
JOHN WHITE, former business agent of the Painters' District council.

Guards to Prevent Demonstration.

The defendants were taken to the county jail in time for the noon meal, and will remain there without bonds, on orders of Judge Scanlan, until a verdict is reached.

The court in his instructions pointed out that if the jurors were convinced a boycott had been maintained, this was a criminal act. He held that the Painters' District council had a right to prepare a list of places unfair to labor merely for the aid and information of the business agents in the regular performance of their duties.

VISITORS COMMENT ON PHOTOPLAY DEPARTMENTS.

Easterners Say New York Has Nothing Like Those in Some Chicago Newspapers.

Sidney Abels, in the name of V. L. S. E., gathered together a company of publicity men, newspaper writers from New York and the local photoplay reviewers for luncheon at the Chicago Athletic association yesterday.

The visiting New Yorkers made special comment on the Chicago newspapers photoplay departments, declaring they had nothing like them in their city.

E. L. Masters, Vitagraph's publicity representative, dropped a bomb into the assemblage when he made some remarks about newspaper advertising and editorial columns.

Mr. Masters said: "Newspapers should not allow their advertising columns to influence their editorial columns, and advertisers should not expect free publicity in proportion to their paid space. We are all hungry enough for publicity, of course, and we want all we can get, but editors are going to print the kind of stuff we send that they like and feel their readers want. Advertising is legitimate news in itself, and no newspaper should subsidize one news column for another. This may sound like heresy, but it is the attitude that is going to come among producers. They won't want publicity that just depends on the advertisement they carry."

Wid Gunning, who conducts an independent magazine of criticism, made a picture prophecy: "When producers make fewer pictures and make better ones, and get exhibitors to run them three or four days, it will be better for everybody concerned. We will have better photoplays.

AUTOS COLLIDE; ONE HURT.

Son of Head of Millinery Firm Injured, But Furniture Man Escapes.

Two automobiles collided at Sheridan road and Berwyn early this morning. Louis Ogus Jr., son of the head of the Radinovich-Ogus company, milliners, at 1211 South Michigan, was severely injured. Max Strauss, president of the Hartman Furniture company, who was in the other car, escaped.

SOCIETY and Entertainments

All Ready for the Lake Forest Fair.

EVERYTHING is in readiness for the Lake Forest country fair, which will open at the Onwentsia club tomorrow afternoon. Special trains will run on the Northwestern every hour, and the Milwaukee electric will place fifteen minute service cars on the line, to connect with the Northwestern Elevated road.

Business will be entirely suspended all day Saturday in Lake Forest, to enable the merchants to attend the fair. Mrs. William P. Martin, chairman of the café and restaurant committee is preparing to serve 5,000 persons each day. Albert, from the Blackstone, and Mueller, from the Congress, have donated their services and will oversee the café for Mrs. Martin and her committee.

There is to be a cowboy band [Johnny Hand's, by the way], in real cowboy togs, supplying the music for dancing in the Wild West Show or the Camp of the Forty-niners, which is to be John Wentworth's special contribution to the Midway Zone, of which he is chairman.

Mrs. Edward S. Moore is in charge of the chance envelopes, which are to be sold by girls, on the automobile which has been donated for the cause and the Janet Scudder garden fountain.

Mrs. Stanley Field is to have a wonderful little flower shop at the entrance of the ring, where bouquets will be "made up while you wait" and sold by the following little girls: Hollis Letts, Marjorie King, Olga Lihme, Mari Smith, Anita Lihme, Laura Thompson, Margaret Stone, and Ellen Thorne.

They will be gowned in simple white frocks, with big hair ribbons and drooping hats.

The horse show dinner Saturday night is to be the brilliant climax of the show, with dancing on a specially erected platform adjacent to the clubhouse, addresses by prominent men, and "stunts" by everybody.

◆

The formal opening of the new pavilion at the Glen View Country club will be held Saturday evening. The pavilion committee includes Angus S. Hibbard, chairman; Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Conrad H. Poppenhusen, and Louis A. Ferguson. Mrs. Charles E. Dox will be hostess at the bridge party Saturday afternoon.

Miss Marion Talbot of the University of Chicago is spending the summer at her cottage, Pine Tree Cove, Holderness, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Stevenson of 720 Grove avenue, Oak Park, are being congratulated upon the birth of a son, Walter Norman Jr. Mrs. Stevenson was formerly Miss Eleanor Cobb.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sprague II. have as their guests in Lake Forest Mr. and Mrs. Harlan K. Bolton of 1411 North State parkway.

Shuberts Announce New Season Plans

NEW YORK, July 12.—[Special.]—The Shuberts today announced plans for the coming year. In eleven of the twelve theaters under their management they intend to put on twenty new productions. Thirteen of these will be musical, five comedies, one a farce, and one a drama. Their twelfth theater will be given to plays in French by Lucien Bonheur's company.

The only drama announced is an adaptation by Eugene Walter of John Fox's novel, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," which will be given early.

One of the earliest and most important plays will be "Fixing Sister," a comedy by Lawrence Whitman, in which William Hodge will appear. It has been tried out on the road and ran four months in Boston. There will be a new comedy for Louis Mann; also new comedies for Marie Tempest and Lou-Tellegen, after they play last season's rôles on the road. Alfred Sutro has supplied a comedy which will be enacted here before its presentation in London.

◆

James T. Powers, former musical comedy favorite, will have the leading rôle in a farce called "Somebody's Luggage," by Mark Swan, which has been well received out of town.

Anna Held will return to Broadway in one of the musical reviews. The list of musical shows includes the regular winter garden extravaganza, a musical comedy in which Margaret Romaine and John Charles Thomas will be starred, Clifton Crawford in a musical comedy, an English adaptation of Oscar Strauss' operetta, "Rund um die Lieb," book by Robert Bodansky and S. Thelan, and a new Franz Lehar operetta.

There will also be "The Cave Lady," "The Girl from Brazil," from the German of "Die Schöne Schwedin," and "Her Soldier Boy," from the German. "Lieutenant Gus," a German musical comedy, a new operetta by Oscar Strauss, a new musical play by P. G. Wodehouse, with music by Jerome Kern, and a new musical comedy by Cosmo Hamilton, with music by Leslie Stuart. "The Star Gazer," an operetta taken from the German, will be produced early.

With Reginald de Koven the Shuberts will revive De Koven and Smith's "The Highwayman" during the holidays.

Of last year's Broadway's successes the Shuberts will send on tour three companies of "Hobson's Choice," three companies of "The Blue Paradise," two companies of "Alone at Last," and one each of "The Fear Market," "Just a Woman," "A King of Nowhere" [Lou-Tellegen], "A Lady's Name" [Marie Tempest], and "Step This Way" [Lew Fields]. Sam Sothern will again take a company on tour in "A Pair of Silk Stockings," now in its third season. Three winter garden shows will be on tour—Al Jolson in "Robinson Crusoe Jr.," "A World of Pleasure," and "The Passing Show of 1916."

Who Pulled Up the Bishop's "Leather"?

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

DESPLAINES camp meeting has a mystery. Ever since Sunday a still hunt has been going on. The district superintendents, Drs. Lesemann and Walker, have played the rôle of Sherlock Holmes, but they still are baffled. Yesterday they came out in the open and appealed for help. They paid for advertising space in THE TRIBUNE'S lost and found column. Dr. Lesemann announced from the pulpit a cash reward would be given.

The mystery centers in the whereabouts of Bishop Thomas Nicholson's pocket book. Bishop Nicholson was the preacher last Sunday morning. He laid his pocketbook, which was also a notebook, on the pulpit. It disappeared and no one has been able to locate it.

The pocketbook contained railroad tickets and notations of special value to the bishop. Did some of the light fingered gentry eye the bishop when he laid down the book and absorbed himself in his sermon? Did some of the pious yield to temptation and remove it from its place? There was in the days of Joshua a man named Achan who hid a wedge of gold in his tent. Is there an Achan in the Desplaines camp meeting? A vigorous effort will be made today to find the pocketbook.

◆

Yesterday was Evanston day at the camp meeting. The Rev. W. B. Doble, pastor of the Wheadon church, Evanston, led the Bible study, 9 to 10 o'clock; the Rev. James V. Thompson of the board of Sunday schools conducted the Sunday school study from 10 to 11 o'clock; the Rev. H. H. Frost, assistant pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, and the Rev. J. F. Porter, pastor of the Hemenway church, both of Evanston, spoke at the ministers' meeting, and the Rev. T. P. Frost, pastor of the First church, Evanston, preached the sermon.

A lively tilt was indulged in while Mr. Thompson was conducting the Sunday school study. Mr. Thompson criticized a certain public institution for putting out the lights and compelling persons to leave by 10 o'clock. The Rev. J. H. Williams defended the institution.

Mr. Thompson replied by defending the right of a young man to stay up with his sweetheart later than 10 o'clock at night, and declared that he had never forgiven an irate father who began to wind up the clock and put out the cat at 9:45 as a hint for him to be gone by 10 o'clock.

"I didn't like the treatment and I didn't marry the girl," he said. "I think where young people are morally right they ought to be allowed to exercise their own judgment."

Mr. Thompson is associated with the Rev. H. E. Rompel of Belvidere in the conduct of the boys' camp. He announced that today the boys would put on a circus open to the public as the closing exercise of the boys' camp, which will break camp after the circus is over.

Bishop W. S. Lewis of Shanghai, China, began a series of daily addresses on China. In showing the relation of the Philippines to China he urged his hearers to pray that the government should not commit the folly of giving independence to the Philippines.

A business meeting of the campground association will be held on Saturday, at 4 o'clock, at which, it is said, plans for the improvement of the campmeeting will be made.

First Infantry Women Meet.

The women of the First infantry yesterday met in the armory—as they do every Wednesday afternoon, and made plans for the summer months.

They mapped out a long visiting list for themselves. All the wives, sweethearts, and daughters of the companies will receive formal calls. If they need assistance financially they will get it from the Veteran corps of the First infantry upon the recommendation of a committee.

The members of each company will go out visiting, it was decided, and then let the men of the Veteran corps furnish the finances for the destitute families. This was all that the ladies' auxiliary could do because of the low state of the treasury.

After Mrs. Adolph J. Borgmeier, wife of Capt. Borgmeier, protested at the discriminations made by the Red Cross in the distribution of its funds, a committee was appointed to go into a conference with the Red Cross on the subject. Mrs. Sanborn and Mrs. John B. Clinnin were named on the committee.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

By JANE EDDINGTON

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

A pound of sugar per week is sufficient for one person who has sugar in coffee once a day and sugar on fruit once a day, but gets other sweetness from dates and other fruit.

Making Good Fudge.

A. H. invites me on a postal card to give in the daily paper "a recipe for making good fudge." Good fudge is carefully cooked fudge. It is almost impossible to cook fudge carefully without close attention, unless a thermometer is used. A candy thermometer may be obtained for 80 cents, although a dollar is charged for it in most places. The following recipe will produce a good fudge if directions are carefully followed. More butter may be used, but not enough to make it greasy.

Creamy Fudge.

Scrape up two squares of chocolate, pour over it one-fourth of a cup of milk, set over medium fire, stir constantly until chocolate is melted, then add another fourth cup of milk and stir again. When this is as smooth as possible add to it two cups of granulated sugar, one small square of butter, and one-fourth cup of glucose or corn sirup. This will run readily if heated up in warm water and so will measure more accurately. Stir the whole over the fire until the sugar is completely dissolved, and then cook for about ten minutes, or until it registers 238 degrees on the thermometer [the soft ball stage]. Take from fire, add one teaspoon of vanilla, then beat it with an egg whisk until it is creamy or sugary. It should not grow lighter in color and so be ready to sugar short of eight or ten minutes. If it sugars and hardens too quickly it is cooked too much. If it will not sugar after ten minutes it is cooked too little. Pour into buttered pans and cut in squares. Nuts or chopped fruit may be stirred into the fudge when it is nearly ready to sugar off. Plain fudge may be kneaded like any fondant and may be just as creamy as the best bonbon if rightly cooked and worked.

Empire Gown of Embroidered White Mousseline.

BY JEAN SEIVWRIGHT.

JUST as the old salt keeps a "weather eye" toward the sky and observes in innocent mackerel clouds and flaming sunset indications of storm, so the specialist who studies modes sees in slight indications the extreme significance of fashion's changes.

A new Russian cut blouse is quite long and straight and tied not at the high waistline but directly below the bust. Advance suit styles in silk jersey, banded in mole and mink, are girded below the bust instead of at the waist. A lovely evening gown with seamless simple tunic is entirely empire in corsage and long trailing skirt. Can the new petticoats, guardedly featured, mean anything but a return of the empire with their skirt lines lengthened to just below the bust!

A charming model that introduces the empire is depicted in the illustration.

This interesting gown is made of a delicate white mousseline embroidered with old gold spots. While some of the leading couturiers say that hip draperies will be abandoned when the fall models appear, yet this gown puts in a "peace at any price" compromise with a sheer frill that begins and ends rather indefinitely down the sides of the skirt. The dainty decolletage is also outlined by a softly plaited frill, while at the waistline a large yellow petaled rose intensifies the color of the spots.

The girl who wishes something different without the necessity of great expense or much difficulty in its fashioning will find this mode admirable for her little summer evening frock. Although short skirts are smart, yet they are somewhat suggestive of the dairymaid's costume, while the new and still rare empire modes trail dignity along with their flowing folds.

Real Love Stories

Their Second Honeymoon.

NO doubt the present European war has played an interesting part in many thrilling romances, but this is what it did for a young couple of my acquaintance.

Some years ago a beautiful and talented young girl fell deeply in love with a man several years her senior. He was in a position to give her every luxury and they were soon married and settled in a lovely home of their own. They were happy, although she had great talent as a musician music again, perhaps, to some extent, pro- and was ambitious she was content to give up everything for her home and the two babies who after a while came to them.

But it was not long before the babies grew into little boy and girl hood and she had more of her time to herself. Then a longing for some of her old interests came to her. Her husband was engrossed in business. Why shouldn't she take up her fessionally, to give added interest? She made the suggestion to her husband, but he would not hear to it. Wasn't her home enough? The young wife tried to think that it was, but the longing to do something continued to grow. Stormy scenes followed and matters went from bad to worse.

At last, in desperation, she took the children and went to Paris for an indefinite stay. There the children began to learn French and their mother worked hard on her music.

Suddenly, without a minute's warning, the war broke out; everything was confusion and excitement. The woman did not know which way to turn and wished passionately for her big, strong husband to take care of her. The husband, far off in America, was frantic until he could get an answer to his numerous cables concerning the welfare of his family. Altogether it was a time of realization and readjustment of ideas.

At last—she hardly knew how—the wife and children found themselves on a crowded vessel headed for New York. The voyage seemed interminable, but finally they reached land. Her husband was waiting for them with a glad light in his eyes and without a word between them everything was forgiven and forgotten and they began life anew.

This story might end here, but since it is all true let us add that over a year has passed since all this happened and they are still having their second honeymoon which they say will never end.

Escorting a Young Woman.

"Dear Miss Blake: Is it proper for a young man when escorting his girl friend home to take her arm, or only when crossing the street or any place of danger?"

It is quite proper for the young man when escorting his girl friend home to take her arm when crossing the street or in places of danger, but it is considered quite provincial to hang on to her arm all the way.

ECZEMA ON SCALP —AWFUL IRRITATION

Resinol Soon Healed It Entirely

March 28: "I had a severe case of eczema on my head. My scalp itched and burned and was full of scabs, and when I scratched that would of course pull off the scabs and left my head very sore. The irritation was something awful. I could not keep my hands out of my head. My hair became very dry and harsh and did not feel like there was any life in it. The first application of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap soothed the scalp wonderfully, and after using one jar of Resinol Ointment and three cakes of Resinol Soap my head is entirely cured—I can rest peacefully and there is no more itching. My temples were almost clean of hair and now they are covered thickly. I must say Resinol is simply wonderful for almost any kind of skin trouble. It does all you say and more." Wireless Distress Signal.

"CONCERNING the inquiry of B. relative to the 'S. O. S.' wireless call, as an ex-operator it is my pleasure to advise you that the signals are an outgrowth of the old 'C. Q. D.' call, which meant 'Come quick! Danger!' Because of the frequent use of this call by amateurs many boats were sent on wild goose chases. Operators were then instructed to disregard the old call and watch and respond only to the new 'S. O. S.,' which meant 'Stop other service.' B. W. L."

Adds to His Collection.

"Dear I. C.: I today received the stamps you so kindly sent me in response to my letter in the Corner. I am delighted with them. I found many I did not have. Of course, I was especially glad to get those. I haven't been long collecting. There are a number of my schoolmates that are collecting stamps, and sometimes we trade our duplicates. Every week we hold a stamp club meeting at my house. I thank you ever so much for the stamps. G. M. T."

China Berries as Beads.

"In response to I. H. in the Corner regardinig china berries, I will say that the best time to gather them is after a heavy frost or during the winter months. The berries are then well matured and easily manipulated. They require boiling to soften their jackets, which will have to come off before dyeing or stringing them. The china berries will take any kind of dye, stain, or bronze powders. The best time to string the berries is while they are still soft from boiling. Penetrate the upper or bud end of the berry with a No. 27 copper wire to dry them. Then they may be strung as desired, using a gold, silver, or any kind of bead between each berry. The china berry tree is one of the most beautiful that grows in the south. In the spring it is loaded with clusters of flowers, which afterwards produce the berries, and when summer comes the green foliage droops like an umbrella. I shall be glad to give the names of individuals who, when the season opens, gather them, and who would, most likely, respond to your request. CHARLES L. B."

Music and Cards Offered.

"I read your Helping Hand every day and get lots of good from it. I want to help a little and have to offer about thirty-five pieces of music. I will gladly send it to any one who will pay postage on it. I also have to pass along two or three hundred postal cards for any one who wishes to make a scrapbook out of them, if he or she will pay the postage. I inclose a recipe for an eggless, butterless, and milkless cake: One package of raisins, cooked fifteen minutes in two cups of water. Remove from the fire and add one cup of water, half cup of lard, two cups of sugar, one dessertspoon of soda, one teaspoon each of cloves and cinnamon, one teaspoon of nutmeg and one of salt, four cups of flour. Add nuts, if desired. Cook for twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven. V. D."

A "miscellany" that will enlist the attention of sundry classes of readers. Your address is at the service of persons wishing to possess themselves of the profusion of gifts you offer so generously as to awaken wonder with gratitude. Your cake is a unique! May I, as a housewife, ask what raises the mixture? Perhaps there may be enough acid in the raisins to cause effervescence in the soda? And may I inquire, further, if the water in which the raisins are boiled is drained off or added to the third cup of water? I infer that all three are needed to bring the four cups of flour to the right consistency? Do us the favor of writing again to make these points clear. For—one and all—we are wild to try the recipe!

Add ether and ammonia when ready to apply with a brush. Wipe dry with a cloth. "S. C. G."

The AMATEUR GARDENER

by Eben E. Rexford

Vines for the Window.

WE seldom see vines growing in the window garden. But they ought to be there, for vines are the poetry of nature's serenest moods and furnish the embroidery that makes her garments beautiful.

If I were asked to name what I consider the vine best adapted to culture in the window, I think I would decide on the English ivy. This plant always suggests permanence by its thick, leathery foliage and its comparatively slow growth. Other plants of rapid development have their brief day and then fade into the sere and yellow leaf stage and become unsightly, and are thrown out to give place to something new, but the ivy continues on year after year, becoming more valuable and more valued with age.

I know of some plants, nobody knows how old, that are considered as members of the family. They are trained up about the window frame and ramble off along the ceiling, and drop in graceful festoons from picture rail and molding. They have on them leaves that are years old as bright and fresh as those of recent production. Such a plant is like a family heirloom.

◆

Those who want something that will make a brave show in a short time will find senecio marcoglossus well adapted to their needs. This vine has a leaf shaped very much like that of English ivy, and on that account it has been called German ivy, though it does not belong to the real ivy family in any sense.

Its foliage is a bright green, quite unlike the dark, rich, glossy color of the genuine ivy, and lacks the substance which characterizes the latter plant. But because of its rampant growth and ease of culture it will be found a good substitute for the other plant.

Asparagus sprengeeri can hardly be called a vine, as it is of drooping rather than upright habit, but it can be made a good substitute for a climber in the decoration of the window by giving it a place on a bracket near the top of the window and allowing its long, slender branches to droop about the frame.

◆

Plumbago capensis could hardly be called a vine in the strict sense of the word, but because of its slender habit it can be made to take the place of one. I have seen it growing to the upper part of a tall window, with its branches profusely laden with delicate lavender blue flowers, and the effect was as delightful as rare, especially when pink geraniums were grown with it.

◆

The ivy leaf geranium is a good window vine if well supported. Its thick, heavy foliage is proof against the depredations of most insects and is so freely produced that it gives a strong, massive effect which vines of more delicate foliage lack, but which seems necessary in framing in a window satisfactorily.

FLICKERINGS from FILM LAND

A Happy Program at Orchestra Hall.

BY KITTY KELLY.

Miss Mary Pickford in "Hulda from Holland"

Orchestra hall is offering a happiness guarantee in its program this week. The incidentals are unusually pleasing, and there is the novelty picture of Arthur Dunham conducting, with the orchestra playing from his shadow leadership, that is creating quite a stir. It is from the inspiration of Manager Hill's busy brain, an idea he had evolved for the occasion of the great day of many bands at the San Francisco fair under Sousa's conduct. His private Dunham version is proving very interesting and is receiving offers from would be renters. One man even whose orchestra is a mechanical piano has put in a request.

The real high light of the program though is the latest Pickford production, "Hulda from Holland," which is to continue through next week. It is a delight for weary eyes. Not that it is so great a picture but that it is so simple a one, so full of personality and human interest touches.

It is an absurdly improbable little story, but so delightfully done that one doesn't feel the least desire to pick flaws in it—one is even able to countenance Hulda's wild dash through the open skylight down into the artist hero's room, except that for a Dutch hausfrau she was a trifle rough on the shirts on the line.

Holland is very good as to windmills, but its cottages have a makeshift Yankee expression. But the interiors and the costuming make up for this.

Russell Bassett, who plays the old Dutch uncle, gives a wonderfully well characterized performance. The three youngsters in their blousy Dutch trousers and wooden shoes are treasures, particularly the littlest tyke, who has been played up most advantageously by the wise director.

The hero, too, played by John Bowers, accounts most satisfactorily for himself in a rôle that might easily have been made a piece of saccharinity, for, as is the rule in Pickford pictures, the leading man is used merely as a vis-a-vis to the star.

The best thing about the picture, however, is Miss Pickford. She does here the most attractive work I have ever seen her do. The hoidenish, obstreperous, near slapstick Mary is tucked away, and we have a sweet and charming person, quaint and funny and cute, earnest and unaffected; a demure and delectable little Dutch girl to linger long in the memory. This is excepting her skylight tumble, which, of course, is slapstick.

She is very pretty and very winsome, and by her restraint gains rather than loses in her appeal. In the love scene with the hero in one place she musters the ineffable expression that the poets have spent the centuries trying to visualize with words.

Miss Pickford will be a speaking guest at Orchestra hall at one performance during her brief stay here this week.

Making Orchestra Hall a Summer Resort.

Have you ordered the air washed yet?

Well, that's the proper thing to do these days. That is what Wessels and Voegeli are doing over at Orchestra hall, beginning just yesterday, which marked the initiation of their new air washing, cooling, and ventilating plant.

Down in the basement Mr. Voegeli pointed out a weird glass tank with water swishing out of countless little pipes, and a suction of air blowing in that threatened to draw the observer into an impromptu shower bath. There are other fans and great rotary objects and a mass of technicalities, but the layman's facts are that 59,800 cubic feet of chilled air per minute freshly washed are released in the auditorium above. The further facts are that while it was 88 out on the street, down among the fans it was 74, and in the auditorium itself it was 78.

This is said to be the largest air-washing system in Chicago, and it is calculated to make Orchestra hall a real summer resort.

Beauty Hints by Antoinette Donnelly

MARTHA B: THE PIMPLES ON your back may be caused from indigestion. Indigestion is merely the result of errors in diet. Be careful of your diet and give up during the summer months the meat you have just started to eat to get fat. Avoid pastries and sweets, drink lots of water, and exercise in the open air. Guard against constipation. You did not tell me the shade of your hair, consequently I cannot make any suggestions as to the colors that would be most becoming to your style of beauty. Your letter was wonderfully well expressed for any one who is just learning the English language.

BANIA: THE BRUSH AND COMBS should be washed at least once a week with water and soap in which a few drops of ammonia have been placed. In addition to their weekly washing they frequently need sterilizing, particularly when used by persons with much dandruff. Wet them in a solution of formalin, a teaspoonful to a pint of water. Immerse the comb and dip the brush up to the bed of the bristles.

RAY A.: THERE ARE THREE things you must learn to acquire before your complexion will be clear from pimples. The first in importance is absolute freedom from constipation; the second, a healthy diet; and the third is fresh air with outdoor exercise. This formula will remove tan: Lactic acid, four ounces; glycerin, two ounces; and rosewater, one ounce. Apply the lotion night and morning with a piece of absorbent cotton. I shall be glad to send you my treatment for pimples if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

FLOSSIE: IT IS A GOOD RULE FOR nervous persons to adopt a diet of eggs, fish, soups, and salads with fruit. This cools the blood and leaves the strength to supply the nerves. There is no reason why any one with colorless eyebrows should not use an eyebrow pencil. Follow the line of the eyebrow. Take your mirror to a strong light and assure yourself that you have not applied the pencil too generously. I have a formula to promote the growth of the eyebrows which I shall be glad to mail you if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

If you missed the Antoinette Donnelly series telling how she reduced Mrs. Lane thirty-six pounds in six weeks send her stamped, addressed envelope and she will mail you complete exercise and diet instructions. Any other questions on obesity will be gladly answered by Miss Donnelly.

AMBITIOUS: WHEN THE PORES are clogged with secretions of fat and dust they become enlarged and coarse. This is a simple lotion for correcting enlarged pores: Rose water, six ounces; elder flower water, two ounces; simple tincture of benzoin, one-half ounce; tannic acid, ten grains. First scrub your face with soap and hot water, rinse off with warm water, then apply cold water. Apply the lotion night and morning with a piece of absorbent cotton.

MARION: CALLOUSES ON YOUR feet can be removed by soaking them in hot water for twenty minutes each night before retiring. This will soften the spot. Then rub the callouses with a piece of pumice stone to take off the hard skin. During the day keep a little cold cream on the spot, so as to keep it soft.

INA: MY PROCESS OF INCREASING Helene Barnett's weight twenty pounds in five weeks was described in a series of five articles, any one of which is much too lengthy to even be outlined in this column. I shall be glad, however, to mail them to you if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

MILLIE: LIME WATER IS THE best alkaline mouth wash there is. It is made from coarse unslaked lime. I shall be glad to send you my instructions for remedying pyorrhea if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

DEATH NOTICES.

IN MEMORIAM.

HELMKE—In memory of my loving husband, Jacob, who passed away one year ago today, July 13, 1915.

One year has passed since that sad day,
When one I loved was called away.
More and more each day I miss you.
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within my heart concealed.
Peaceful be thy rest, dear husband.
It is sweet to breathe thy name.
In life I loved you dearly,
In death I do the same.

FROM YOUR LOVING WIFE.

A. STARR BEST TO ERECT $300,000 HOME DOWNTOWN

Leases Corner of Randolph and Wabash for Children's Clothing Store.

Another big deal was closed in the downtown district yesterday, which has a special interest for the reason it involves the erection of a high grade fireproof commercial building to cost $300,000. It will be erected by A. Starr Best, Inc., children's clothing, and will cover the 88x96 feet of ground at the northeast corner of Wabash avenue and Randolph street, which has been leased by the Best concern from Luther W. Bodman for ninety-nine years from May 1, 1916.

The lease provides for an annual rent of $22,000 for the first two years, $24,000 for the next two years, $26,000 for the next three years, $28,000 for the next ten years, and $29,000 for the remaining eighty-two years of the term.

The building on the premises is not considered in the transaction, and capitalizing the average annual rent, $28,600, on 4 per cent basis, gives a leasing value of $715,000, which is at the rate of $8.125 a front foot for the Wabash avenue frontage, and $84.68 a square foot.

Largest Children's Clothing Dealer

A. Starr Best is probably the largest dealer in children's clothing in the city and is now located in the Kesner building at the northeast corner of Wabash avenue and Madison street, and the move to Randolph street is for the double purpose of securing a permanent home for the concern as well as much needed space. It is stated the business of the concern has more than doubled during the last five years. The work on the proposed new building probably will be deferred to May 1, 1920, when existing leases on the property expire.

The property has an interesting history. Richard T. Haines purchased the 96x169 feet at the corner from the federal government in 1839 for $1,400. In 1866 Edward McKey, father of the late W. D. McKey, purchased the property with 40 feet to the north for $65,000. The late N. K. Fairbank bought the property from Mr. McKey and others for $175,000.

The transaction was negotiated by Willoughby & Co., who represented Mr. Bodman, and Newton B. Lauren & Co., who represented A. Starr Best.

Deal on West Side.

The west side figured in the market with an interesting transaction, whereby the Garfield Elms building on Madison street, 150 feet east of St. Louis avenue, north front, 100x191 feet, has been purchased by Joseph Friedman from Louis Samkowitz for an indicated consideration of $93,000, subject to $63,800 incumbrance. The building contains thirty-two apartments and four stores.

The apartment premises on Indiana avenue, 166 feet south of Thirty-first street, with 50x124 feet of ground, west front, have been sold by Mary P. Gregersen to William M. Brinkman for an expressed consideration of $37,000, subject to $22,000 incumbrance. The buyer conveyed in part payment property on Calumet avenue, between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth streets, west front, 51x125 feet, for a stated price of $15,000.

Judge O'Connor Buys.

Judge John M. O'Connor has acquired from Delia M. Spalding the attractive twelve room stone front residence at 1437 North Dearborn, with a ground area of 20x132 feet. While the actual consideration is withheld the property is said to have been held at $18,000. Judge O'Connor will occupy the house after remodeling. The deal was negotiated by William A. Bond & Co.

James C. Isaacson has bought from J. C. Fredrickson the apartment premises at the southwest corner of Willow and Orchard streets, 48x100 feet in extent for an indicated consideration of $38,000, subject to $24,000 incumbrance.

Vacant at $250 a Front Foot.

William F. Bach has sold to C. B. Dowling forty-four feet of vacant on Loyola avenue, 140 feet east of Glenwood avenue, for a reported price of $250 a front foot, or approximately $11,000. The buyer plans to improve the site with a three story building containing two stores on the ground floor and lodge halls on the second and third, to cost about $50,000.

Demand for property in this vicinity has been active recently as the result of many new buildings planned and Loyola avenue is now being paved and opened through to the elevated station at Sheridan road. The transportation was negotiated by Harry W. Rubloff & Co.

The apartment premises at the northeast corner of Central Park avenue and Fifteenth street, 48x125 feet in extent, have been sold by John Winsor to Benjamin H. Wallace for an indicated consideration of $29,000, subject to $24,000 incumbrance.

Marquette Road Flat Sold.

Maurice P. French has bought from Olof Nelson the apartment property at 223-25 East Marquette road, eighty-six feet west of Prairie avenue, north front 50x125 feet, for a nominal consideration, subject to $15,000 incumbrance.

Hubert Burnham of Graham, Burnham & Co., architects, has acquired from Sigmund Hesslein the property on Chicago avenue, sixty feet west of Pine street, north front, 20x80 feet, for a stated consideration of $18,500.

The premises on Wabash avenue, 291 feet south of Twenty-ninth street, west front, 100x193 feet, have been sold by James E. Plew to Harry L. Schmitz for a nominal consideration, the property having an indicated equity of $22,000.

Prairie Avenue Deal.

W. S. Johnson has sold to Frank H. Mayes the apartment property on Prairie avenue, fifty feet south of Thirty-seventh street, east front, 46½x124 feet, for a stated price of $15,000, subject to an incumbrance of $9,500.

Max Ehrman has bought from Henrietta Rieg the property on Austin avenue, 120 feet west of Clark street, north front, 40x100 feet, for an indicated price of $15,000.

The flat property at the northwest corner of Oakley avenue and Berlin street, 24x100 feet in extent, has been sold by Konstanty Darmofal to Felix Gorski for an indicated price of $15,000, subject to $8,000 incumbrance.

Catholic Bishop Gets Sites.

Four deeds have been recorded by which Roldolfo A. Correa of New York who has represented the Catholic bishop of Chicago in realty deals, acquired title to four holdings on Rush street, between Chestnut and Pearson streets. It is believed that the property is being acquired in connection with the seminary and boys' home proposed recently by Archbishop George W. Mundelein.

The properties acquired include the following: Southeast corner Rush and Chestnut streets, west front, 28x127, from Katie Kohn, indicated price $22,300; northeast corner Rush and Pearson streets, west front, 25x81½ feet, for a nominal consideration; Rush street, twenty-five feet northwest of Pearson street, west front, 25x80 feet, from David Provus, indicated price $10,000; Rush street, fifty feet north of Pearson street, west front, 25x90 feet, indicated price $8,000.

COST OF LIVING DECLINING, BUREAU OF LABOR REPORTS

Washington, D. C., July 12.—The cost of living, after rising steadily since 1907, except in 1911, took a downward trend during 1915. A report by the bureau of labor, issued today, analyzing retail prices of twenty-nine articles of food, shows that relative retail prices during 1915 averaged 1 per cent lower than in 1914. Meats, lard, and eggs averaged from 1 to 9 per cent lower, while potatoes were 22 per cent lower. Wheat flour, cornmeal, and granulated sugar were higher than in 1914, flour being 20 per cent and sugar 11 per cent higher.

SODA FOUNTAINS FOR TRAINS

Soda water fountains, with all the accessory equipment for ices, frappes, sundaes, and other delicacies, have been adopted by the Burlington railroad as part of the regular equipment of passenger trains. Dining as well as lounging cars will be supplied with the fountains for day and night service on the through trains, P. S. Eustis, passenger traffic manager, said yesterday, in making the announcement of the new plan.

Armour Soap Works Fined.

The Armour Soap works, 3130 Benson street, was fined $200 for two violations of the act which prohibits the dumping of refuse in the Chicago river, yesterday by Judge D. W. Sullivan. Two previous cases were nonsuited when it was promised by the company's counsel, C. E. Hamill, that the practice would be stopped.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION FOR U. S. EMPLOYES PASSED.

Injured Men Will Receive Two-Thirds of Wages During Disability—Maximum of $66 a Month.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—The McGillicuddy-Kern bill providing a system of workmen's compensation for federal employés, was passed by the house today by a vote of 286 to 3. An amendment adopted would reduce from $5,000 to $4,000 salaries of the three commissioners administering the system.

The measure provides for compensation of all injured federal employés at the rate of two-thirds the wages lost during disability, with a maximum of $66 a month. In case of death the dependent widow would be allowed 35 per cent of the employé's wage, and 10 per cent additional for each dependent child under 18, with a limit of two-thirds the employé's wage.

The bill is pending in the senate.

Chicago Road Center.

Chicago will likely be made the permanent headquarters of the Roadmasters' Maintenance of Way association, as the "best and most central convention city of the United States," according to members of the executive committee of the association meeting at the Auditorium hotel yesterday.

Three Railway Stocks.

B. A. W.—Union Pacific paid 10 per cent a year from 1907 to 1914, when a large amount of Baltimore and Ohio stock owned by the Union Pacific was distributed to holders of its common stock. The income from this extra dividend was at that time $2 a year a share. Since that time Union Pacific has paid only 8 per cent. At its present market the stock yields about 5¾ per cent on the purchase price. Northern Pacific has paid 7 per cent for twelve years. At its present market price it yelds a little more than 6. Illinois Central pays 5 per cent and at its present price yields about 4¾. It is selling on a higher level relatively than the other two stocks, because of a hope that the dividend rate may soon be increased to 6 per cent. A good farm mortgage yielding as much income as these stocks would be safer.

Emerson-Brantingham.

W. A. D. Dundee, Ill.—The Emerson-Brantingham company failed to earn its fixed charges in the year ended Oct. 31, 1914, and stopped dividends on its $12,170,000 of preferred stock. In the year ended last October the company's position improved, but surplus equaled only 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock. Without inside information as to what the company is earning now a purchase of preferred stock would be purely a speculation. Gasoline corporation stock is highly speculative.

American Power and Light.

C. H. C., Gilman, Ill.—The American Power and Light company has outstanding $3,563,200 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock and $8,205,400 common. Dividends have been paid in full on the preferred and for the last three years 4 per cent a year on common. Dividends on common stock are paid quarterly, March 1, etc., and on preferred one month later. The preferred stock is quoted at 84 bid 86 asked and the common at 68 bid 70 asked. The combined gross and net earnings of the subsidiaries have increased steadily. Most of the earnings come from electric power and light, one-fourth from manufactured gas, and the rest from natural gas, electric railways, and water.

Wabash.

B. P., Normal, Ill.—The Wabash railway is making the largest earnings in the history of the road. Gross in the eleven months ended May 31 shows an increase of 10 per cent. Surplus in the fiscal year ended June 30 will equal about 5 per cent on the $46,200,000 of series A preferred stock and 4 per cent on the $48,720,000 of series B. Not only have gross earnings increased, but operating costs have been reduced. No announcement has been made as to when dividends would be started, and the price of the stock in the market does not suggest a distribution in the immediate future. A single share can be bought.

Brief Answers.

M. C.—The Cuba Cane Sugar company is making enormous earnings because of the war price of sugar. An official but partly estimated report for the five months ended April 30 shows $13,000,000 surplus after the preferred dividends. This equals more than $25 a share on the common stock.

M. G. M.: The Insurance Exchange and the Michigan Boulevard building bonds are among the most conservative real estate issues in Chicago. Both are secured by first mortgage on land and building and both issues mature serially, thus gradually reducing the debt as the value of the buildings depreciates.

E. H., Milwaukee, Wis.—The Weiss Fiber Container company is a new business venture which has reputable backing. The stock, of course, is a speculation, rather than an investment, until the company proves its earning capacity.

"Lower Gas Bills"—No. 25

The Bob-Tailed Horse Car Also Had Its Defenders

Do you remember the bitter fight some people made, less than 25 years ago, to keep the trolley car out of Chicago?

The trolley car displaced the horse car and cable car because it was an improvement that brought the public more and better transportation service for their carfare.

Like the slow-going horse car and make-shift cable line, "candle-power" gas has outlived its usefulness in an up-to-date city.

Like the trolley car and "L" road in transportation, "heat unit" gas is an improvement that will bring to gas consumers continuously better service in return for the gas bills they pay.

So it's coming—sure—"heat unit" gas is. The only question about it is: How soon? The public interest, we believe, will not let its coming be delayed very long.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS ON MANY GAS QUESTIONS:

Arthur F. Allsop, 610 E. 50th Place: (1) How long after its adoption would it be before "heat unit" gas would be supplied? (2) Would "heat unit" gas have a different B. T. U. value per cubic foot than candle power gas; if so how much more or less? (3) Would it be necessary to re-adjust all burners on gas ranges, etc?

(1) The new rates and the heat unit standard would become effective immediately. (2) Yes; it would have B. T. U. value of not less than 565, the standard fixed by the State Board of Public Utilities. The present gas runs about 650. (3) No; gas range and other burners would not need re-adjustment.

John Dolezell, 4106 N. Lawndale Ave.: Regarding the change of gas from "candle power" to "heat unit", would like to know if there would be any expense attached to property owners for making such change; also, if property owners would have to furnish mantles for every light in building. If not, would be in favor of making change.

We do not see how change would cause expense to property owners. On the contrary, we believe it would effect a saving for everybody using gas for any purpose. You might want mantles for your own lighting but you would save enough on gas to pay for the mantles.

Mrs. D. E. Holmes, 7631 Crandon Ave.: We are in favor of lower priced gas. In fact would be glad to put it in our hot water plant to heat our five room bungalow, if it would not cost us over $7.50 or $8.00 a month. Can you advise me if such can be done?

We could not estimate cost of gas for your hot water plant without careful survey of the premises. Broadly speaking, "heat unit" gas would be an economical fuel for hot water heating, in comparison with hard coal, without smoke or dirt, and would eliminate all tending of fires and disposal of ashes.

N.B.—You are cordially invited to ask the gas question that puzzles you. Just address Department B, Peoples Gas Light & Coke Company.

BIG FINANCIERS LOOK FOR PEACE BY NEXT SPRING

Morgan Firm Dissents in Views, but Others Are Discussing Trade After the War.

Private advices from New York are to the effect that important banking interests there are of the opinion that the war will terminate within the next eight months. This view, however, differs from that held by the Morgan concern, which latter lets its friends understand the end of the conflict is a long way off.

Meanwhile, the New York view as what will result to trade following the end of hostilities is underoging a change. There is a growing belief that, barring the purely munitions trade, there will be a heavy demand from Europe for supplies needed in reconstruction. Perhaps this view is strengthened by the fact that Germany three months ago contracted for several hundred million pounds of copper for delivery after the war. It may be assumed that the call for copper will be accompanied by demand for other products of this country.

New York bankers are declared to be unable to say into just what channels the excess reserve cash of the banks has disappeared. The situation is puzzling to them. Meanwhile, they are certain interest rates will rule somewhat higher during the remainder of the year. The general business outlook so far as it relates to domestic trade is still satisfactory.

Willys-Overland Dividends.

Willys-Overland company declared a quarterly dividend of 3 per cent in cash, placing the stock on a 12 per cent cash dividend basis, and declared a stock dividend 10 per cent on the common stock.

The cash dividend of 3 per cent is payable Aug. 1 to stock of record July 24. The 10 per cent stock dividend is payable 5 per cent Oct. 2 to stock of record Sept. 15 and 5 per cent April 2, 1917, to stock of record March 15.

After the meeting Mr. Willys stated that the company in the last week received orders for immediate shipment of 10,000 cars.

Industrial Alcohol.

It is officially stated that there have been no cancellations by foreign governments of contracts for alcohol. It is reported at the same time that inquiries for a large amount of alcohol are in the market from interests representing foreign buyers.

The price of alcohol has eased off and is now about 55 to 57 cents a gallon, compared with 60 cents a short time ago. The price even touched 65 cents.

In addition to these considerations, a factor in the decline in the price of the stock of the United States Industrial Alcohol company is believed to have been the imminence of financing plans. The company in the last year has built a $1,000,000 plant at Baltimore and has made extensions at other places, with the result that working capital has been depleted. Certain interests on the board of directors are reported to favor an issue of additional shares.

Title and Trust Capital Boost.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Chicago Title and Trust company a resolution was adopted calling a special meeting of the stockholders on Aug. 22 for the purpose of increasing the capital stock from $5,600,000 to $7,000,000. No change in dividend rate is contemplated.

The new stock will be offered to the present stockholders in the proportion of one share of new stock to each four shares of present stock held. The rapidly increasing business of the company makes it certain that the proposed addition to capital can be profitably employed.

Concerning Leather Prices.

For the ten months ended April 30 the importation of hides aggregated 579,000,000 pounds, against 454,900,000 pounds for the ten months ended April 30, 1914, the latter representing the movement before the war. The increase for 1916 was 27 per cent. Exports of leather from the United States have broken all records, both in the matter of quantity and value. For the ten months ended April 30 exports of sole leather totaled nearly 67,000,000 pounds, against 24,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1914, an increase of 179 per cent. The value increased 276 per cent.

It is pointed out that the large tanneries of Austria and Germany, formerly large exporters, are at present doing little. There has been no great expansion in leather producing facilities elsewhere. So long as the war demand continues, leather men do not believe prices will decline much, but the ending of the war would probably bring about a much lower level of quotations.

Federal Reserve Announcement.

The federal reserve bank of Chicago yesterday announced that on and after July 15 it will receive checks on all member banks of the federal reserve system throughout the country and, in addition, checks on all nonmember banks in the following system, under the new collection plan:

Atlanta, Ga.
Boston, Mass.
Chicago, Ill.
Cleveland, O.
Dallas, Tex.
Kansas City, Kas.
Kansas City, Mo.
Minneapolis, Minn.
New Orleans, La.
New York, N. Y.
Philadelphia, Pa.
Richmond, Va.
St. Louis, Mo.
St. Paul, Minn.
San Francisco, Cal.

Par lists for checks on all nonmember banks which can be collected through the federal reserve bank are being prepared and will be furnished later. The bank also announced new discount rates, applying to maturities for thirty-one to sixty days, that have been advanced one-half to 1 per cent, effective yesterday. The current rates follow:

3½% for maturities: Within 10 days.
4% for maturities: From 11 to 30 days.
4½% for maturities: From 31 to 90 days.
5% for maturities: From 91 days to 6 months.

Chicago Securities.

Prices on the local stock exchange were generally higher, though the volume of trading was small. The principal activity was in Stewart-Warner common, and the shares gained 1¼ points during the day. There was a good demand for Sears-Roebuck common around 188. Commonwealth Edison continued to show a firm tendency and the price was up ½ at 145½.

In the bond department prices were steady to firm.

Money and Exchange.

Money rates in Chicago steady at 4 per cent on collateral, 4@4½ per cent on commercial paper, and 4½@5 per cent over the counter. New York exchange sold 20c and 10c discount. Chicago bank clearings were $65,672,916.

Vacation Travel Heavy.

The turn in the weather is giving the railroads reaching the vacation grounds in the west and northwest substantial gains in passenger traffic over last year and at higher rates at the same time.

"The hot spell along about the Fourth started the first big movement to the resorts," C. A. Cairns, general passenger and ticket agent of the Northwestern railroad, said. "Since then there has been a steady exodus from the cities to the fishing grounds in Wisconsin, Michigan, and Minnesota; to the Yellowstone and to the Colorado points. Travel is better this year than it was last, despite the fact that last year we were handling the business and conventions to the Panama exposition.

"There is more money in this business for the railroads, too, because the increased interstate rates allowed by the commission are in effect. The indications are that the weather conditions will be better for summer travel than for several years."

Railroad Earnings.

CANADIAN NORTHERN.

For first week of July gross increased $455,700.

DELAWARE AND HUDSON.

For May gross increased $374,558; net, after taxes, increased $92,728.

CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

For first week of July gross increased $28,893.

MISSOURI, KANSAS AND TEXAS.

For first week of July gross increased $140,556.

GREAT NORTHERN.

For May gross increased $2,116,139; net, after taxes, increased $1,016,451. For eleven months gross increased $12,160,334; net, after taxes, increased $5,814,665.

Dividends Declared.

Stover Manufacturing & Engine, initial regular dividend of 1¾ per cent on preferred, payable Aug. 1. Transfer books close July 20.

F. W. Woolworth, regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on common, payable Sept. 1 to stock of record Aug. 10.

Hercules Powder, regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on preferred.

North Butte, extra quarterly dividend of 75c, payable July 29 to stock of record July 11.

Fajardo Sugar, regular dividend of 2½ per cent, payable Aug. 1, and an extra dividend of 10 per cent, of which 5 per cent is payable Aug. 1 and 5 per cent payable Sept. 1; all stock of record July 15.

Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, semi-annual dividend of 3½ per cent, compared with 3 per cent in February.

NEWS OF THE FINANCIAL WORLD

A Wall street message said: "Several prominent stock brokerage houses have received spurius telegrams in the last day or two, signed with the name of a well known firm of brokers in St. Louis, containing a statement of an unfavorable nature regarding Mexican Petroleum. The purpose of these fake telegrams is apparently to facilitate a bear campaign in the stock, and if such is the case the idea is entirely lacking in originality."

Wall street is beginning to lose confidence in the gossip that an extra dividend will be declared on U. S. Steel common. The fact that unfilled tonnage fell off and that more or less allied industries are showing a decline leads to the belief that the board of directors may be very conservative in the matter of dividend action.

The report of the Lackawanna Steel company for the quarter ended June 30 shows net profits of $3,067,274 applicable to the stock. This compares with $2,251,068 for the quarter ended March 31 and $268,384 for the quarter ended June 30, 1915. Unfilled orders on hand July 1 totaled 932,857 tons, an increase of 648,878 tons over last year.

While the large producers are inclined to belittle the fluctuations in copper abroad, the domestic market does not offer much of an encouraging character. Nominal quotations for spot copper by the big sellers are 27 to 28 cents. September, October, November are quoted at 27 cents, and December at 25 to 26 cents.

President H. E. Borse of the Driggs-Seabury company says he can see absolutely no reason for the sharp decline in the company's stock except peace rumors. The shares are offered around 95. Ten days ago they were quoted at 130, while the high price was 154.

Rumors are current in Wall street of another advance in spelter and zinc. Some color is given this by the action of the market for Butte and Superior and American Zinc in the last two days. There appears to have been considerable absorption in both issues.

Agricultural implement makers are believed to be in the market with heavy orders for finished steel. About 80,000 tons have been purchased within the last few days for delivery in the first half of 1917 and additional orders are expected to be placed for 200,000 tons.

The buying in Union Pacific, Great Northern, St. Paul, Atchison, New York Central, and a number of low priced preferred issues is declared to be better than the selling.

The Willys-Overland company during the six months ended June 30 sold and delivered a total of 94,477 cars, compared with 37,841 cars in the corresponding six months' period of 1915.

It is announced the Bethlehem Steel corporation will spend $15,000,000 in improvements at its Steelton plant and $20,000,000 at its Maryland works.

BAROMETER OF THE MARKET

Average of Closing Prices of Twenty Leading New York Stocks

Wednesday, July 12	88.51
Tuesday, July 11	88.31
Net gain for the day	.20
Year ago, day of week	78.12

The twenty stocks are: Anaconda Copper, American Car and Foundry, American Smelting, American Telephone, Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Chesapeake and Ohio, Erie, Great Northern preferred, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Reading, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, St. Paul, American Sugar, Union Pacific, and United States Steel.

Total sales of stocks, 568,000 shares.

Total sales of bonds (par value), $3,320,000.

SPECIALS SELL RAPIDLY.

NEW York, July 12.—Concerted selling of special stocks, particularly those issues which suffered most severely in last week's liquidating movement, was the conspicuous feature of today's professional market. The short interest, emboldened by its recent success, conducted its operations with greater confidence, but made little headway except in isolated instances.

Representative shares, notably the better known rails and United States Steel, again withstood pressure, albeit steel was forced down to 83⅞, its lowest quotation since last week's rise to 87¼. Shipping stocks and Mexicans, together with motors and coppers also fell away in forenoon, but made gradual recovery in part or in whole later.

Alcohol Storm Center.

United States Industrial Alcohol proved to be the storm center, recording an extreme of 12⅝ points to 99½ in the last hour and closing with a net loss of 10⅞ points. There was again a lack of news to explain the continuous break in alcohol, which represented a loss of over 30 points in a week's time and a total of 70 points from its low price of last April. Increase in the Willys-Overland dividend from 6 to 12 per cent with an "extra" stock dividend of 10 per cent was not announced until the fag end of the session. The stock closed at a loss of 2¼ points, the action of the directors having evidently been discounted.

Pacifics were the only rails to exhibit marked strength, Canadian Pacific being in demand with its subsidiaries, "Soo" and Wisconsin Central. Union Pacific was firm on revival of the familiar rumor of an increased dividend at the next quarterly meeting.

Steel Industry Prosperous.

The prosperous condition of the independent steel manufacturers was seen in the second quarterly statement of the Lackawanna Steel company, showing a net gain of almost $2,900,000 over the same quarter of 1915.

Bonds were again inclined to ease, with further extensive offerings of Anglo-French 5s.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, July 12.—The stock market maintained a good undertone today, but fears of a money stringency with talk of an early rise in the bank rate further affected gilt edged securities, as funds naturally will be employed at higher rates in the money market. Consols, war loans, and Indian stocks declined, but Argentine and home trade attracted attention, the latter on dividend anticipations. Oil and textile shares were firm, while profit taking depressed Russian mines. American securities were easy in the forenoon, but closed a shade harder.

BAR SILVER—29½c per ounce. MONEY—4@4½ per cent. DISCOUNT RATES—Short bills, 5¼ per cent; do, three months, 5¼@5¼ per cent.

PARIS, July 12.—Trading was quiet on the bourse today. Rentes, 64 francs 25 centimes for cash. Exchange on London, 28 francs 16 centimes. Five per cent loans, 90 francs 25 centimes.

Agricultural Bill Passed.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—The annual agricultural bill, carrying approximately $24,000,000, was passed by the senate today in virtually the same form as passed by the house. It contains provisions for federal grain inspection and licensing of grain warehouses, and levies a tax of 2 cents a pound on cotton sold for future delivery.

NUMEROUS RUST REPORTS CAUSE WHEAT ADVANCE

Less Favorable Northwest News Is Big Factor—Corn Weak and Oats Strong.

Black rust reports from the northwest, with a broader demand for new winter wheat for export, and continued hot weather over a large part of the spring wheat belt, gave bulls a further opportunity yesterday to lift prices. Shorts were free buyers at the start and there was persistent buying by commission houses throughout the day, which absorbed the offerings and kept the market fairly tight. Last prices for the day were 1¾@1⅞@2c higher.

Offerings from the country were moderate and the bullish conditions developing in the northwest may create a greater holding tendency on the part of the farmers in the southwest. So far the new crop movement of winter wheat is being absorbed largely by mills, which are paying higher prices than exporters.

New Wheat Sales Increase.

Export sales reported from the seaboard were 1,000,000 bu, of which 500,000 bu was new wheat via the gulf. Foreign crop reports were less favorable and cables were steady. If spring wheat developments are bullish the confidence of foreign buyers is likely to be shaken. The crop is late and black rust has put in appearance at a large number of points much earlier than usual.

Crop experts are finding a serious condition in the best wheat counties of South Dakota. Black rust reports from North Dakota and Minnesota were reiterated. Canadian conditions continue favorable, but there is a fear of excessively high temperatures, as the crop is late both in Canada and in our northwest.

Southwest Harvest Near Finish.

Weather conditions generally were not materially changed, being generally fair and hot. Harvesting is rapidly nearing completion in the surplus winter wheat states. Thrashing has made good progress, and the bulk of the crop has been secured under exceptionally fine conditions, with a good demand likely to result for the better quality of wheat raised this season. St. Louis reported exporters after the wheat in the southwest, but mills are taking the bulk of the offerings.

Receipts were 62 cars, with primary receipts of 864,000 bu, compared to 372,000 bu a year ago. Northwest receipts were 341 cars, against 175 cars a year ago. Winnipeg had 719 cars, against 81 cars a year ago. Clearances were 1,268,000 bu. Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 15,000 bu for four days.

Corn Is Under Pressure.

Corn was under pressure in spite of the strength in wheat and oats. Weather conditions generally were favorable, and there was selling on the reports of rains in Nebraska and in parts of Kansas. No general precipitation was shown and the forecast was for generally fair and continued warm weather. Resting prices were ⅝c to ⅝@½c lower. Cash prices were steady to ½c lower and there was a good demand, with sales of 630,000 bu, including 530,000 bu to exporters.

Cables were steady. The spot demand abroad was not quite so urgent, while freights were a little easier. Country sales to arrive were not heavy. Receipts were 262 cars, with primary receipts of 826,000 bu, against 627,000 bu a year ago. Clearances were 282,000 bu. Commission houses and locals were free sellers.

Oats Complaints Increase.

Oats were strong and scored further gains, with outside buying in evidence, as well as continued support by Armour and commission houses. Final prices were ¼@⅜c higher. Cash prices were firm, and there were sales of 220,000 bu. High temperatures prevail over the greater part of the oats country and complaints are increasing.

Receipts were 118 cars with primary points receipts 764,000 bu, compared to 552,000 bu a year ago. Clearances for the day were 1,327,000 bu. Cash houses were credited with buying oats.

Hog Products Much Higher.

Hog products were strong and substantial gains were scored throughout the list. Offerings were light early and there was no pressure throughout the day. Commission houses were good buyers. There were reports of liberal sales of both meats and lard for export, the Belgian Relief association being presumably in the market. The general cash trade is regarded as satisfactory.

Hog receipts were 35,000, with 20,000 for today estimated. Prices at the yards were a little easier. Western receipts were 103,500, compared to 60,900 a year ago. Cash lard at Liverpool was 9d off.

Rye Quiet; Barley Firm.

Rye was quiet, with No. 2 quoted 94@95c and No. 4 selling at 89c. Receipts were 5 cars.

Barley ruled firm. Malting was quoted 72@80c and sold 73@77c; feed was quotable 64@71c, with sales at 69@69½c, and screenings were quoted 40@61c, and sold 48@51c. Receipts, 53 cars.

Timothy seed was steady. August was $6.65 bid and September sold at $6.60; cash lots quoted $4.50@7.50. Cloverseed was unchanged, with cash lots $7.00@14.00.

Duluth flax closed 1½@2½c higher. Cash on track, $2.01; July, $2.00½; September, $2.01½, and November, $2.00. Receipts, 4 cars. Minneapolis was 2½c higher, with cash on track, $1.98½@2.01½; receipts were 15 cars. Winnipeg closed 1¾@2c higher. July, $1.77, and October, $1.79. Receipts, 28 cars.

WOOL.

LONDON, July 12.—There were 8,690 bales offered at the wool auction sales today. The selection was good and the demand was strong. Merinos advanced from 5 to 10 per cent on Russian buying. New South Wales scoured sold at 3s 4d and crossbreds were firm.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE

Sentiment appears to be more bullish daily in wheat as the result mainly of the less favorable reports from the spring wheat sections. Black rust has developed at a number of points in the best wheat sections of North Dakota, and there have also been reports from Minnesota and South Dakota confirming claims of black rust. With the spring wheat a month from harvest, the chances for sensational reports to affect the market are good. Experts are finding a serious appearance of rust in some sections. In addition to the rust reports bulls are relying on the development of a broader export demand, believing foreigners will buy more freely of winter wheat if the spring wheat prospects are lowered to any extent. The bad reports from the northwest are also expected to result in a more pronounced holding tendency on the part of the farmers.

◆

The export demand for new wheat was reported better yesterday and there were sales of 500,000 bu new wheat via the gulf, with total sales reported at the seaboard of 1,000,000 bu. It has been stated by some cash traders conversant with export conditions that sales for some time past have been larger than reported, with considerable buying of futures in this market as well as in Kansas City and at Winnipeg. The offerings from the country continue small and the bullish advices from the northwest have made winter wheat holders firmer in their views. Cash sales at Chicago were 15,000 bu and prices were relatively steady. Sales to arrive are still light and so far there has been little hedging pressure.

◆

B. W. Snow wired Bartlett-Frazier: "There is serious appearance of black rust over large part of South Dakota, which I have checked up at Yankton, Tyndall, Woolsey, Warner, Aberdeen, Frederick, Columbia, and Milbank. In southern part of state crop appears in small danger, but in heavy producing districts of the north the rust has appeared at an early stage of plant development. The crop here is four weeks from harvest, much being still heading, and the appearance of infecting spores at that date is serious."

◆

Argentine weather conditions are favorable. Reports from Australia are favorable. The foreign crop summary generally was called unfavorable. In the United Kingdom the weather is unsatisfactory, with crop prospects deteriorating. Private neutral advices in regard to crop conditions in Austria-Hungary say prospects are not good.

◆

Strength in provisions was due largely to reports of increased foreign demand for both lard and meats. The reports indicated buying for the Belgian Relief association. Offerings in the pit were light, as there has been a good deal of scattered selling the last few days.

◆

Late reports from Nebraska indicated showers at a few points. The general forecast was for fair and warm weather. The map showed rains in about the same section as the previous day, in northeastern Nebraska, southeastern South Dakota, and northwestern Iowa.

◆

Temperatures over 100 were reported in Nebraska, and the need of rain was reported urgent in parts of the state. In parts of Illinois rain is also needed. Topeka, Kas., reports said that corn would need rain in another week to insure a big crop.

◆

Cash corn sales were 630,000 bu, including 540,000 bu for export. Offerings from the country were not heavy. Oats sales were 220,000 bu. There was some inquiry for corn and oats reported at the seaboard.

◆

St. Louis wired J. F. Barrett that exporters were scouring the country for wheat. St. Louis sold 55,000 bu No. 3 wheat to mills on Tuesday, and 155,000 bu hard wheat was ordered from store.

◆

Receipts inspected yesterday. Wheat, 62 cars; corn, 262 cars; oats, 118 cars; rye, 5 cars, and barley, 53 cars. Hogs estimated for today, 20,000 head.

◆

John Inglis wired that corn in Iowa was making rapid growth, with fields clean. Heavy crop of hay being cut.

◆

George W. Blanchard has made application for membership on the board of trade.

◆

Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 15,000 bu for four days.

COFFEE AND SUGAR.

NEW YORK, July 12.—After a somewhat irregular opening the market for coffee futures turned firmer today on covering and trade buying, with September contracts selling up from 8.25@8.33c and March from 8.58@8.65c. There was some July liquidation at the start, and first prices were 4 points lower to 2 points higher, but the near month selling orders were soon absorbed and demand became more active as prices worked upward, while offerings were restricted by reports that temperatures had worked down to the freezing point in one section of Sao Paulo. The close was within a point or two of the best at a net advance of 4@9 points. Sales, including exchanges, 60,750 bags. Closing bids: July, 8.18c; August, 8.26c; September, 8.35c; October, 8.38c; November, 8.42c; December, 8.47c; January, 8.53c; February, 8.59c; March, 8.64c; April, 8.69c; May, 8.75c; June, 8.80c. Spot coffee, dull; Rio 7s, 9¼c; Santos 4s, 10½c. Firm offers were reported unchanged to about 10 points lower, with quotations ranging from about 10.40c to 10.55c for some descriptions of Santos 4s on the basis of London credits. The official cables reported an advance of 75 reis in the Rio market, while Santos spots were unchanged and futures 25@50 reis lower. Santos cleared 51,000 bags for New York. Brazilian port receipts, 47,000; Jundiahy, 32,000.

SUGAR—Raw: Closed, Cubas, cost and freight, 5⅜c, equal to 6.40c for centrifugal and 5.63c for molasses. Refined: Unchanged on the basis of 7.65c for fine granulated. Futures: September sold from 5.55c to 5.53c, closing 5.53c; December, 5.20@5.18c, closing 5.17c; March closed 4.62c.

CHICAGO, July 12.—SUGAR—Following prices were quoted by wholesale dealers per 100 lbs.: Cut loaf, H. & E., $9.18; powdered, standard, $8.68; standard cane granulated, $7.98; beet granulated, $7.88; extra C, $7.53; canary, $7.23.

KENNICOTT COMPANY PUT INTO BANKRUPTCY COURT.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in the United States District court yesterday against the Kennicott company, a manufacturing firm, in which the late Chauncey J. Blair was interested. The petitioning creditors are William Hoskins, trading as Mariner & Hoskins, consulting chemical engineers; Reuben H. Donnelley, and the Marshall-Jackson company.

In the petition it is alleged the Kennicott company acknowledges its willingness to be adjudged bankrupt.

It is asserted that the Kennicott company, which manufactured water purifying machinery, was a hobby of Mr. Blair and that he had financed it at various times. C. B. Blair, treasurer, and C. L. Kennicott, vice president, have managed its affairs since the death of Mr. Blair. In explaining the status of the company C. B. Blair said:

"The former president was trying to float a bond issue for the purpose of obtaining more working capital when he died last May. The company did not have enough money to continue in business and felt in need of a receiver in order that it can continue under a receivership and regain its financial standing. Our liabilities amount to something over $150,000 and our assets amount to $400,000."

The Kennicott company is a $250,000 corporation. Its attorneys say the firm will liquidate in such a manner that all claimants will be taken care of.

BOSTON STOCK QUOTATIONS.

BOSTON, Mass., July 12.—The local market was quite weak in the early dealings today, but gave a good account of itself later on. Atlantic Gulf and West Indies was the weakest feature at the opening in sympathy with the drive made at shipping shares in New York. It sold down to 56½ on heavy transactions, from which it rallied to the previous closing, 58⅜. United States Smelting was driven down a point, which it also recovered. Copper stocks were firmer on the whole, the general list closing at fractional advances. Butte and Superior and American Zinc did better than of late, both closing higher. Boston and Maine and New Haven were inclined toward heaviness. Call money, 4½@5 per cent; time loans, short dates, 4¼@4½ per cent; time loans, six months, 4¼@4½ per cent; time loans, year, 4½ per cent.

Copper Stockholders Reaping Dividend Harvest

¶ Holders of high-grade copper stocks are faring handsomely through receipt of attractive quarterly dividends. And there is a strong possibility that before long a substantial market appreciation will take place in these securities.

¶ This prospect, with the present high rate of dividends, and the probability of increased disbursements, makes the coppers an ideal investment proposition.

¶ Free statistical Copper Book sent upon request, together with circular naming best purchases among the dividend payers. Ask for 21-CT, including booklet explaining

A run of 16,000 cattle at Chicago yesterday proved too large and sales were generally 10@15c lower. Strictly prime steers were scarce and ruled steady, and the cheap stock was also about unchanged, but it was a mean market for the in-between grades. Prices reached the lowest point in several weeks, and the demand for beef is reported as slow. Best steers are quoted at $11.25, but few yesterday brought over $10.50. Cows and heifers were strong, some showing 10@15c advance. Calves were steady to 25c lower, with choice $11.25. Stock and feed cattle slow and easy.

Hogs were largely 5@10c lower under arrivals of 34,000 head. Weather was unfavorable and shippers bought sparingly. Some fancy, heavy butcher hogs topped at $10.15, while bulk of sales were at $9.70@10.00. Pigs were generally steady.

Sheep Steady; Lambs Lower.

Sheep values were largely steady, with lightweights much more active. Breeders paid $9.75 for yearlings and some fed western ewes reached $7.60. Native lambs were 15@25c lower, with the best of them selling at $10.75. Range lambs topped at $10.90. Receipts were 16,000 head.

Hog purchases for the day: Armour & Co., 3,800; Swift & Co., 3,800; Sulzberger & Sons, 2,500; Morris & Co., 1,800; Anglo-American, 2,000; Hammond company, 1,800; Hoyd, Lunham & Co., 1,500; Roberts & Oake, 600; Western Packing company, 2,000; Miller & Hart, 600; Independent Packing company, 3,000; Brennan Packing company, 1,000; butchers, 1,500; shippers, 1,000; total, including 4,700 direct to packers, 31,700; left over, $6,000.

FIGHT ON 1915 TAX LEVY OPENED BY 3,000 OBJECTORS

Approximately three thousand real estate owners filed objections yesterday with the clerk of the County court to certain assessments of the 1915 tax levy. Their refusal to pay all of the assessments against their property made them subject to judgments, had not the objections been filed. These will arrest execution until the legality of the points protested are determined by the court. The protested levies are of taxes for the forest preserve, the firemen and police pension funds, parents' pension fund, juvenile court probation officers, and adult probation officers. One basis of the fight is that the ordinance was printed in a non-English newspaper.

A hearing of the cases will open soon in the County court.

RECREATION TAX OF $500,000 PROPOSED FOR CITY LEVY.

A tax of almost $500,000, to be known as the "recreation tax," was proposed yesterday at the regular meeting of the advisory committee of the morals commission and by unanimous vote was referred to the committee on legislation.

The measure was proposed by Alex Fether, who stated that by the levying of a tax not to exceed 1 mill a fund of nearly $500,000 could be raised annually for providing recreation for children, and could be spent for dancing, pageants, plays, and games.

"In this way," he said, "we could have our own fund, and not be compelled to appeal to the finance committee of the board of education."

723 acres, unimproved; all in blue grass pasture; level, running water; 120 acres fine timber. This is a bargain; fine dairy or stock and grain farm. Write for price and terms; 2 miles from r. r. and townsite.

As stated, we own all the above land; we are reserving 1,000 acres for our own use and selling balance; much of the above land is new sod broken in last two years; the land has formerly been used for cattle, horses and hog ranch purposes; for that reason it has increased in fertility. These farms all adjoin, and we believe are the cheapest farms and land in the state of Illinois, considering quality, location, etc. The land is located within 1½ hours' run from Chicago, the greatest market in the world for dairy, grain and live stock, produce. If you buy one of these farms you can buy your feeder cattle at Chicago Stock Yards at lowest price and get lowest freight rates and be assured of a good market when you sell your cattle, hogs or dairy product or grain. Think of saving in freight, two railroads at your service, and stone and concrete roads all the way to Chicago. This land is

DITCHED AND TILED.

We are offering this land direct from owner to buyer. You save middle man's profit. Title guaranteed by Chicago Title & Trust Company for full amount of purchase price. Warranty deed and abstract furnished. Don't make up your mind that this land is not good on account of the low price. We are making this price to make quick sale. We believe you will say this land is as good as land in other parts of Illinois which is held at double our price.

If you have the money to buy I will pay all your expenses to come and inspect this land. No obligation on your part to buy if not suited. "That's fair." You will only be out your time. "Don't chase the rainbow to far away land" of doubtful value, markets, climate, and away from your friends and relatives, when you can buy good black Illinois land at the door of Chicago, with its great markets. Don't be induced to buy poor cheap land. Look at my land, "free of cost."

I will only sell to people that can convince me they can make good. State amount of cash you have to invest and number of acres you want. Write fully of your circumstances and I will give you my best advice as to whether or not you should buy one of these farms. We will show you corn, alfalfa, oats, wheat, garden truck, fruit on this land, and about 700 head of cattle, horses and mules on the blue grass pasture; also hogs, chickens, etc.

Write today if you want one of the farms, as the low price will sell them quickly.
